STORM FORCES LINDYS TO BOARD SHIP

Today

The Robot Battleship.
All Advise Him.
A Happy Mother.
One Small Baby.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE OLD BATTLESHIP Utah is to be a "robot" battleship, without a man aboard, directed by radio control far away. Radio will fire bombs, guns, big and small, steer the ship in any direction, lay down smoke screens.

The same can be done with airplanes with no pilot. Men have now fully achieved the art of fighting at a distance without danger to themselves.

BEGINNING LIKE the animals, men fought face to face, raining blows on each other's heads. They didn't like that and some clever person invented the spear, and, hurling it, killed an enemy that never saw him. One still wiser invented the bow and arrow, then came the rifle, torpedo, airplane bomb. And now "robot" battleships and airplanes will pursue the enemy, guided by men at a safe distance. That is close enough to a miracle.

EVERYBODY, from Will Rogers to President Hoover, agrees that Congress ought to "do something for labor." But what can Congress do for the bulk of the 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 idle?

It can build roads, erect buildings, and should undoubtedly do both, where they are needed, and with an eye to future need. Such building would employ comparatively few, possibly some hundreds of thousands in building trades, if the program were very big, many machines and comparatively little labor on road building.

BUT WHAT ABOUT the stenographer out of work, who swallowed poison, dictating into a talking machine a last message for her father, mother and brother to hear?

What can be done for the MILLIONS idle, the white collar men, the NO collar men? Congress, should appropriate and spend money, of course. The government has it, or can get it, in spite of its big deficit.

But something better than artificial creation of jobs is needed. Thinking and planning are needed, and an understanding of the depression, its causes, and how to cure it.

MRS ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE, widow of the late Senator, is dead. She saw her husband make his courageous fight and win it, never wavering to the last day. She lived to see one of her sons take his father's place in the Senate, and another son elected Governor of the state of Wisconsin.

WHEN HER HUSBAND died friends wanted her to run for the Senate, but she preferred to live through her husband and her sons. Every mother can tell you that their success meant greater happiness to the wife and mother than all personal success could have meant.

SOMEBODY LEFT a three-week-old baby in Lawrence Rutrio's car, parked on Mason street, Greenwich, Conn. The child was neatly dressed, and to it was pinned this note, in disguised handwriting: "This baby is a Catholic. Baptize it, please. I have no home for it. See it will be taken care of. Thanks."

There is a sad story back of that note, and it is not hard to guess what it is.

The baby will be baptized and cared for. Anybody adopting it would have, in all probability, a little girl to be proud of.

WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR and Leonardo Da Vinci were both babies of that kind, their mothers not married, although the Duke of Normandy, later, married Arletta, the tanner's daughter, mother of the boy who became The Conqueror.

Leonardo's father never married the peasant mother of his great artist son. The social gap was too great. Instead, he married a woman of the nobility, and Leonardo had the pleasure of supporting his half brothers and sisters.

FEDERAL JUDGE HOPKINS, of Kansas, came to New York, sent "Legs" Diamond, bootlegger, to jail for four years, fining him $11,000, then went back, remarking "New York in the way of crime is worse than Chicago."

He also hurt New Yorkers' feelings by saying that, enduring all kinds of crime, they remind him of a dog lying on an ants' nest, too lazy to move when the ants bite him.

THE GANGSTERS of New York do all they can to justify the Judge's opinion. Yesterday they killed two men near New York's police headquarters, spraying the streets with bullets.

And prohibition enforcement is active. New York's Collector of the Port, sailing along on his "lawful occasions" in the harbor, attracted the attention of the Coast Guard, who decided that he was a rum runner, and opened fire. The Collector says: "I am sure they shot in the air just to frighten us."

At about the same time police were raiding a speakeasy, in East Fifty-third street, directly back of the residence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

You know little about your neighbors in these bootleg days.

OUR BRITISH FRIENDS pause in denunciation of our tariff long enough to announce that they, also, are going to erect a little tariff wall, being forced to come to it.

Germany, also distressed by our tariff, forbids absolutely importation of all articles fully manufactured, and now forbids

DRYS RAID BREWERY IN CARRICK

24 Barrels of Beer, Tanks, Vats Seized, Destroyed; Plant Found in Garage

Federal prohibition agents seized a large beer-making plant in a garage at 237 Maytide avenue, Carrick, today, and arrested a man in charge, they reported.

The garage, a one-story concrete structure, is under the front porch of the home occupied by Albert Morrian. He told agents the dwelling had been taken over three months ago by a building and loan association and that he had rented out the garage.

In the place, one of the largest raided by dry officers in recent months, they reported finding 24 barrels of beer, four 500-gallon tanks of beer mash, two 900-gallon vats of beer, an electric pump and other paraphernalia. The plant was dismantled.

Angelo Mauro, of 448 Brownsville avenue, was operating the beer plant when the agents entered, they said. He was arrested, charged with manufacture and possession of liquor. The equipment was valued at $6,500, the agents said.

SMITH SCORES DETECTIVES

The county detective force has been made "the football of politics" for 20 years, and as a result has become a most inefficient organization, State Deputy Attorney Ralph H. Smith told a meeting of the Independent Republican Women in Central Y. W. C. A. today.

Smith's address was made in behalf of his candidacy for District Attorney on the "Independent" Republican ticket. He said:

"The success of the administration of the District Attorney's office is largely determined by the efficiency of the County Detective Bureau.

"For the past 20 years, the county detectives have been made the football of every political campaign.

'BUREAU INEFFICIENT'

"The bureau, as now constituted, is not efficient.

"For every 90 hours during the last five years, there has been a murder committed in Allegheny County. About one-half of them have resulted in arrests and prosecutions; the balance have joined the ever growing list of 'unsolved cases.'

"In the last five and one-half years, there have been 89 unsolved racket murders committed in Allegheny County.

"Neither clue, nor arrest, nor prosecution followed. The detectives have adopted the general attitude that so long as these gangsters shot each other, it was a matter of little or no concern to them.

"This attitude has encouraged gang warfare that will soon equal that of Chicago.

"District Attorney Andrew T. Park can no longer ignore gang warfare and claim to serve the people.

MISS LOIS HERMAN

SCREAMS HALT THEFT SERIES

While police were investigating the attempt of three robbers to enter the home of W. J. Herman, 1920 Perrysville avenue, North Side, today, Mrs. Dora Beresford made the discovery that her home, next door, had been looted. Screams of Miss Lois Herman, 20, teacher in the Sherman Public School, frightened the marauders, who fled, leaving a basket of food, loot from another robbery, in the yard of the Herman home.

Mrs. Beresford said the robbers had taken a diamond ring valued at $500, a wrist watch, a boy's watch and $4.50 from her pocketbook.

Commissioners Pass On Every Name Put on Rolls

Two Sun-Telegraph reporters, who went to the new County Office Building seeking a job in the county road maintenance department, found:

That a postmaster's indorsement (if he is a Republican leader) is an aid if one lives outside the city.

That while a ward chairman's O. K. is usually necessary, the indorsements of leaders in the Fourteenth Ward are worthless—they are supporting William D. Mansfield for Commissioner.

That while there are 10,000 applications on file, a man occasionally appears who is ushered to a rear room and gets a job without the least trouble.

That not even the humblest job is filled without going through the Commissioners' office.

Explanation of the apparent hook-up of the County Commissioners' office with the federal government employes is said to lie in the fact that Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong was instrumental in obtaining the appointment of the present postmaster of Pittsburgh, James B. Anderson.

The reporters in their quest for a job first went to the office of the Road Maintenance Department on the fourth floor of the new County Building.

The following conversation with a clerk ensued:

"We are college students and would like to earn some money before going back to school. We are hard up. Can you give us a job?"

(The applicants are bona fide college students.)

"We don't give any jobs here. You will have to go to the Commissioners' office in the Courthouse, room No. 101."

At the Commissioners' office the reporters encountered a clerk who eventually became confidential.

His first question as they requested an application blank was:

"What ward are you from?"

"One of us is from the Fourteenth Ward and the other from Sewickley."

"If you're from the Four-

Kline-Coyne Enemies Seek Slate Merger

By MARK SHIELDS

Negotiators attempting to arrange a coalition of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and Senator William D. Mansfield as commissioner candidates in the Republican primary, are discussing a complete and compromise slate for county and city offices.

Their optimism is a bit ahead of their certainty, for there is as yet no assurance that a Mansfield-Armstrong combination will be arranged.

The tentative slate is as much a threat to the dominance of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Senator James J. Coyne, himself a candidate for Commissioner, as it is an outfit designed to assist Armstrong and Mansfield.

As tentatively drawn this slate reads:

For Controller, Robert G. Woodside; Treasurer, either J. Denny O'Neil, Jr., or William S.

MARINE VET SLAIN AFTER TORTURE

Battered Body Found Lashed To Bed on Coast; 'Pretty Blonde' Linked by Visits

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Victim of a mysterious torture murderer, Felix A. Williams, 36, former corporal in the United States Marine Corps, was found dead here today, bound and gagged in his bed. Williams enlisted in the Marines at Pittsburgh and had relatives there.

His apartment door was locked from the inside, money had not been touched and no clue as to when Williams last entered his room could be found. He was last seen August 12, and deputy coroners estimated he had been dead five days.

BEATEN, STRANGLED

Miss Dorett Swain, who occupied the apartment adjoining, told police she had wondered at the silence of her neighbor. The manager of the apartment house found the body when he entered to see why the rent bill had been ignored.

The slayer had lashed the ex-Marine to the bed with straps and strips of bed sheeting, stripped off his victim's clothes, beaten and strangled him with a suffocating gag stuffed into his mouth and nose.

A touch of the occult entered the mystery when, in a drawer of Williams' bureau, was found a horoscope cast for him by Zoro, a Persian mystic.

SEEK BLONDE GIRL

In his Marine locker at the foot of the bed was $54.50 in cash and a $12 government check, as well as his Marine records, which showed that he enlisted in the Marines in Pittsburgh May 12, 1917, and served until 1920.

Inspectors Allen McGinn and George Engler, of the homicide squad, investigating the mystery, revealed that a woman had entered the case with the report that a "pretty blonde" had frequently been seen going into Williams' apartment. No clue as to her identity could be found, however.

Williams was reported to have a brother, August Williams, in Wilkinsburg, Pa.

Felix Williams was never a resident of Pittsburgh, according to Mrs. Henry Edge, of 5 Glasgow road, Bryn Mawr, mother-in-law of August J. Williams. A second brother, Samuel Williams, resides at Parnassus, she said. The brother here has not seen the slain man for many years, and had not heard from him for some time.

Pola Victim Of Mystery Illness

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 20.—(INS.)—Stricken with a mysterious illness, Pola Negri, Polish screen star, was taken to a hospital today. Opiates were administered to relieve her of intense pain, physicians reported.

According to servants at Miss Negri's home the actress complained of intense pains after returning from a Russian dinner last night.

At the hospital the screen star was in convulsions and physicians resorted to opiates.

BRAVES FIELD, BOSTON, Aug. 20.—The Boston Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first game of their doubleheader here this afternoon.

The game went 10 innings.

The contest developed into a pitchers' battle between Remy Kremer, of the Pirates, and Eddie Brandt, of the Braves.

Jack Chesbro, former star pitcher of the Pirates, came to the Pittsburgh camp today with a giant pitcher in tow.

The youngster is Lawrence Bishop, a semi-pro star of East Douglas, Mass. Bishop made a fine impression on Manager Jewel Ens and was ordered to return tomorrow, when he may be given a Pirate contract.

The scoreless deadlock was broken in the eighth inning, when Maguire doubled, was sacrificed to third and scored on a perfect squeeze play engineered by Maranville.

Hawks in Indiana On Hop to Texas

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank Hawks landed here at 2:10 p. m., Pittsburgh time, today, on his flight from New York to Fort Worth, Tex., and planned to take off immediately after refueling. A heavy rain was falling when he landed.

Hawks is trying to set a new speed record on the flight, but says he is primarily interested in meeting his mother, who is flying to Fort Worth from the Pacific coast.

KERR MUST PAY CONTRACTOR

The City Controller is merely a ministerial officer without power to withhold payment on city contracts after the Director of the Department of Public Works approves final estimates, Judge James H. Gray ruled in Common Pleas Court in an opinion today.

He granted a writ of peremptory mandamus against the city and Controller James P. Kerr for the payment to Domenick Pavia of $17,834 on his contract for improving Fifteenth street between Penn avenue and Pike streets, where borings were made to verify charges that the concrete base did not meet specifications as to thickness.

Judge Gray commended Controller Kerr for his diligence and public spirit, but cited decisions of the Supreme Court holding the decision of the Public Works Director conclusive in such cases.

PLANE TOWED TO KETOI ISLAND

Japanese Crew Helps Flier To Repair Propeller; Fog Still Delays Colonel, Wife

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service.

TOKIO, Aug. 20.—In tow of the Japanese fishing trawler Shinshiri Maru, the plane in which Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh flew half way around the world before encountering difficulties was taken to Ketoi Island, in the Kurile group, today.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, who spent the night aboard the Shinshiri Maru after fog and engine trouble downed them off the isolated islet on their way from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka to Nemuro, Japan, supervised the plane's mooring. Aided by the crew of the vessel, they made minor repairs to the craft's propeller.

Weather permitting, the flying colonel and his wife planned to leave Ketoi at dawn tomorrow for Nemuro.

RADIO FAILS

Her radio set failed Mrs. Lindbergh yesterday and the couple was compelled to communicate with the outside world through that of the Shinshiri Maru.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh were questioned by the captain of the ship about the forced landing at Ketoi. Before leaving Petropavlovsk Lindbergh anticipated possible trouble in the Kuriles and asked the Japanese government, through the American Embassy in Tokio, for an emergency permit to land in the Kuriles. This was granted, hence it was believed the interview did not concern any possible violation of Japanese law.

ANCHOR LINE BREAKS

The Lindberghs will be comfortable aboard the Shinshiri Maru, which is a fairly new vessel of 1,645 tons. It was learned that Col. Lindbergh tried to anchor his plane so he and his wife could remain aboard it during the night, but the anchor line broke. The plane was then lashed to the Shinshiri Maru and the fliers went aboard.

Col. Lindbergh said trouble developed in his engine when he attempted to take off from a secluded bay off Ketoi.

Messages from the fliers were being relayed to Tokio through the steamer Kokusai Maru, anchored at Etorofu, but static was hampering transmission. The Lindberghs wirelessed the Kokusai Maru that they needed no help and hoped to take off tomorrow at daylight.

Edison Continues Gains in Health

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 20.—(INS.)—Thomas Alva Edison's condition remained unchanged today and his health was generally fair, it was stated at his home today.

Inasmuch as his room is air cooled, it was said, he has hardly noticed the heat.

Operation Halts Child's Whistling

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Patricia Dougherty, 8, has stopped whistling, but it took a surgical operation to do it. Patricia inhaled a small tin whistle a few days ago and every time she breathed it sounded. A physician removed it from her lung with a pair of forceps.

Frances Burke's Ex-Mate Weds Sewickley Divorcee

Donald S. Rodgers, investment broker, divorced a few weeks ago by Frances Burke Rodgers, daughter of James Francis Burke, is honeymooning today with his second wife, who was Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers Blair, of Sewickley.

They were married Tuesday at Cohasset, Mass., summer home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Blackstone Rodgers, of Woodland road, according to information received here.

Rodgers, a son of the late Elliott Rodgers, former judge, and onetime political leader of the North Side, was divorced by his first wife in an uncontested suit. She charged that he had not supported her or their two children. They were married in 1921 and separated in 1929, testimony revealed.

The new Mrs. Rodgers, divorced wife of George Blair, is a daughter of the late William B. Rodgers, formerly city solicitor, and leader of the Allegheny County Bar.

Brewers Seek to Market Beer as Food Product

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Borrowing a page from the success of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt with the California wine industry, beer interests are reported to be quietly organizing a drive to have beer accepted as a food product and as such regulated under the pure food laws. The drive is expected to get under way within the next few weeks.

According to the advance agents, it is to have no relation to the general fight of the anti-prohibitionists or the growing onslaught against the Eighteenth amendment. Rather, it is planned entirely to disassociate the beer drive from these phases of prohibition.

For several months now the beer people have had on the market a product called "wort," a liquid which develops into fairly palatable beer through the simple process of adding yeast. It has not made its appearance in Washington, but is reported to be quite the thing in some cities, notably Buffalo and Cleveland.

A question has arisen among the manufacturers, however, as to whether they can get away with their product as a food because it is admittedly unpalatable in the original form. The yeast has to be added and the liquid permitted to ferment before it can be used.

By way of comparison, Mrs. Willebrand't grape wine can be drunk as is without waiting for nature to take its course. Still, there are the grape bricks which seem to be gaining a place in the market without much federal interference.

Otto Quits Belgium; Throne Aim Denied

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Archduke Otto of Hungary, who still is "His Majesty the Emperor" to his retainers at Steenockerzeel Castle, has left Belgium, where he is a student at Louvain University, for an unannounced destination, but several retainers who remained behind at the castle denied today that he intended to take advantage of the change of government in Hungary to regain the throne.

SENATOR REED SCORES PINCHOT FOR EXTRA SESSION PLEA

SEES ATTEMPT TO PUT BURDEN ON HOOVER

Pennsylvania Solvent and Can Meet Own Jobless Problem, He Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 —(AP)— Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania was taken to task today by Senator Reed (Rep [illegible]) state [illegible] appeal to President Hoover to call Congress in special session to deal with unemployment. Reed said:

"The governors of the several states and the local authorities under them should not and must not evade their responsibilities.

"Why should they be sending appeals to a harassed President to do for them what they ought to be doing for themselves?"

PENNSYLVANIA SOLVENT

"Pennsylvania is solvent. Her credit is perfect and she is just as well able to raise the money to help her unemployed as she is to bear her share of a federal fund for that purpose."

Sen [illegible] tion [illegible] statement [illegible] said:

"The open letter addressed by Gov. Pinchot to President Hoover seems to me to be a serious mistake. I am sure that it does not express the idea of the people of Pennsylvania. We can handle our local affairs for ourselves better than Washington can handle them for us.

"We do not ask subsidies from the Federal Treasury if for no other reason than that we have discovered by sad experience that whenever that sort of thing begins, Pennsylvania has to pay more in new taxation than it gets back from Washington in subsidies.

"We are convinced that at the present moment the national government is doing about all that it can in new construction work to give employment throughout the country. Even if new national appropriations for construction were made now, the unemployment situation would not begin to feel the effect until long after next winter has passed.

GREAT CRISIS

"The whole country knows the severity of this depression. It is our greatest crisis since the World War. Each of us owes a clean duty to do his best to mitigate and end it.

"Finding work for people who need it is a local problem. Our neighbors who want work are entitled to our help, not as a charity but in common justice. We cannot shove or the responsibility onto President Hoover. It seems to me that the very self-respect of the individual states is at stake. We must face our own problem, tackle our own task, care for our own people and leave Washington to cope with the work that properly belongs to it.

NO CURE-ALL

"There is no cure-all for the ills which afflict the United States and the rest of the world. We are passing through a difficult period of readjustment out of which will come strength and wisdom to meet the problems of the future. To call Congress into session now would only encourage the sort of legislative quackery that always makes its appearance in times like the present.

"It is not by this process, but by the workings of natural forces and the collective good sense of the American people that we shall recover our economic equilibrium. I am quite sure that the country as a whole will condemn any attempt to force the President to adopt the course, which would be as futile as it is unwise."

CROXTON TO AID GIFFORD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 —(AP)— President Hoover today selected Fred C. Croxton, of Columbus, O., as assistant director of the reorganized unemployment relief committee headed by Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Gifford was named by Mr. Hoover yesterday to command a new national organization to mobilize and direct unemployment relief next winter with the support of the whole force of the administration.

[illegible] new relief chief today accepted an invitation from the [illegible] to spend the week-end [illegible] Rapidan Camp and go over the entire unemployment situation.

Trick Regains Mother Two Kidnaped Children

Mrs. Mildred E. Reed, 29, of 1714 Hays street, Swissvale, was reunited with her two daughters, Jane Aileen, 6, and Shirley Lee, 4, by tricking her husband, Neal W. Reed, 30, of East Liverpool, O., into returning to Pittsburgh where she caused his arrest.

Reed, separated from his wife since early this year, was charged with desertion and nonsupport before Judge Richard A. Kennedy in February. He was ordered to pay Mrs. Reed $12 weekly for support of the children. On July 13 Mrs. Reed alleged her husband came to Pittsburgh and kidnaped his two children.

A few days ago Mrs. Reed said she received a call from Mr. Reed asking that she come to East Liverpool to live with him. Consenting, she asked him to come here for her. He promised. When he arrived Saturday he was arrested, charged with failure to pay for support of the children. The children were located in Newell, W. Va., on Monday. Reed was arraigned today before Judge Kennedy, who awarded the mother the custody of the two children and renewed the order to Reed to continue his $12 weekly payments.

CARNEGIE BOY ESCAPES WAVE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 20 —(AP)— Homer Fry, 17, of 608 Chestnut street, Carnegie, Pa., believed lost when huge waves pounded the beach yesterday, returned to the home of Melvin Atkinson in Pleasantville today.

Homer Fry

With his mother Fry had been staying at the Atkinson home. He left yesterday saying he was going bathing at Atlantic City. When he did not return his mother became alarmed and reported him missing.

The Rev. John W. Canaday, 25, pastor of the Olivet Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, also reported missing, is believed to have returned to Baltimore last night.

There seems to be no doubt, however, that Eugene Beuarle, 17, Paterson High School athlete, was drowned.

The phenomenon yesterday claimed the life of one Pittsburgher, Charles F. McKenna.

The first of a series of gigantic freak waves rolled over thousands of bathers between the Steeplechase and Central piers at the foot of South Carolina avenue shortly after noon, catching hundreds in a fierce undertow and sweeping them out to sea.

McKenna made his home with a daughter at 32 Marion street and had gone to Atlantic City Saturday with his wife.

He was a member of the pioneer McKenna family that produced Judge and Mayor McKenna. For the last 10 years he had been employed in the City Water Bureau.

Young Voters Invite Candidates to Meet

All candidates for major offices in city and county have been invited to a meeting of the Young Men's Voters Club of the South Hills next Monday night in Knoxville Junior High School, Zara street.

The club was organized last Monday at a meeting in Overbrook Hall, Overbrook, when these officers were elected: Thomas I. Jones, president; John Sher, vice president; Dane Critchfield, secretary; Robert W. Evans, publicity director.

teenth Ward I don't think you have much chance."

To the reporter from Sewickley the clerk said:

"I'll give you an application blank, but don't think it will do you much good."

"Whom would you suggest as sponsor?"

"You say you are from Sewickley. Why don't you see your postmaster?"

"What's the postmaster's name?"

"I think it is Sweeney or something like that."

Sweeney is reputed leader of the Republican organization in Sewickley.

Then the clerk vouchsafed this information:

"You know, boys, that there are about 10,000 applications on file, but every so often some man comes in and he is passed into the back room and gets a job right away."

Armed with his application blank, the Fourteenth Ward scribe went to see Alderman Sol Goldstein, ward political leader, and asked for his signature on the voucher.

The reporter asked:

"Will you sign this?"

Goldstein replied:

"If I signed that application it would be suicide for you. They would kick you out of the Courthouse. I am supporting Mansfield for Commissioner."

"Well, how about getting Pat Casey, the ward chairman, to sign it?"

"It won't do you any good. Casey is out for Mansfield, too. He hasn't been able to get a political appointment for a long time."

Goldstein continued:

"You know, they were supposed to send out a voting machine to be exhibited in my office. Do you see anything of a vote machine around here?"

The reporter confessed he was unable to detect any.

Goldstein said:

"That's because I'm supporting Mansfield, too."

The reporter residing in Sewickley went to see Postmaster Sweeney of that borough.

Sweeney told him:

"I don't think I can do anything for you now. It's too late. You should have applied earlier in the season."

At the bottom of each application blank the reporters found are voucher blanks for two names, ostensibly for signatures of those who can recommend the applicant with respect to character, sobriety, etc.

As a matter of fact, only names of ward or community leaders in league with the Commissioners' office are of any value.

PINCHOT GROUP PUTS JOBLESS AT MILLION

Fourth of State's Working Population Unemployed; 30 Counties in Distress

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20 —(AP.)— The report of the State Unemployment Relief Committee, upon which Gov. Pinchot based a letter to President Hoover urging the calling of a special session of Congress, was made public here today.

It was from this report that the Governor obtained his estimate that 919,000 persons, or approximately one fourth of the whole working population of Pennsylvania, are unemployed. A copy of the report was sent to the President.

The report said that serious conditions exist in 30 of the state's 67 counties.

INCREASED DEMANDS

The report said that in 40 counties great increases have been necessary to relieve families in their own homes. These counties spent $500,000 more for relief in 1930 than in 1929. It added:

"Reports from 11 counties show increases as high as 200 per cent for relief disbursements during the first six months of 1931 as against the corresponding period of 1930."

The Federations of Social Agencies, the report showed, raised approximately $11,200,000 for 1931 and special unemployment relief funds added $6,000,000. Plans are under way for increasing this total to $[illegible],000,000.

The report said that 19,000 men are now engaged in an enormous state-wide program of road building and that this number will be increased by September to 25,000.

Welfare organizations report unprecedented demands for relief, the report said.

The "twice normal increase" in the populations of the Eastern and Western state penitentiaries is due largely to economic distress.

CHILDREN PROTECTED

A bright spot was the declaration that there has been no increasing separation of children from families because of poverty. The report continued:

"Relief needs are most serious in the coal fields, where conditions are aggravated by unusual unemployment, particularly in soft coal areas, and by lack of resources and organized services. Under normal conditions the mines of the state employ approximately 300,000 men. During and immediately after the war this number rose to some 400,000, with a gradual displacement of these extra workers during the last eight years, many of whom went into other industries elsewhere in Pennsylvania or outside the state.

"Some of these are now returning to relatives in the mining areas because of unemployment, thus increasing the problems of relief in those communities. In the soft coal areas, the likelihood is that conditions will grow worse before the winter is over."

A referendum will be conducted by the State Chamber of Commerce among its members to determine their attitude on Gov. Pinchot's announced intention of calling a special session of the Legislature.

The ballots will be mailed today and the poll will close on Monday, September 10. The ballots will go to 2,400 corporations and firms and to all chambers of commerce.

STAGE ROMANCE ENDS

ETHEL CLAYTON . . . 'IAN KEITH HURLED CROCKERY'

Miss Clayton, stage and screen star, filed suit yesterday for divorce from Ian Keith, actor. The legal action climaxed their third separation since their marriage in February, 1928. Her husband had a violent temper and hurled furniture and dishes at her last Christmas, Miss Clayton charged. The suit was entered under their private-life names, Ethel and Macauley Ross.

GAS TAX CHARGE HELD RATE PLOT

Any attempt by the State of Oklahoma to institute receivership proceedings against the Lone Star Gas Corporation would be futile, L. B. Denning, president, declared today when asked to comment on the report that Leon Hirsch, special attorney for Gov. Murray, was planning to take action for non-payment of taxes.

Denning charged the report was pure propaganda aimed at obtaining low rates when his company goes before the Oklahoma State Corporation Commission for a hearing on September 14.

Ex-Chicago Health Director Dies at 60

WALWORTH, Wis., Aug. 20 —(INS)— Dr. John Dill Robertson, 60, former candidate for Mayor and former Health Commissioner of the city of Chicago, died at his summer home here today. He was a native of Indiana County, Pa.

AIR EXECUTIVE HIT-RUN VICTIM

Pittsburgh Backer of Keith-Miller Flight Killed on Highway

Mr. Smith, president of Aerial Enterprise of Pittsburgh, killed when a hit-and-run car struck the auto beneath which he was working. He is pictured at Pittsburgh-Butler airport with his company's treasurer and Mrs. Keith-Miller, the aviatrix they backed in her flight to Cuba.

KEITH-MILLER BACKER KILLED

Harwood R. Smith, 47, of 6015 Hoeveler street, who in November, 1930, was one of the promoters of the flight of Mrs. Keith-Miller from Pittsburgh to Havana, died in Mercy Hospital early today a few hours after being injured by a hit-run driver on Lincoln highway, near Imperial.

Police in all sections of the district were searching for the driver of the car, who sped away after the accident.

W. C. Barto, of 5705 Rural street, sales manager of the Frankfort company, reported to the Coroner's office that he and Smith were driving toward Pittsburgh when the car developed motor trouble and Smith crawled under. When the other car hove into sight, Barto said, he jumped out and tried to flag it, but the driver ignored him and crashed into the rear of the Smith car, dragging Smith 15 feet. The second driver then backed clear of the wreckage and sped away.

LEAPS TO DEATH FROM TRAIN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 20.—Swinging from a luggage rack in a speeding Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train early today, Andrew Novak, 45, of 1201 McDonough avenue, North Braddock, jumped through a window to his death in Sang Hollow, two miles west of here.

Novak, who had recently sent his wife money to make the final payment on their home in Czecho-Slovokia, was en route to Windber for a few days' vacation with friends.

The body, brought to Johnstown, was identified by a paper found in his clothing bearing his name. The early theory that he was mentally unbalanced by a blow on the head inflicted by a highwayman was discounted when $25 was found in his pockets.

Train officials said he boarded the train at Greensburg.

Support for Wymard Urged by Attorney

Attorney Walter L. Dipple today issued a statement indorsing N. L. (Skip) Wymard, as a Republican candidate for judge of County Court and urging all his friends to support Wymard. Dipple declared:

"I have known "Skip" Wymard for 30 years and always have found him to be fair, honest, conscientious and reliable. He undoubtedly possesses the qualifications necessary to fit him for the office he seeks."

Tom O'Malley Fined $50 After Raid on Camp

Tom O'Malley, "Strip" politician, was fined $50 on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at a hearing before Justice of the Peace B. L. Gunsallus, of Oakmont, last night, following a raid by Oakmont police on the O'Malley cottage in the Morris camp grounds Tuesday.

Six others, including a woman who failed to appear at the hearing, were assessed fines ranging from $5 to $20 for lost forfeits. Martin Cavanaugh, of Oakmont, who, police said, became abusive and destroyed furnishings in a cell room at the police station was fined $20 on two charges of disorderly conduct.

Lydia Mragek, 23, of Troy Hill, forfeited her $15 bond for a hearing. Those fined were Dennis Manning, of Lawrenceville; Chester Duk, of Penn avenue; Max Abron, of Forty-fourth street; John Adair, of Forty-third street, and Edwar Mragek, a brother of the woman, of Troy Hill.

BRITAIN FEELS OUT U. S. ON DEBT CUT

'Inspired' Article Hints Hoover May Summon New Parley by End of Year

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(INS.)— The government of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald was given a free hand in dealing with the economic situation today when the national executive committee of the Labor party reached an agreement to "leave the position with the government."

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service

LONDON, Aug. 20.

While the British cabinet was struggling with the financial crisis confronting the nation, definite feelers emanated from Downing street today indicating that Great Britain would be receptive in the highest degree to any new war debt or reparations proposal from President Hoover.

The British attitude toward liquidating the financial burdens resulting from the World War was crystallized by the recent report of the international committee of bankers at Basle, Switzerland, which recommended immediate revision of German reparations as a necessary step to restore German financial solidarity and benefit the rest of the world.

EYES ON WASHINGTON

Because of Mr. Hoover's initiative in suspending all war debts and reparations payments for a period of 12 months in order to ease Germany's burden, Washington has automatically become the focal point of European eyes with respect to the post-war financial problem.

The London Daily Herald, mouthpiece of the British Labor government, published an article today hinting that President Hoover might be considering summoning a conference on war debts before the end of the year. The story was interpreted in some quarters as one inspired by the British government in the hope that the United States government might see fit to follow the suggestion.

According to the Daily Herald, continental diplomats are virtually unanimous in the belief that President Hoover is contemplating such action, and that definite plans would be made when Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson returns to Washington.

BILLION DOLLAR OIL UNIT NEAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.)— Negotiations for the merger of five units in the oil industry, with assets in excess of a billion dollars, have reached the final stages, it was learned today, and formal announcement is expected next week.

The five units are the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, Tide Water Associated Oil Company, Prairie Oil and Gas Company, Prairie Pipe Line Company and Rio Grande Oil Company.

Although official comment was unavailable it was understood the formation of a large holding company, to be incorporated under the laws of Delaware, which probably will be known as the Commonwealth Oil Corporation.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(INS.)— Shares of Commonwealth Petroleum Corporation, representing a $1,000,000,000 merger of leading oil companies, were admitted to trading today on the Chicago Curb on a "when issued" basis. The first sale was quoted at 12⅝.

FAVORITES PLAYED BY POLICE IN POLITICAL POSTER WAR

'ORGANIZATION' SIGNS NOT DISTURBED

Constable Candidate in 12th Ward, Companions Fined; Highway Signs Removed

Except for one brief flurry early today, when Howard Messer, Twelfth Ward candidate for constable, and four of his supporters were arrested, city police apparently made no further effort to end the political poster battle or to halt the defacing of private and public property.

Even then their activities were confined to the "smaller fry" of the list of Independent candidates, while the bigger and better banners of the "organization" candidates remained unmolested.

Messer and his companions, F. E. Kimball, 25, of 1007 Lincoln avenue, Wesley Van, 21, of 6731 Rowan avenue, J. H. Hieman, 21, of 7135 Kedron street, and Edward Finnerin, 40, of 7125 Lemington avenue, were each fined $5 or 10 days in jail by Magistrate Charles Papale, of East End Police Court.

TRUCK SEIZED

A Ford truck and campaign literature confiscated by police at his arrest, was returned to him upon the payment of $5.25 assessed for hauling, storage and hoisting by Gumto & Anderson's Garage, at 6029 Rodman street, city concessionaire. A paste bucket and brushes were missing.

Messer charged that his arrest was due to his refusal to withdraw from the race in favor of Gus Ellis, recently appointed to the City detective force. He was asked to withdraw, he said, by an emissary of Magistrate Papale.

Police surrounded the arrest of Matthew Barzella, 29, of 1319½ Invanhoe street by mystery. Barzella, according to early reports, was seized as a suspect in connection with the beating Sunday of Thomas Walsh, son of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, during a violent poster battle in the Hill district.

In Center avenue police court Barzella was held in $500 bond for further investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg. No mention of the charge against Barzella was made during the hearing. Barzella is said to be a supporter of Constable Jack Schneider, whose candidacy for re-election in the First Ward, is opposed by Paul Walsh, another son of the police superintendent.

SOOST SIGNS STAY

Efforts of workmen of the Bureau of Traffic Planning to remove the painted "Boost Soost" signs, declared a traffic hazard, have been a failure, Lewis W. McIntyre, bureau head, admitted today. He said the signs "would have to wear out." Bureau of Highways and Sewers workmen who have been removing candidates' cards and posters, said the removal of the "Boost Soost" signs was up to the Bureau of Traffic Planning. They continued efforts to remove the other political signs.

In Allegheny County, the State Highway Department cleaned up highways in the North Boroughs of thousands of posters which lined the thoroughfares. H. E. Kloss, district engineer, said there is a standing order for highway caretakers to remove all advertising placed along the right of way.

5 Mortgage Firm Officers Indicted

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Five officers of the American Bond and Mortgage Company, with headquarters in New York and Chicago, were indicted today by a federal grand jury, charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Sale of a $500 defaulted bond on Pelham Hall Apartments, Brookline, is specified in the indictment. The bond was one of a $946,000 issue.

Those indicted are William J. Moore, president; Harold Moore, treasurer; Charles C. Moore, vice president; Kenneth W. Moore, secretary, and Hayden W. Ward, vice president.

Closed Toledo Banks May Be Reorganized

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Toledo banks which failed to open their doors Monday will be given an opportunity to reorganize, it was announced today by Theodore H. Tangeman, State Director of Commerce.

Until the feasability of reorganization is determined, the state will not attempt to liquidate the affairs of the banks, four of which have a total of about $80,000,000 in deposits, Tangeman said.

MRS. THADEN REACHES COAST

By LOUISE THADEN,

Winner of the 1929 National Air Derby for Women, and Pittsburgh's Representative in the 1931 Cross Country Derby.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 20.—The entrants in the derby soon to start from the Pacific Coast are to be entertained today in Los Angeles. There are 48 entrants, 14 of them are women, and my number is 48. We landed at 4:30 p. m. yesterday in terrific heat. The temperature at Imperial where I stopped for gas was 114.

Blanche Noyes, so sunburned she resembles a Mexican, is on hand. So far I have not seen any of the other women entrants.

(Mrs. Thaden is writing exclusively for the Sun-Telegraph of her air experiences in this year's races.)

Red Deputies Heckle Boris, Bolt Chamber

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The 30 Communist members of the Bulgarian Chamber of Deputies walked out of the chamber this morning after interrupting King Boris as he spoke from the rostrum inaugurating a special session. They shouted:

"Down with the Fascist government!"

Knights of Columbus Select Washington

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus, meeting here in annual convention, decided today to hold its fiftieth anniversary meeting next year in Washington.

The order at that meeting will unveil a statue of the late James Cardinal Gibbons.

HEIRESS BRIDE ILL, DOCTORS MYSTIFIED

Boston Cabot Family Denies Suicide Attempt as Rare Malady Puzzles Specialists

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Suffering since last Monday from a strange malady which has thus far eluded the diagnosis of skilled physicians, Mrs. John Boit Cabot, wife of a scion of one of Boston's most prominent families, hovered between life and death at Baker Memorial Hospital today.

While the young bride of one year was said to have been stricken following an overdose of sleeping tablets, Dr. Hugh Cabot, famous surgeon, scoffed at the possibility that his son's wife might have attempted suicide because of an estrangement with her husband, and denied that he had left his work at Rochester, M[illegible] order to attend his [illegible]ghter-in-law.

Stating that his son and the bride were very happy in their married life, Dr. Cabot further declared that any hint of suicide "is nonsensical, unjustified and without basis."

Mrs. Cabot was found in a coma last Monday night upon the return of her husband from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he had just completed a summer course in architecture. At first, it was believed that Mrs. Cabot was suffering from infantile paralysis, but symptoms of this disease disappeared to leave attending physicians baffled as to the nature of her illness.

The parents of Mrs. Cabot, Bishop Edward E. Dixon, of Moores, Pa., and his wife, have been notified of their daughter's illness, but it is unlikely that they will come here, according to Dr. Cabot.

Pressure is high over and north of the lakes, Port Arthur, Ont., 30.30, and southwestward to the Central Rocky Mountains. A shallow trough of relatively low pressure extends from the North and Middle Atlantic coast to Texas, with rain falling this morning in Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. Showers occurred since yesterday morning in the central valleys and over most of the eastern states south of the lakes, with rainfall in excess of one inch at Elkins, W. Va., Louisville, Ky., and Evansville, Ind. Over the lakes, the plains and most of the West weather is generally fair. Temperatures are somewhat lower in the lake region, the Ohio Valley and New England, with slight changes elsewhere.

Gary Cooper Flame Of Fifi Dorsay

FIFI DORSAY . . . MAKING HER SOFT EGGS A LITTLE HARDER!

Dashing Actress Also Confeses Yearning for 9 Children

Oui, oui! It's Gary Cooper that's in her heart.

Fifi Dorsay whispered it, and it was no stage whisper. So believe it or not, the heart of poor little black-haired Fifi, the motion picture and stage star who is stopping for the coming week at the William Penn Hotel, is racing along just for Gary.

That fellow out West where they make the wild and wooly pictures—whose ring Fifi wears—has been neglectful. As she says:

"He hasn't been calling; he hasn't been sending flowers; he hasn't been so attentive, so, now that Lupe Velez is out, it's Gary. And he's so sweet, so retiring, so modest. Oui, I saw him yesterday."

Fifi lets you know she isn't kidding herself about the tall, handsome Gary, who is making pictures in New York.

"He's the most popular star in Hollywood, and do the movie girls like him . . . and he doesn't give them a tumble. And do I like him, oui, oui."

It was breakfast time, and Miss Dorsay said her great-grandmother had 22 children, her grandmother 18, and she was one of 13, adding:

"I expect to have nine."

Miss Dorsay starts playing at the Stanley tomorrow, simultaneous with a photoplay in which she appears with Will Rogers.

Included in her activities for today was her appearance in Rosenbaum's fur department, where she was to meet visitors and model fur coats.

PLANE CRASH TO BRING QUIZ

Officials of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., today were investigating the crash of one of their ships at Bettis Field in which six persons, four passengers and two pilots, were injured.

The plane crashed early last night as it attempted a landing en route from Chicago to New York.

All three motors of the plane were torn away, its under-carriage wrecked and the fuselage and wings dadly damaged.

Officials of the airport said the plane had cost $60,000 and was almost a complete wreck.

At the McKeesport Hospital, where the six injured were treated, it was reported today that none was hurt seriously. Two had been discharged after treatment and the other four were said to be resting comfortably.

The injured are:

A. D. SMITH, 44, of Harrisburg, pilot, head and internal injuries.

HARRY DOWNES, 26, Columbus, co-pilot, cuts and bruises.

FRED NELSON, manager of the Harrisburg Airport, slight injuries.

MRS. T. J. RUSSELL, of Newark, N. J., ribs fractured and probably internal injuries.

FORREST WEBSTER, 36, of Milwaukee, head injuries.

R. W. DONAHUE, Columbus, slight injuries.

Donahue and Nelson were permitted to leave the hospital

KELLY CHARGES BROWN PERILS AIRMAIL

Postmaster General Aids Monopoly, Congressman Says; Will Force Inquiry

By FULTON LEWIS

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Representative Clyde Kelly (Rep.), Pennsylvania, charged that Postmaster General Walter Brown is "prostituting the nation's airmail with monopolies" and served notice that he will force a complete investigation of the Brown airmail administration by Congress.

Kelly, an influential member of the House Postoffice Committee, declared that when the present McNary-Watres act was under consideration, Brown attempted to obtain passage of provisions giving him power to issue all new airmail contracts without asking for bids. Kelly defeated this attempt on the ground it would give the Postmaster General autocratic powers over the aeronautic industry and be "highly dangerous," he said.

WILL FORCE INQUIRY

Kelly told Universal Service:

"Although the Congress presumably defeated the Postmaster General in this attempt, and included mandatory provisions requiring bids in the final McNary-Watres act, it is obvious that the Postmaster General is administering that bill to an end not intended by Congress.

"I shall force an absolute and uncompromising probe into the reasons for this the minute Congress convenes in December."

The charges of Kelly, "father of the airmail," and his demand for an investigation, came as a dramatic sequel to Universal Service's exclusive disclosure Tuesday that 90 per cent of the nation's $17,000,000 annual airmail subsidy—designed, according to Mr. Brown himself to "assist the small operator who now has no contracts and who needs a little help"—is now going to four mammoth concerns. These are United Aircraft, Aviation Corporation of Delaware, Transcontinental and Western Air Express, and Eastern Air Transport.

CONTRACT CHARGES

Universal Service also showed that of the 32 contracts awarded by the Postoffice Department since passage of the McNary-Watres act, April 29, 1930, the last 30 have been granted as "extensions" by the Postmaster General to the alleged monopoly, without being offered for bids.

DO-X EN ROUTE TO PORTO RICO

By ROBERT G. A[illegible]PINALL

International News Service.

ABOARD SEAPLANE DO-X, Aug. 20.—With her next stop scheduled to be in American territory, the giant German seaplane DO-X left Port of Spain, Trinidad, at 6 a. m. (Pittsburgh time) today for San Juan, Porto Rico.

We arrived at Port of Spain at 2:15 p. m. yesterday after a flight from Paramaribo, where the military band of the Surinamians, a German colony, serenaded us as the great seaplane went aloft to continue its journey from Rio to New York. We left Paramaribo at 10:45 a. m., thrilled by the welcome we received there. Flags hung from almost every building of the city of 40,000 and practically all the inhabitants gave us a send off.

We flew over Trinidad's famous lake of asphalt where the buccaneers of the Spanish Main were wont to caulk their vessels.

MARY NOLAN

Film Star Released On Bond Pending Trial Sept. 11

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Mary Nolan, motion picture actress, the former Imogene Wilson of the New York musical comedy stage, was arrested by deputy sheriffs here on a charge of nonpayment of wages to employes.

She pleaded not guilty before a Beverly Hills justice of the peace and was released under $300 bond for trial September 11.

Miss Nolan returned recently from New York and her representative announced she had signed a motion picture contract.

500 FALL IN CUBAN REVOLT

By CHARLES C. CANNY

International News Service.

HAVANA, Aug. 20.—The little seaport town of Gibara, on the north coast of the province of Oriente, was in ruins today as the smoke of the greatest battle fought on Cuban soil since the Spanish-American War cleared away.

According to an official communique, the remnant of the filibustering expedition, consisting chiefly of American Negroes, which landed from German and Norwegian ships Monday, has been trapped in a railway tunnel, with siege and naval guns trained on both ends.

Havana waited breathlessly today for details of the three-day battle and confirmation of reports placing rebel casualties as high as 500 and stating that the German steamer Frederick William II, said to have brought part of the rebel expedition from Miami, Fla., had been sunk by airplanes.

Airplanes bombed the town, while artillery and the Patria raked it with shells.

QUIZ SHOWGIRLS IN CRUISE MYSTERY

Ex-Actress Mildred Harris Linked in Disappearance Of Rich Japanese Importer

By DAVID P. SENTNER

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Details of an unbilled melodrama aboard the six-day "show boat" cruise of the liner Belgenland were unfolded today.

It was entitled: The mysterious disappearance of Hisashi Fujimura, millionaire Japanese importer.

The leading lady: Mrs. Mary Reisner, the former musical comedy actress, Mary Dale, who played "Geisha Girl" to the wealthy Japanese during the cruise.

Others in the cast being assembled by federal authorities investigating the incident included Mildred Harris, divorced wife to Charlie Chaplin, a number of Broadway entertainers who contributed to the gay life aboard the vacation liner, and a score of prominent persons of the upper social strata also aboard the vessel.

GRAND JURY QUIZ

The plot—if there was a plot—will be determined by a Federal Grand Jury next Monday when Mary Dale Reisner, who admitted that she really wasn't the "governess" of the seven-year-old daughter of Fujimura, will be questioned further and the other passengers called.

Mrs. Reisner, a pretty platinum-blonde, revealed to authorities that her expenses on the trip had been paid by Fujimura, that he had quarreled with her before his disappearance for attending too many parties aboard the boat, and that she had gone to a midnight-to-dawn party given by Mildred Harris during the hours Fujimura disappeared.

Federal authorities were trying to answer the following questions:

Was there a drunken quarrel aboard the liner?

Did Fujimura engage in an altercation with any Occidental admirer of the lovely actress?

Was the Japanese importer murdered at sea?

Did he fall or jump overboard?

Did the married Fujimura, afraid of being seen in the company of Mrs. Reisner, slip ashore unnoticed by customs officials when the liner landed next day?

ACTRESS TALKS

Mrs. Reisner, according to Assistant United States Attorney J. Edwin Lumbard, Jr., made the following statement:

"I was not employed as a governess. Hisashi and I had adjoining cabins. We had a quarrel last night because he did not want me to go up to the party given by Mildred Harris.

"I left him about 1 a. m. Friday as the liner was nearing New York Harbor. I came back at 4 a. m. and went to bed in my cabin. At 6 o'clock the stewwoke me up and said Hisashi was gone."

Mildred Harris, one of the stars in the liner's entertainment program, said she had seen Fujimura aboard but "didn't recall much about him."

A reward of $5,000 was offered by the silk corporation of which Fujimura was the head for information as to whether the importer was dead or alive. The Japanese consul and British consul-general have opened inquiries of their own. The liner was of British registry.

Son Born to Wife Of Missing Silk Man

NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 20.—(INS.)—Within a week, Mrs. Hisashi Fujimura, wife of the missing millionaire Japanese importer, has run the gamut of human emotions.

At about the time her husband had mysteriously disappeared from aboard the liner Belgenland, her 3-year-old daughter, Mickedo, died.

Then an eight-pound son was born to Mrs. Fujimura.

Dr. Kinichi Iwanceo, who attended her, said mother and son were doing well today.

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Father James M. Cox, of St. Patrick's Church, Pittsburgh, was awarded the silver medal of the first class by Pope Pius XI in recognition of his work in heading American pilgrimages to Rome.

Father Cox arrived in Rome with a party of Americans who will be presented to the Pontiff on Saturday.

Dempsey Returns to Ring, Ignores Divorce Woes

RENO, Nev., Aug. 20.—(INS.)—Happy at his victory in his first appearance as a fighter since he left the ring in Chicago four years ago, where Gene Tunney had defeated him for the second time, Jack Dempsey today gave little attention to his marital troubles.

Other than to reiterate his plans to go ahead and secure a Reno divorce from his screen-star wife, Estelle Taylor, the former heavyweight champion would say nothing concerning Miss Taylor's move in filing her suit for divorce in Los Angeles and also in securing a restraining order tieing up his interests in the Barbara Corporation and a $200,000 trust fund.

Dempsey was gleeful over his performance last night when, despite the handicap of 16-ounce gloves, he knocked out Jack Beasley, Oakland (Cal.) heavyweight, in the second round of their exhibition bout.

Yates' Girl Faints in Court As Bail Is Refused Again

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(INS.)—Ruth Jayne Cranmer, "girl friend" of State Senator Roy T. Yates, of New Jersey, today was ordered held in jail without bail for another 24 hours until an official report was received on the condition of Yates, who was shot in the apartment of the pretty Ruth.

When Miss Cranmer was arraigned before Magistrate Michael Ford she appeared pale and wan. As photographers attempted to take her picture she shielded her face with a magazine.

Then suddenly she fainted and the court was in an uproar.

Administering of smelling salts by attendants brought the defendant back to consciousness.

Both the girl and Yates maintain they don't remember what happened in the apartment. Both admitted they had been drinking.

KLINE, CLARK ASSAILED ON CITY VICE

Brandon and Houston Lead Attack at Meeting in Independent Headquarters

Former Magistrate A. D. Brandon, ousted from the Morals Court bench by Mayor Charles H. Kline, and John D. Houston, Independent candidate for City Council, the man responsible for the Department of Supplies investigation and Attorney Emanuel Amdur assailed the city administration today.

Mayor Kline and Director of Public Safety James M. Clark bore the brunt of the attack which accused them of being responsible for vice and graft in the city. The Mayor's machine in City Council also came in for a scathing denunciation as Brandon and Houston addressed a noon meeting at the "Independent" headquarters, Fourth avenue.

'2,500 SPEAKEASIES'

Brandon, speaking of a charge made in a magazine article that there were 2,500 speakeasies and 250 disreputable houses, to say nothing of gambling hells, slot machines and "clearing house pools" in the city, said:

"In my experience I feel that these facts are underestimated.

"These conditions could not exist without knowledge, consent and approval of those higher-ups in our public life, even to and including the Mayor.

"If our Mayor is not receiving tribute from the underworld, why does he tolerate these things? If he was desirous of a real cleanup it could be accomplished in 24 hours.

"Police officials do not take orders from their superior, Director Clark, but from ward chairmen under the system that controls the patronage and racket concessions.

NEAR CLARK'S OFFICE

"Director Clark knows that speakeasies and bookie establishments are operated openly within a short distance from his office.

"King Charles the First is not satisfied with his kingdom, the City of Pittsburgh, but is attempting to extend his machine by placing into the County Commissioners' office his chief political ally and master strategist, James J. Coyne."

The former magistrate ended his speech with a plea for the election of "independent" candidates.

COUNCIL ISSUE

Houston said the councilmanic campaign has one paramount issue:

"To free City Council from the sinister control of the Mayor by electing men who, animated by a sincere desire to further the interests of the taxpayers and the welfare of the city, will exercise their independent judgment in dealing with the problems of municipal government."

Speaking of Council's conduct during the Department of Supplies investigation which led to the indictment of Mayor Kline and the then director of the department, Bertram L. Succop, Houston said:

"The behavior of the Mayor's hired men furnished a spectacle rarely seen outside of a circus.

"Some called on heaven for guidance although already instructed by the Mayor as to what to do.

'KLINE AS KAISER'

"Anyone who undertakes to do the Mayor's bidding needs to pray, although his honor believes he has succeeded to the place of the Kaiser in the divine affection.

"Has the city Tax Collector shown you any consideration? Have you been able to economize on your tax outgo?

"Would it not have been a friendly gesture for the Kline administration to send out with each tax statement a note like this:

"'Dear Taxpayer—We are sorry to have to ask you for huge taxes in bad times. But we are going to economize next year. The Mayor is not going to buy any more oriental rugs and custom-built tires and Pete Walsh is going to donate his mother-of-pearl bath tub to the Helping Hand.'"

Former N. J. Mayor Bailed for Attack

OCEAN CITY, N. J., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Former Mayor Joseph O. Champion was released under $12,000 bail to await grand jury action when arraigned today on charges of assault.

Champion, accused of attacking his business partner, John H. Dart, Jr., and the latter's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Morrell, pleaded not guilty.

Vote Machine Distribution Studied by Armstrong

In a desire to prevent the disfranchisement of any voter in districts using voting machines, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong is understood to be considering a plan to place two machines in many districts containing 500 registrants. The voting machine law calls for only one machine for each six hundred voters but this equipment is considered inadequate where voters are having their first experience with the mechanical devices, especially in districts where the bulk of the vote is cast during the evening hours.

Under present plans 525 machines will be available in the county for the September primary. This will be sufficient to equip the three third class cities, Clairton, Duquesne and McKeesport and the first 15 wards of Pittsburgh. The remaining Pittsburgh wards and the boroughs and townships will continue to vote on paper ballots.

With one machine to a district in the first 15 wards there will be a surplus of at least 60 machines. If plans being considered by the Commissioners are worked out these will be scattered among districts where voting is not evenly distributed, or where past experience shows there is greater reason to expect lack of speed in the casting of ballots.

Waives Extradition in $50,000 Robbery

MRS. EMIL LUDWIG

Mrs. Ludwig, 28, pictured in Chicago police hands, who's waiving extradition to Wilmington, N. J., to face prosecution for the theft of $50,000 in jewels from the home of Ernest DuPont, where she had been employed as a maid. She was arrested by Chicago policemen.

SLATE MERGER IS SOUGHT

Conner, former register of wills; Prothonotary John Vogt, Register of Wills Joseph N. Markrell, Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley, Recorder of Deeds Samuel D. Foster, District Attorney Andrew T. Park, City Council: P. J. McArdle, Robert Garland, Charles Anderson and John M. Phillips.

Such a group of candidates would have a double-barreled appeal both to the independents and the organization outside the Kline-Coyne group.

Markrell, Vogt and Topley are on the independent ticket headed by Commissioner Charles C. McGovern. Park, Foster and Woodside have organization indorsements.

O'Neil has been going it alone up to now but has a substantial following which might cause him rather than Conner to be selected by Mansfield and Armstrong if the two leaders are brought together.

Those favoring O'Neil argue his residence, McKeesport, where Armstrong has never been popular, as a point in his favor. This consideration added to the fact that Mansfield also comes from McKeesport might be counted on to be helpful to Armstrong in the eastern end of the county.

Support of either Conner or O'Neil would oppose the effort of Kline or Coyne to gain control of the Treasurer's office through Sheriff Robert S. Cain, their candidate. This office is valuable because it controls appointment of the delinquent tax collector, a potent adjunct to any political faction.

COUNCIL THREAT

The councilmanic quartet named above would be a direct threat at the Kline administration and will be supported only in the event Armstrong decides to make it a fight all along the line, breaking with Coyne and the Mayor. Phillips is on the Coyne slate, having been elected to Council by vote of the Kline majority in that body to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George J. Kambach, but he is not labeled as one of the Mayor's blindly loyal henchmen.

Decision whether such a slate actually will be formed will not come until next week when the position of Armstrong and Mansfield is to be clarified. If these two do not get together, and if Armstrong ignores the protests of many of his followers and teams with Coyne, it will be remade from a Coyne-Kline standpoint, with Armstrong asked to support Phillips, James P. Rooney and the other administration candidates for Council, Cain for treasurer and possibly E. D. Friebertshauser for register.

OPEN ALLIANCE

If he makes any hook-up at all, Armstrong is represented as insisting that it be an open alliance, especially if it is with Mansfield. This is not in harmony with the reported desire of some of Mansfield's friends that he remain free from any admitted entanglements, but endeavor to get what help he can from voters who favor any of the other three entrants.

In the Armstrong camp it is argued that the Commissioner has as much to offer as the Senator and that the latter must be frank in helping Armstrong if there is to be any reciprocity.

Of course, if the four candidates travel their own routes, making deals with one in some districts and another in others, the picture might change. Best opinion is that sufficient bitterness already has been generated to make any such program impossible. It would even more confuse a situation which is the most perplexing in local history.

PARK PRAISES OFFICE RECORD

District Attorney Andrew T. Park, seeking nomination to succeed himself, told an audience in Eagles Hall, Carrick, last night that the record of his office surpassed that of any prosecutor in the state.

Park lauded the work of the county detectives, citing that the 30 men made private investigations for the courts in addition to maintaining 24-hour, seven-day-a-week emergency police service for Allegheny County outside the cities. The Bertillon department made records of 16,000 suspects in the last year, he said. He continued:

"For the first time in the history of our criminal courts our trial list is up to date. There is not a single untried murder indictment remaining in our office. For the work in our law department, I give credit to my staff of 16 hard-working, able and conscientious assistants.

"I believe I have conducted a fearless and vigorous administration of my office. I look upon my office as a sacred stewardship and always will."

Suspect Arrested In Knifing Threat

Mrs. Jessie Rodegeca, 29, of 3005 Sarah street, told South Side police today Francesco Loera, 26, of 3006 Carey way, came to her home early this morning and threatened her with a butcher knife. Police arrested Loera and held him for Morals Court on a morality charge.

Woman Guarding Package Arrested

Asked by a man she knew only as "Henry" to safeguard a package for him, Mrs. Lucy Woods, 21 Stockton avenue, was arrested yesterday on a suspicious person charge. Police said the package, which contained a side of bacon, had been stolen from an automobile. She was discharged.

COYNE PAVING PLAN LAUDED

Frank J. Duggan, president of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, has indorsed the proposal of State Senator James J. Coyne, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, to provide sidewalks along county roads as a safety measure for pedestrians.

Senator Coyne proposed that concrete slabs be cast during the winter in cheaply constructed buildings in rural districts where unemployment is most acute and placed in position the following spring. Local labor would be used under the Coyne plan.

In a letter to the Senator Duggan said:

"Your plan to build sidewalk slabs during the winter under shelter for placement in the spring has all the ear marks of a sound proposal."

C. H. Roth, secretary-manager of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, also wrote approval of the plan.

SOLICITOR SEES COURT NEEDS

Charles A. Waldschmidt of 1016 Davis avenue, North Side, City Solicitor of Pittsburgh since 1926, who is a Republican candidate for judge of Common Pleas Court, asks voters' attention to the fact that the courts have so many cases in which municipalities of Allegheny County are involved that the citizens who should be interested in such cases as taxpayers should regard special equipment in municipal law as an important asset to the judiciary, Waldschmidt stated today.

"While I am seeking advancement to the Common Pleas Court bench as a result of an ambition naturally arising from 25 years general practice of law, I feel warranted in asking special attention of the voters to the importance of securing to the bench a special as well as a general equipment of law practice."

Old Clipper Ship Sunk in Battle With 'Subs'

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Davy Jones' locker closed upon the hulk of the famous old clipper ship Bohemia which half a century ago was the pride of the American merchant fleet.

The Bohemia had a glorious end. She carried the American flag into battle against great odds—three of the best war machines of a new era—submarines. The Bohemia was sunk as movie cameras clicked out film to be used in a picture.

Falls Into Window, Cleaner Injured

Bill Wilson of Philadelphia took a dive through a window when he felt himself falling from a cleaners' scaffold at the fourth floor of the Duquesne University administration building today. He escaped with a slight cut to his right arm.

BAR WILL FIGHT VOTE FRAUDS

The Allegheny County Bar Association will probably take a hand in stopping fraudulent assessment and registration for the coming primary election.

Maj. F. Lowry Humes and Attorney Arthur B. Scully, president of the Bar Association, conferred yesterday afternoon. Neither would comment after the conference. Their meeting gave rise to speculation that a committee similar to the Bar Association committee whose activities two years ago resulted in striking 40,000 names from the registration books will probably be organized.

Scully's action is believed to have been prompted by the revelation that 1,095 fraudulent names had been added in the Twenty-second Ward to the books of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes. These names were stricken off by C. J. McBride, secretary of the board.

COURT REFORM, LINDSAY AIM

Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay, candidate for judge of Common Pleas Court, declared today that no constructive suggestion for the improvement of the courts has been made by the six appointed judges seeking to succeed themselves. He said:

"Judge Gray and the late Judge Martin, in their independent campaign of 1927, urged the establishment of a summer court, and Judge Gray has made that promise effective so far as he has been able. I promise to continue this improvement and to co-operate in every way possible in carrying on this much-needed reform.

"I promise, if elected, to co-operate with the members of the bar to the full extent of my ability in securing such changes in the management of the courts as will more efficiently dispatch court business and more effectively administer justice."

REID CONDEMNS JUDGE ATTACK

Judge Ambrose B. Reid of Common Pleas Court, candidate for re-election, urged support for his six running mates in an address last night before the Eleventh Ward Colored Republican Association, 5712 Broad street. Judge Reid declared:

"It is unfair and unjust to attack the six appointed judges, Gardner, Dithrich, Soffel, Stadtfeld, McNaugher and Egan, solely because they were fortunate enough to merit the favor of former Gov. Fisher. If they are incompetent, cowardly in applying the law or lack any other requisite of a judge, defeat them but do not attack them by innuendo or a despicable whispering campaign."

Judge Stadtfeld spoke at the West View Park picnic yesterday under auspices of the German-American Alliance urging support for his six associates. Judges Dithrich, Gardner, McNaugher and Soffel spoke at a meeting in Carrick Eagles Hall and Judge Egan addressed a meeting in Glassport.

Brentwood Candidate Fights Organization

Bald-Headed Men Shy; Avoid Films

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP).—Bald-headed men may be shy. J. C. Richardson, wanting 50 of them for a motion picture of some kind, put the following ad in a newspaper:

"Wanted—Fifty bald-headed men, neat appearing; one day's work, apply 10 a. m."

Nobody responded.

DISLER ADDS 4 ELECTION AIDES

Four additions have been made to the committee in charge of the campaign of Thomas S. Disler, Independent Republican candidate for City Council. They are E. C. Doerly, Sixth Ward; Alvin E. Kurb, Nineteenth Ward; C. E. Miller, Thirtieth Ward, and Sam Workman, Thirty-second Ward. Disler issued the following statement from his headquarters in the Oliver Building:

Mr. Disler

"The workers for better government should not sleep until every bit of waste is removed from the expense of government. My purpose is to wake the people up and have them make their voices heard. Then this movement which I hope to start will take care of itself. I shall not rest until I have accomplished this mission."

SHAFFER SEEKS COUNCIL SEAT

Maj. C. B. Shaffer, of 5250 Center avenue, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for City Council on the following platform:

Immediate relief from unemployment, reduction of taxes, improved playgrounds, two additional public golf links, free downtown parking on city property for taxpayers, complete reorganization of the Public Works Department, city-owned garbage and rubbish disposal plant, assistance to the airplane industry to make Pittsburgh "the air center of the United States," making Allegheny County a metropolitan Pittsburgh as fostered by W. L. Mellon, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic leaders.

PLEDGES MADE BY PIEKARSKI

Attorney Frank Piekarski, who is thirteenth on the ballot list of candidates for judge of Common Pleas Court, explained his plan of protecting the interests of the average citizen in a speech yesterday in his St. Nicholas Building headquarters. He said he favored:

"Prompt and speedy trials of all cases; dispensing justice, not law, with an even hand; redressing every wrong with an appropriate remedy; judiciary composed of men who are independent and fearless in action and free from every improper influence."

Ohio Paper to Give Wheat to Needy

DAYTON, O., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Dayton Daily News yesterday announced it would distribute wheat to needy families in an effort to show how simply and cheaply a considerable part of the whole relief program can be met and at the same time demonstrate how the [illegible] production of farm products might be utilized.

The newspaper will give wheat to families whose wants are certified by the [illegible] Welfare Organization. It was suggested that the [illegible] wheat be used as a cereal [illegible] in a coffee [illegible] for muffins, cakes and bread.

STATE REMOVES TWO DETOURS

Two important highway detours in this district were removed today, the State Highway Department notified the Pittsburgh Motor Club. A nine-mile detour on State Route 16 between McConnellsburg and Mercersburg was removed. The Freeport road, State Route 28, was opened to two-way traffic after being partially closed while construction work was under way. This new road completes the stretch of 25-foot highway out of Aspinwall to Springdale.

North Side Jewell Theft Investigated

City detectives are investigating a theft of jewelry valued at $1,000 which occurred on the North Side yesterday. Mrs. Peter Armedia, of 1221 Irwin avenue, reported to the police that between 4 and 9 p. m. yesterday her bedroom had been entered. Diamond rings and a watch were stolen, she said, which she valued at $1,000.

ALL VETERANS, NURSES ASKED TO PICNIC

5,000 Expected to Attend Twelfth Annual Outing For Former Service Men

Every veterans' organization in the district today was extended an invitation to attend the twelfth annual Sun-Telegraph picnic for former soldiers and sailors to be held August 29 at Kennywood Park.

More than 5,000 veterans from all wars since the Civil War are expected to attend the outing and reunion. Ex-soldiers without organization affiliations, as well as nurses and women workers who served during the World War are included in the invitation. Committee members are being named to arrange for an elaborate program of entertainment.

GROUPS INVITED

Invitations were extended by John Bingham, A. E. F., who is arranging committees for the annual event.

Among organizations invited to attend are Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Union Veteran Legion, United Spanish War Veterans, 28th Division Veterans Association, 80th Division Veterans Association, 111th Infantry Veterans Association, 107th Field Artillery Veteran Association, 3rd Division Veteran Association.

Etna Ex-Service Men's Club, Woman's Overseas League, Disabled American Veterans Association, Legion of Valor, Marine Veterans League, 109th Infantry Veterans Association and wartime members of the American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus.

DINNER FOR ILL VETS

A Salvation Army canteen will supply free doughnuts and coffee. Another feature will be the annual dinner for disabled veterans now in hospitals and Civil War veterans.

Free amusements will be offered. A special motion picture show will be among the night's offerings with a daring motorcycle act and other park amusements.

Impeach Mackey, Demand of League

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—(AP.) A resolution urging the impeachment of Mayor Mackey, Richard Weglein, Director of Public Works, and John F. Dugan, Director of Public Welfare, was adopted by the executive committee of the Taxpayers' League of West Philadelphia.

The resolution contended that recent acts of the city officials named were contrary to the provisions of the city charter.

Wheel Chair Hiker Injured by Auto

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—A cross country trip in a wheel chair was halted temporarily for Abraham Applebaum, New York, as a result of an accident near Lawrence.

He was guiding his chair across the highway when an automobile driven by Mrs. Bertha Lukemeier, of Indianapolis, clipped a corner of the chair. Applebaum was slightly injured and his chair damaged.

Racketeers Try To Sell Lake as Anti-Freeze

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A scheme [illegible] to sell Lake Michigan to motorists at $5 a [illegible] was thwarted today by [illegible] who held six [illegible] assessment on [illegible].

The [illegible] was arrested last [illegible] a raid on their [illegible] which federal agents [illegible] said 6,000 one-gallon cans which were perfect [illegible] of a type distributed by the makers of a widely known anti-freeze preparation. These cans, however, contained Lake Michigan water colored [illegible] the legitimate product, [illegible] said.

Those arrested are Earl, Sam Fisher, Louis and Sam Zig Zigmian, Chaplik, Adolph Postel and David Blanc, of St. Louis. Three others are being sought.

$1.65 LOST, KIN OUSTS BOY

Driven from his home by an older brother, he said, because he had lost $1.65, his day's receipts, George Kochick, 10, a newsboy, sought the front steps of the fashionable Schenley Hotel last night, where the lights would keep him company.

[illegible] B. Miller, night clerk, heard sobs at 3 a. m. today and investigated. Huddled on the steps sat the boy, shivering and crying.

At Oakland Police Station he told Sergt. Morgan O'Brien that his father and mother are ill and that when he returned to his home at 2436 Forbes street his brother beat him and forced him out of the house when he admitted he had lost his money through a hole in a pocket.

Sergt. O'Brien sent him home in a police scout car and warned the brother not to molest him.

STOLEN POSTAL ORDERS FOUND

Breaking up of a "money order" theft ring was seen as a possibility today with the recovery of 120 United States postal money orders stolen three months ago at the Lake Lynn Postoffice and 11 blank money orders stolen about the same time at the Dillinger Postoffice in an abandoned miner's hut at Atchison, Fayette County.

Postoffice Inspector George V. Craighead was led to the hiding place by George Wylie, 21, of Gans, Pa., who was arrested last week in Camden, N. J., and returned to Pittsburgh to face a charge of passing some of the money orders here. Whether Wylie is suspected of aiding in the theft of the blank orders was not revealed. He is being held for court.

HOLDUP SERIES FOILED, 2 HELD

The well-laid plans of Charles Morris, 22, and Robert McLee, 24, Uniontown Negroes, to stage a series of gasoline station holdups in Pittsburgh ended at the beginning of their "new career" today, according to police. They were arrested as they entered the Miller Gasoline Station at Penn avenue and Barbeau street.

Morris and McLee were arrested by Patrolmen George Best and Carl Lacher, who were passing the station in a police scout car when they saw the Negroes enter. Morris, police said, was disarmed by Officer Best when he drew a revolver in an attempt to escape.

In Morals Court, Morris and McLee, admitting they planned a series of robberies here, said they had been out of work for several weeks. They were held for further investigation.

The same station was held up six months ago by several men who robbed a safe of $600 and kidnaped the attendant.

'HUNCH' SNARES CHECK SUSPECT

A trail of "bouncing" checks, which, police said today, Charles H. Kramer, 38, of 1224 Locust street, McKeesport, confessed writing, led to his arrest.

Precinct Detective Louis Foster, on a hunch, went to a store at 1207 West Liberty avenue. Kramer tried to cash a check and Foster flashed his badge, according to the detective. Kramer was quoted as saying:

"I'm glad it's over! I knew I'd get caught some time."

Later, police said, he admitted passing more than 30 worthless checks. He will be given a hearing in Mt. Washington Police Station tomorrow, when more than 20 store managers will attempt to identify him. Then he will be taken to McKeesport, where, police said, there are seven check charges against him.

GIRL WHO TOOK POISON LIVES

Marie Orbin, 18, domestic in the home of Maurice Haber at 3334 Niagara street, was recovering today in Magee Hospital from the effects of poison she was alleged to have swallowed in Haber's home late yesterday.

After swallowing the poison the girl telephoned Haber and asked him to look after his 4-year-old son. To Homicide Detective Albert Graber, who questioned her at the hospital, she said:

"I had the blues and became disgusted with life."

Children Provide Milk for Miners

The Jewish Children's Aid Society has given $50 worth of milk to the Miners' Relief Fund of the Socialist party, it was announced yesterday at 613 Lyceum Building. Families of needy miners are being benefited by the relief organization.

Mt. Lebanon Woman Sues for Divorce

Mrs. Sadie M. McGranahan, 314 Orchard drive, Mt. Lebanon, asked a divorce from Harold A. McGranahan, 240 Nobles lane, Carrick, in Common Pleas Court, alleging cruelty and indignities. They were married September 17, 1921, and parted August 11, last.

Three blends to give you one to suit your taste — blends bought by the greatest number of all coffee drinkers. Try one of these blends for iced coffee. Coffee that makes such superb iced coffee will naturally make the best hot coffee you ever drank! And remember, the coffee you like best is the best, no matter what it costs.

Coffee Satisfaction is assured by A & P Coffee Service:

• • The Coffee to suit your Taste . . . Freshly Roasted . . . Correctly Ground . . . and a Booklet containing suggestions on how to make good coffee taste better.

Money cannot buy better coffees than these. They are different in flavor, but equal in quality. Their low prices are possible only because A & P handles so large a quantity of coffee—far more than any other organization in the world, and controls every step from the growers to you.

Cartoonist Briggs Left $90,067 Estate

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Approval by Surrogate O'Brien of a temporary administrator's accounting on the estate of Clare A. Briggs today showed the cartoonist left a total estate of $90,067. The accounting revealed that $18,000 had been paid to Mrs. Marie C. Briggs, who established herself as the cartoonist's common law widow. The net estate, after payment of all debts, is to be turned over to Briggs' first wife, as executrix of his will.

Army Officer Here Shifted to Honolulu

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Transfer of Col. Eben Swift, Jr., from his station with the organized reserves at Pittsburgh to Honolulu was ordered today by the War Department. Col. Swift will sail from New York November 4 for his new post. No successor was named.

Col. Swift, who lives at 441 [illegible], has been in Washington on a leave of absence for several days, his office said this afternoon.

Remus, Lawyer, Wins Freedom for Friend

Remus, who shot and killed his wife in Cincinnati in 1927 and was acquitted on the ground of insanity, won a lawsuit last night in the court of Mayor B. O. Shank at North Randall when he appeared as counselor friend of Joseph Miller, a horse trainer at Thistledown race track, charged with assault and battery.

OFFICER SOUGHT FOR FIGHTING

Scout cars and police today were seeking Patrolman Stephen Mackin, of 3205 Parkview avenue, reporting at West End Station, who is alleged to have disappeared after knocking an opponent through a window at Forbes and Brady streets last night.

Patrolman Mackin and Regis Casteel, 21, of Oakland avenue, were fighting at the time, according to Inspector James N. Hoey, of the Oakland district. Casteel was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital suffering from cuts sustained when he crashed through the window.

Hoey announced he had suspended Mackin on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer and that a charge of disorderly conduct would be made against him when arrested.

SHOVEL MAKERS PLAN MERGER

Officials of the Pittsburgh Shovel Company and Hubbard & Co. would make no comment on reports circulated today that the two companies are to be consolidated with a group of other shovel manufacturers to form a $7,000,000 corporation.

It is understood if merger negotiations are successful the new company will be known as the Ames Baldwin Wyoming Shovel Company. Headquarters probably will be in Boston.

Other companies to be included in the merger are Beall Brothers, of Alton, Ill.; Ames Shovel and Tool Company, of Boston, and the Baldwin Tool Company, at Parkersburg, W. Va.

PITT HOSPITALS CONTRACTS LET

Contracts for the steel for two units of the new University of Pittsburgh hospitals in the Medical Center, Oakland, have been awarded and the work will be rushed, John E. Crawford, secretary of the Building Committee, has announced.

The new units will house the Eye and Ear and Presbyterian hospitals and will represent an investment of $2,100,000. The buildings will be 15 stories high, 400 feet long and 50 feet wide. Contracts for the steel have been awarded to the Carnegie Steel Company and the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, fabrication to the McClintic-Marshall Company and erection to the John L. Mullen Company.

Mrs. Tunney Ready To Leave Hospital

DAMARISCOTTA, Me., Aug. 20.—(INS)—Mrs. James J. Tunney, wife of the former world heavyweight boxing champion, has practically recovered from her back injuries, suffered in a fall, and will be able to leave Memorial Hospital today or tomorrow, her personal physician, Dr. W. H. Parsons, stated today.

The former Polly Lauder will return to the home of her parents on John's Island, Christmas Cove, where she will remain until October, it was learned. She probably will then go to her own home with her husband in Greenwich, Conn.

Women to Press Phillips Campaign

Organization of the Phillips-for-Council women's committee supporting the candidacy of Councilman John M. Phillips will be completed at a luncheon in the Crystal room of the William Penn Hotel at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow, Miss Suzanne S. Beatty, chairman, announced. The membership of the committee will be increased by volunteer workers, she said.

Aquarium Society Plans Exhibition

Plans for an exhibition of tropical and fresh water fish from many sections of the world, to be held in Phipps Conservatory, West Park, North Side, September 13, were announced at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Aquarium Society last night. Among exhibits will be an odd Chinese walking fish, and the bettas, Siamese fighting fish.

She Thought It Was Love

His handsome face—his winning smile—how they had thrilled her once! But now all she could remember was his inexcusable carelessness about "B.O."

"The man of her dreams," he seemed—out there on the sun-lit beach. But the first time they danced together—romance fled!

A MAN and a maid by the Summer sea. Long lazy hours on the beach together. "It's love!" she told herself and thrilled with happiness . . . Then came the dance—the discovery that almost broke her heart. How could she ever have thought she cared for him—a man who could be guilty of "B.O." (body odor)!

Hot weather no excuse

It was breathlessly hot as they danced together. But that was no excuse in her eyes. The "B.O." offender is never forgiven, no matter what the weather may be.

Take no chances. Carelessness may cost success . . . popularity . . . even love itself. Make Lifebuoy your toilet soap—then you know you're safe from offending even on the hottest, stickiest day.

Lifebuoy's cooling, refreshing, penetrating lather purifies pores—removes all odor. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you Lifebuoy is a real safeguard against "B.O."

New complexion beauty

What is your complexion worry? Dull, cloudy skin? Coarse pores? Try a daily Lifebuoy "facial". Massage the pure, bland lather well into the skin. Then rinse. Pores are gently freed of clogged impurities—dull skins toned to fresh, healthy radiance. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

AKRON FLIGHT HERE URGED

Following a meeting tomorrow of the aeronautical committee of the Chamber of Commerce, an invitation will be extended the U. S. Navy and Commander C. E. Rosendahl of the Akron, the world's largest airship, to include Pittsburgh in its itinerary.

Raymond A. Tucker, chairman of the committee, says it is hoped to have the Akron land here, but doubts that this will be possible, as there is no mooring mast at any airport in this district. He believes if the big ship does land it will be forced to take off again immediately.

Tucker says even if the ship is unable to visit Pittsburgh, Commander Rosendahl and the officers will be invited to attend a luncheon here in their honor at a future date.

Plans also will be discussed by the committee for the opening of the new Municipal Airport September 11. There will be a program of sports and other events. These are being arranged by Carl Forcier, manager. The Aero Club is also active in preparing for this event. Col. Harry C. Fry, Jr., is chairman of the sports committee. Fliers from far and near are to be invited for the opening.

2,000 IN BOAT RIDE PARTY

Two thousand Pittsburghers, young and old, are looking forward with the anticipation of an enjoyable afternoon for the complimentary excursion down the Ohio River tomorrow on the palatial steamer Washington.

The 2,000 excursionists will be guests of the Sun-Telegraph. They include local entrants in the "Fiction Title Test" who sent in their names and addresses through the request printed in this paper and all of the tentative members of the Sun-Telegraph Junior Archers' Club.

The steamer Washington will leave the docks at the foot of Wood street at 2:30 sharp tomorrow afternoon, and Capt. D. W. Wishart, traffic manager of the Streckfus Steamers, assures the Sun-Telegraph party that everything possible will be done for their entertainment, comfort and convenience. There will be music, dancing and other forms of entertainment.

$75,000 ASKED IN FOUR SUITS

Howard D. Clayton filed suit against the Yellow Cab Company in Common Pleas Court, asking $30,000 damages for injuries to his daughter, Elizabeth, 3, when a cab in which she was riding March 18 came to an abrupt stop and threw her against a metal rack.

Seeking $15,000 damages for the death of their daughter, Dean, 6, killed by a truck, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Caplan, of Morningside, filed suit against Dominick Navarro, trading as Navarro Company, contractor.

Alleging he was seriously injured when an automobile ran over the sidewalk into his furniture store and struck him, Sam Solow, 1625 Penn avenue, asked $15,000 damages from Leonard Barmak, of Collins avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Joseph, of Hazelwood, asked $15,000 damages for injuries to Mrs. Joseph in a fall in the meat market of Mathias Mathey, 4914 Second avenue.

Still Blast Injures Brownsville Man

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 20.—J. K. Thomas, 52, a cripple, was seriously burned here when a still exploded in the cellar of his home. He is in General Hospital.

Police, who were attracted to the scene of the blast, uncovered a complete moonshining plant in the basement.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

IN ONE of America's most famous colleges, reports D. J. Knowlton, a remarkable episode recently came to pass. The college is but a few hours from the city of New York and harbors some of the finest names in our little world. The football team isn't bad, either, which makes the institution just that much more important.

A few years ago a young man was admitted to the college. For the sake of clarity, we'll tag him with the name of Eddie. Eddie came from a fine family, was a swell kid and had a great record as a high school athlete. I don't know what his ambition in life was, but when he entered that college, his one great desire was to become the captain of some team. And I don't mean chess.

Eddie made the football, baseball and basketball teams. He played brilliantly in all three sports and was recognized as one of the finest athletes the college had ever turned out. But as far as his ambition was concerned, he couldn't get the one break. For three years they failed to elect him to the captaincy of any team.

There was but one man who stood in his way for the honor he craved. This other chap has been on the front pages ever since he first stepped on a football field. Every time he plays his name is on the front pages from New York to California. He is the most famous football figure since the days of Red Grange. And inasmuch as his work in other sports is almost as sensational, it is small wonder that he has inevitably won captaincies on most teams.

Such was the situation last spring when it came time to elect a captain of the baseball team for Eddie's final year in college. Eddie and his more famous colleague were both mentioned for the honor. But everyone knew that Eddie's chances were slimmer than Peggy Joyce's waist. The other man had been the captain and was unquestionably the logical choice for re-election. It would probably be unanimous.

Shortly before the choice was to be made Eddie and the other man were sitting together on the baseball field.

"Al," said Eddie suddenly, "I shouldn't tell you this, but I don't suppose you'll mind. I envy you."

The star looked seriously at the other man.

"Yes," he questioned. "Why?"

Eddie shrugged his shoulders.

"Well," he murmured, "ever since I first came to college, my one ambition has been to be the captain of a team. I've given everything I had, and while that might not have been very much, nobody can say that I didn't try.

"But that captaincy has never come my way. I've watched and I've longed for it. But I guess it just wasn't to be."

The famous one rubbed his palms.

"You mean to say, Eddie," he asked, "that a captaincy means so very much to you? If you were to be elected captain of the baseball team for next year, for instance, your great ambition would be realized?"

Eddie smiled. But it was a wistful smile.

"Al," he retorted, "you know what that would mean to me. I'd cut off my right arm to get the job. You understand? I'd willingly lose my arm for that honor."

The star said nothing more. That night, however, he talked to his baseball teammates and told them that he did not wish to be captain of the baseball team the following year. He suggested Eddie for the place and he did it very nicely.

"Fellows," he asserted, "I know you'll understand when I tell you I'll be unable to handle the baseball captaincy next year. It's my final year and I'm going to give everything I have to football. Thus, I'm withdrawing from the job and suggesting Eddie as my successor.

"I don't have to tell you about his ability or his work. I think he'll make a great captain, far greater, in fact, than I would be. I guess that just about covers everything."

It just about did. In a few hours, Eddie was unquestionably the happiest man who ever lived. His one great ambition had been realized. He has been elected captain of the baseball team by a unanimous vote.

Eddie tried to express his gratitude to the star. But the other man would have none of it.

"You deserve it, Eddie," he stated, "don't forget it. I'm only happy you didn't have to cut off your arm to win it. Let's shake—and forget it."

The kick of the yarn was carried in last week's papers. Eddie, captain-elect of the baseball team, was in an accident. And in order to save his life they were compelled to amputate his arm!

The poor guy had paid his debt in full.

"IT HAPPENED out here in Queens the other night," writes George Held. "The police of the Jamaica station house were summoned to a house in South Ozone Park where they were told an unnecessary amount of noise was being made.

"Investigation found a gentleman slightly waggle-eyed from too much merry soup and his mother-in-law, who was also listing to the starboard for the same reason. The gentleman, who was no more than 4 feet 3 inches in height, had found himself an old shotgun that measured almost five feet and was calmly informing the said mother-in-law that her days were very much numbered.

"A policeman found him walking along the streets with the gun over his shoulder and singing.

"Once they had him, however, the police ran into difficulties. The mother-in-law refused to press a charge. The people who had phoned couldn't be located. They couldn't jail him for carrying concealed weapons because the gun was bigger than the culprit. So what to do?

"The police were in a quandary. They were unwilling to let the man go because he had caused them too much trouble. Finally, after an hour of deep thought, one of them solved the problem. And if this doesn't entitle him to be rated as Einstein's chief assistant, I don't know what does.

"The culprit was locked up on a charge of parading without a permit!"

Have You Athlete's Foot?

Look at your feet tonight and especially under and between the toes—they may be infected with the vegetable parasite known to science as Tinea Trichophyton—let us hope they are not.

When this parasite first attacks there is an eruption followed by intense itching and burning and if not caught in time the disease usually spreads along the sole and sides of the foot. It may spread to other parts of the body.

CAUTION: The disease is infectious—[illegible] in your [illegible] may have [illegible] find out tonight. Beware of bath mats either at home or in hotels—use a newspaper—it's safer.

TREATMENT: Apply Moone's Emerald Oil generously, not only under and between the toes but over the bottom and sides of foot. This powerful oil soothes and penetrates—stops the itching at once and checks growth of the germs.

Pharmacists everywhere in America dispense Emerald Oil—an 85 cent bottle that lasts 2 weeks is guaranteed to drive away every symptom of Athlete's Foot or money back.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally

(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)

present in every tobacco leaf

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

The finest tobacco quality plus throat protection.

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

3 STATES JOIN TO AID COAL INDUSTRY

Tri-State Group Formed at Wheeling Parley; Proposal Shunned by Traders Here

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 20.—(AP.) — A new plan designed to improve economic conditions in the bituminous coal industry today had the indorsement of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia city officials and business men who pledged themselves to attempt to mold public sentiment in behalf of the proposal.

While admitting that their plan was not "infallible," sponsors of the movement to form a new competitive field composed of bituminous operations in the three states last night asked and received the indorsement of civic leaders in behalf of the proposal.

SPURRED BY PINCHOT

Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, gave encouragement to the aims of the group in a telegram to Manager-Mayor T. Y. Beckett, of Wheeling. He said:

"Too much cold water has been thrown on operators' and miners' suggestions for stabilization of the coal industry. Your conference express a growing momentum behind the public demand that the coal industry begin to solve its problem. Consequently you should not be discouraged at the size of the task."

Officials of Bellaire, O.; Steubenville, O.; Shadyside, O.; Bridgeport, O.; Burgettstown, Pa.; Toronto, O.; McDonald, Pa.; St. Clairsville, O.; Follansbee, W. Va.; Hollidays Cove, W. Va.; Yorkville, O.; Glendale and Waynesburg, Pa.; Moundsville, W. Va.; Bethany, W. Va.; Benwood, W. Va.; McMechen, W. Va.; Cadiz, O.; Adena, O.; Brilliant, O., and Dillonvale, O., attended the meeting.

FORM ASSOCIATION

The "Tri-State Civic Association" was formed, and by resolution those attending the meeting agreed that "every Mayor act as an emissary for membership."

The stabilization was indorsed as presented, "subject to revisions acceptable to operators, miners and public alike."

The representatives of the Pennsylvania Citizens' Bituminous Coal Committee, formed several months ago in Central Pennsylvania with designs similar to those of the Tri-State Civic Association, told the meeting that the Pennsylvania body possibly would join hands in the movement begun here. They said they would discuss the tri-state plan with members of their group, which, they said, had the indorsement of every major chamber of commerce in Central and Western Pennsylvania, except Pittsburgh.

J. H. Meagher, of Wheeling, said the new tri-state organization planned to hold meetings to discuss the plan in the near future at Pittsburgh and Johnstown, Pa., and at Huntington, Beckley and Charleston, W. Va.

MINE OWNERS SHUN PARLEY

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 20—(AP.)—Coal operators of the Fairmont area privately displayed independence to the announcement from Washington that Secretary of Labor Doak had ordered two federal commissioners of conciliation to arbitrate difference between operators and coal miners in the northern West Virginia coal fields.

Official comment was withheld until a meeting of the Fairmont Coal Operators' Association tonight. In the meantime, the opinion was privately expressed that there is "nothing to arbitrate" in the Fairmont field.

Workers in several northern West Virginia mines have been on strike for higher wages.

Secretary Doak acted in response to a request from Van A. Bittner, chief representative of the United Mine Workers in northern West Virginia, that President Hoover or the Secretary act in the strike, agreeing in behalf of the union that its members would return to work pending arbitration, and would abide by the decision of the arbiter.

WOMAN KILLED IN COLLISION: TWO HELD

Coroner to Investigate Findlay Township Crash: Drives Truck Into Pole

Two men were being held for a coroner's investigation today following the death of Mrs. Rose Allison, 25, of East Liverpool, O., in an auto collision in the Lincoln Highway at Frankfort road, Findlay Township.

They are Thomas C[illegible], 70, of Niles, O., in whose car Mrs. Allison was riding, and Fred Pollard of Cleveland, driver of the other car.

The autos, according to the Coroner's report, [illegible] setting [illegible] Mrs. Allison beneath it. Neither of the drivers was injured.

Joseph L[illegible], 25, of 4500 Lorigan street, escaped injury when he drove his truck against a pole at Center avenue and Reed street to avoid crashing into a Center-Lincoln avenue street car late yesterday. The pole was broken off in the crash.

The car stopped suddenly to avert a collision with an automobile. L[illegible] [illegible] the car turned his truck against the pole.

Julius Buffalo, 21, of Homestead, was arrested in Schenley Park early today after police said his automobile collided with one driven by J. C. Bonell of 1517 Liverpool street, on California avenue and near Almore street. The latter's car was overturned. Police said Buffalo did not stop after the accident. He was charged with being a suspicious person.

Dentists to Observe 50th Anniversary

The golden anniversary of the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania will be held in the William Penn Hotel November 18 to 20. The society has a membership of more than 1,000. Officers are: President, Dr. G. W. Peffer of Sewickley; vice president, Dr. C. E. Gaffan of Pittsburgh; secretary, Dr. W. Earle Craig of Pittsburgh, and treasurer, Dr. D. S. Cathcart of Pittsburgh.

WIFE GETS WRIT TO SAVE HOME

Mrs. Anna Black of Pasadena drive, O'Hara Township, obtained a preliminary injunction to restrain her husband, Oliver A. Black, from mortgaging their home from Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court. She alleged that during the past few months her husband has made application for mortgages with the intent of defrauding her of her dower rights.

They were married in 1913 and bought the O'Hara Township home where both have been living during the past two years despite Black's failure to support her, she asserted. She has earned sufficient money to support both, she stated.

HUNGARIANS HOLD PICNIC

The Hungarian picnic under the auspices of the Congress of Hungarian Churches and Societies of Pittsburgh is being held today at Kennywood Park. Many attractions are featured on the program of entertainment. A part of the proceeds will go to the proposed Catholic orphanage, the Hungarian Protestant Orphanage and the Hungarian room in the Cathedral of Learning.

The MOST tire for the LEAST money in automobile history

Like most people you probably recognize Goodyear as the leading tire of the world.

But this you may not know: in a few brief years, on sheer merit, the Pathfinder tire has won a real share in that leadership.

When it was offered first in the market the Pathfinder was unknown and unheralded.

Today it is one of the world's most popular tires and it earned its right to bear the name Goodyear on its record alone.

Now, for a moment, forget quality. Judge, if you like, on price alone. Run your eye down this Pathfinder price list. Can you beat it?

You certainly cannot! Never in the history of the automobile have tire prices been so low.

Is it worth while to hobble along on your old tires when good trustworthy new tires are so cheap?

Think of the worry, the danger, the delay. Then think of the comfort, the safety, the satisfaction of driving your car equipped with a set of husky, handsome, dependable Goodyear Pathfinders.

Look again at these Pathfinder prices; they tell the whole story in ten words—the most tire for the least money in automobile history!

—With—

Patricia Pitt

Let it rain, let it pour, as it has for the past few days, and in spite of the teary skies, folks find innumerable entertaining affairs to keep them busy. There are informal parties galore, and always the inevitable travel news, and today I can tell you of another August wedding, too, in addition to the usual everyday news. But before I tell you about that I want to mention a luncheon that took place yesterday.

Honors Cousin

Nancy [illegible], daughter of the Charles [illegible]beckers, entertained [illegible] her cousin, Jane Davis, daughter of Dr Robert Davis of Johnstown, who is her house guest. Nancy is to be presented November 6 at a luncheon at the Twentieth Century Club.

And now for the wedding. Martha Elizabeth DuBarry, daughter of the William F. DuBarrys of Elgin avenue, has chosen August 29 as the day for her marriage to Reed B. Cowles Jr., son of the Reed B. Cowles of Beechwood boulevard. The ceremony will take place that afternoon at 3 o'clock in St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church. And Martha has chosen her sister, Virginia DuBarry, to be her maid of honor and only attendant, and B[illegible] Marshall will be best man.

And did you know that the Harold P. Hobarts of Tennyson avenue plan to present their daughter, Agnes, to Pittsburgh society in a couple of years? She has two more years of school at Dobbs Ferry.

[illegible] In Canada

Tomorrow the Augustus K. Olivers will return from Canada accompanied by their daughter Margaretta. They have been there most of the summer. The J. Twing Brookses of Edgeworth with their daughters, Ruth and Bertha, are summering at Hyannisport.

Mrs. John Brown Heron of South Linden avenue returns next week from Hyannisport. The Warren I. Bickfords and their daughters Gretchen are at Cape Cod, and the Sidney S. Liggetts of Sewickley and their daughter Elizabeth are in Virginia.

Miss Mary Vinton of Johnstown is the guest of Mrs. Davis C. Burroughs.

* * *

And now while I'm on the subject of weddings there is an interesting engagement to tell you of. Mrs. Catherine M. Turville of McPherson boulevard has made known the betrothal of her daughter, Dorothy Morley Fitz-Ralph Turville and Dr. Elam Winslow Fiske, of Meade street.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Miss Shearer's School and attended finishing school in Paris and at Edgbaston College, Birmingham, England. Her fiance is a member of the chief staff of the West Penn Hospital. No date has been announced for the wedding.

* * *

Frank B. McKown, son of the John Boyd McKowns of Pittsburgh, returned on the Bremen yesterday to New York where he joined his parents at the St. Regis Hotel.

Tomorrow the David J. Marshalls, of Forbes street, sail on the Saturnia for Italy and Switzerland.

Rosemarie Schwab Weds in Turtle Creek

Miss Rosemarie Schwab, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Schwab, of Turtle Creek, became the bride of Charles T. Catberry of Albion, Pa., at a nuptial high mass in St. Colman's Roman Catholic Church, Turtle Creek, on Tuesday morning. The Rev. J. P. Shields, pastor, officiated.

Miss Margaret Vogel of Indiana, Pa., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and her niece, Miss Alice Schwab, was bridesmaid. T. J. Leehan of Albion was the best man and Daniel P. Doberneck of Jeannette was an usher.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with a veil of lace falling from a coronet of lace. She carried white gladioli.

There was a wedding breakfast and reception in the Schwab home later.

Mother Announces Daughter's Marriage

Mrs. W. A. DeHaas of Kenmont avenue, Mt. Lebanon, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Grace C. DeHaas, to Edward B. Gass, of Mt. Lebanon, which took place on Thursday, August 13. The ceremony was performed in the manse of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Dr. I. C. McCown, pastor, officiating.

Jean Snyder Is Church Bride

Miss Jean Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snyder, of Darlington road, Squirrel Hill, became the bride of William Ashley Paige, son of William Paige, of Onsett, Mass., on Monday evening, August 10. The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock in the Third United Presbyterian Church, Northumberland and Shady avenues.

After the ceremony there was a reception and dinner in the Snyder home for the immediate families, after which Mr. Paige and his bride left for the East.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. I. Seiger of Wightman street announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jean Seiger, to Sanford J. Baer of Baltimore, Md., son of Mrs. Anna Baer of Chicago. The marriage was solemnized on Sunday, August 16.

There was a dinner for the immediate families later.

Mr. and Mrs. Baer left for an extended motor trip to Chicago and St. Louis, and upon their return will reside in Baltimore.

* * *

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Camilla Annette Higgins, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence J. Higgins of North Emily street, Crafton, to Robert Francis Dugan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Dugan, of Mildred street, Crafton.

* * *

The Sigma Beta Pi Club are holding a bridge luncheon this afternoon in the South Hills Country Club in honor of Miss Helen Kennedy of Regent Square, who will leave September 1 to make her home in Kansas City, Mo.

* * *

Miss Louise Thomas and Miss Blanche Hynes of Woodbourne avenue, Brookline, sailed from Baltimore on Tuesday on the Fairfax for Boston.

* * *

Miss Christine and Miss Blanche Schomaker, of Penatt's Lane, North Side, returned Tuesday from a two-month extensive tour of Europe.

* * *

Mrs. J. G. Werner of Aylesboro avenue entertained a party of friends at the Gypsy Tea Room on Monday in honor of Miss Viola Mitchell, noted Pittsburgh violinist.

* * *

The members of the Beta Tau Lambda sorority of Carnegie Tech have just returned from a week's vacation near Ligonier, at the summer home of Miss Isobel Hansen, a member of the sorority.

Mrs. George Sloan, of Federal street extension, North Side, entertained with a luncheon bridge in her home on Tuesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Mary Jane Hunter, and her niece, Mrs. Jane May, both of Houston, Tex. Appointments were in pink and white and the dining room was decked with pink gladioli.

* * *

Mrs. J. R. Borie will serve as general chairman for the harvest home dinner and card party to be held Tuesday at the Bishop Boyle Home for Aged Women in West View. Cards will be played both afternoon and evening and dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. The board of governors comprise the various committees.

Luncheon from 11:30 to 1:30 and dinner from 5 to 7 will be served today as features of the forty-first anniversary of the Ladies of the G. A. R. Home at Hawkins Station. Mrs. Frances Kuhns, president, is general chairman for the affair.

Homestead Man Weds in California

On Friday, July 10, Miss Jane Ann Culley, of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of Louisiana and Dallas, Tex., became the bride of John Regis Stacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Stacey of Homestead. The wedding took place in Los Angeles in St. Agnes Church. They will live in Los Angeles.

Margaret A. Dorman Weds W. E. Thomas

Mrs. Margaret A. Dorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sterling of Mifflinburg, became the bride of Prof. W. Earl Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Thomas of North Braddock, on Saturday evening at 6:45 o'clock, in the Mifflinburg Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Harland D. Fague, pastor of the Reedsville Evangelical Lutheran Church, who was a college classmate of the bridegroom, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. William Sterling, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants.

Mrs. Thomas attended Bucknell University and the bridegroom is a graduate of Susquehanna University, and is supervising principal of the Mifflinburg Public Schools. After a northern trip Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will reside in Mifflinburg.

Mrs. Lindsay Host At Political Tea

Mrs. Alexander P. Lindsay of Briar Cliff road, whose husband is a candidate for the Common Pleas bench, will give a tea tomorrow in her home, which will be open to any woman interested in the campaign. Mr. Lindsay will speak. Next Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Lindsay will open her home for a similar affair and Judge Sara Soffel, a candidate for election, will address the guests.

Workman Luncheon Honors Bride-to-Be

Miss Janet Workman of West Pike street, Canonsburg, entertained at a luncheon Tuesday in McCreery's in honor of her niece, Miss Gail Paxton, of Huston, Pa., who has chosen September 15 as the date for her wedding. On that day she will become the bride of the Rev. Glenn Patterson Reed, formerly of Huston, Pa., who at present is a missionary in the Soudan, Africa.

The day after the wedding, the Rev. Reed and his bride will sail for the Soudan to resume missionary work. He is a missionary for the United Presbyterian Church Board.

Miss Helen Tuttle To Marry Aug. 29

Miss Helen Tuttle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Tuttle, of Wilkinsburg, has chosen August 29 as the date for her marriage to William Gerssinger. The ceremony will take place in the Congregational Church at Conneaut.

Miss Tuttle has chosen Mrs. Ralph H. Ely, Jr., of Mt. Lebanon, as matron of honor, and as bridesmaids, Miss Katherine Dickey, Miss Isabel Matthews and Miss Sarah Sheekey, of Pittsburgh. Serving as best man will be Ralph H. Ely, Jr. The ushers will include the bride's brothers, Heath Tuttle and Alfred Tuttle, Charles Vanderpool and E. J. Hecklinger, all of Pittsburgh.

There will be a reception after the wedding, in the Conneaut Country Club.

The Saturday before the wedding, the rehearsal luncheon will be given by Mrs. Ely and Miss Dickey.

WOMAN, 90, WANTS TO FLY

Greets Friends On Natal Day

Living her life almost as fully and certainly quite as enjoyable at 90 as she did at 19, Mrs. Charles E. Locke, a member of the Pittsburgh Female College Association and a former member of the Women's Press Club, celebrated her birthday anniversary yesterday by receiving her friends informally at her home. All afternoon and evening there was an almost unbroken line of callers who came to congratulate their hostess and to enjoy her quick, keen wit and happy wholesome philosophy.

Although she is on the sunset side of life, Mrs. Locke has a youthful view of living and is interested in all that goes on in the world. She reads a great deal, is active in church work and never misses a meeting of the Female College Association.

While reminiscing about the old Pittsburgh canal and the various forms of transportation that have succeeded it, Mrs. Locke admits she would like to fly. She stamps the younger generation as "marvelous" and says the young woman of today is a much more intelligent mother than was her mother or grandmother, or even her great-grandmother. This last inclusion was for herself, since she has four great-grandchildren, also seven grandchildren. Her daughters are Mrs. Benjamin J. Horton, of Porto Rico, and Mrs. Leslie H. Constans, of South St. Clair street, with whom she makes her home.

Mrs. Locke was born at Fairview, near Sharpsburg, the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. B. L. Wood. Her husband was a well-known Pittsburgh newspaper man.

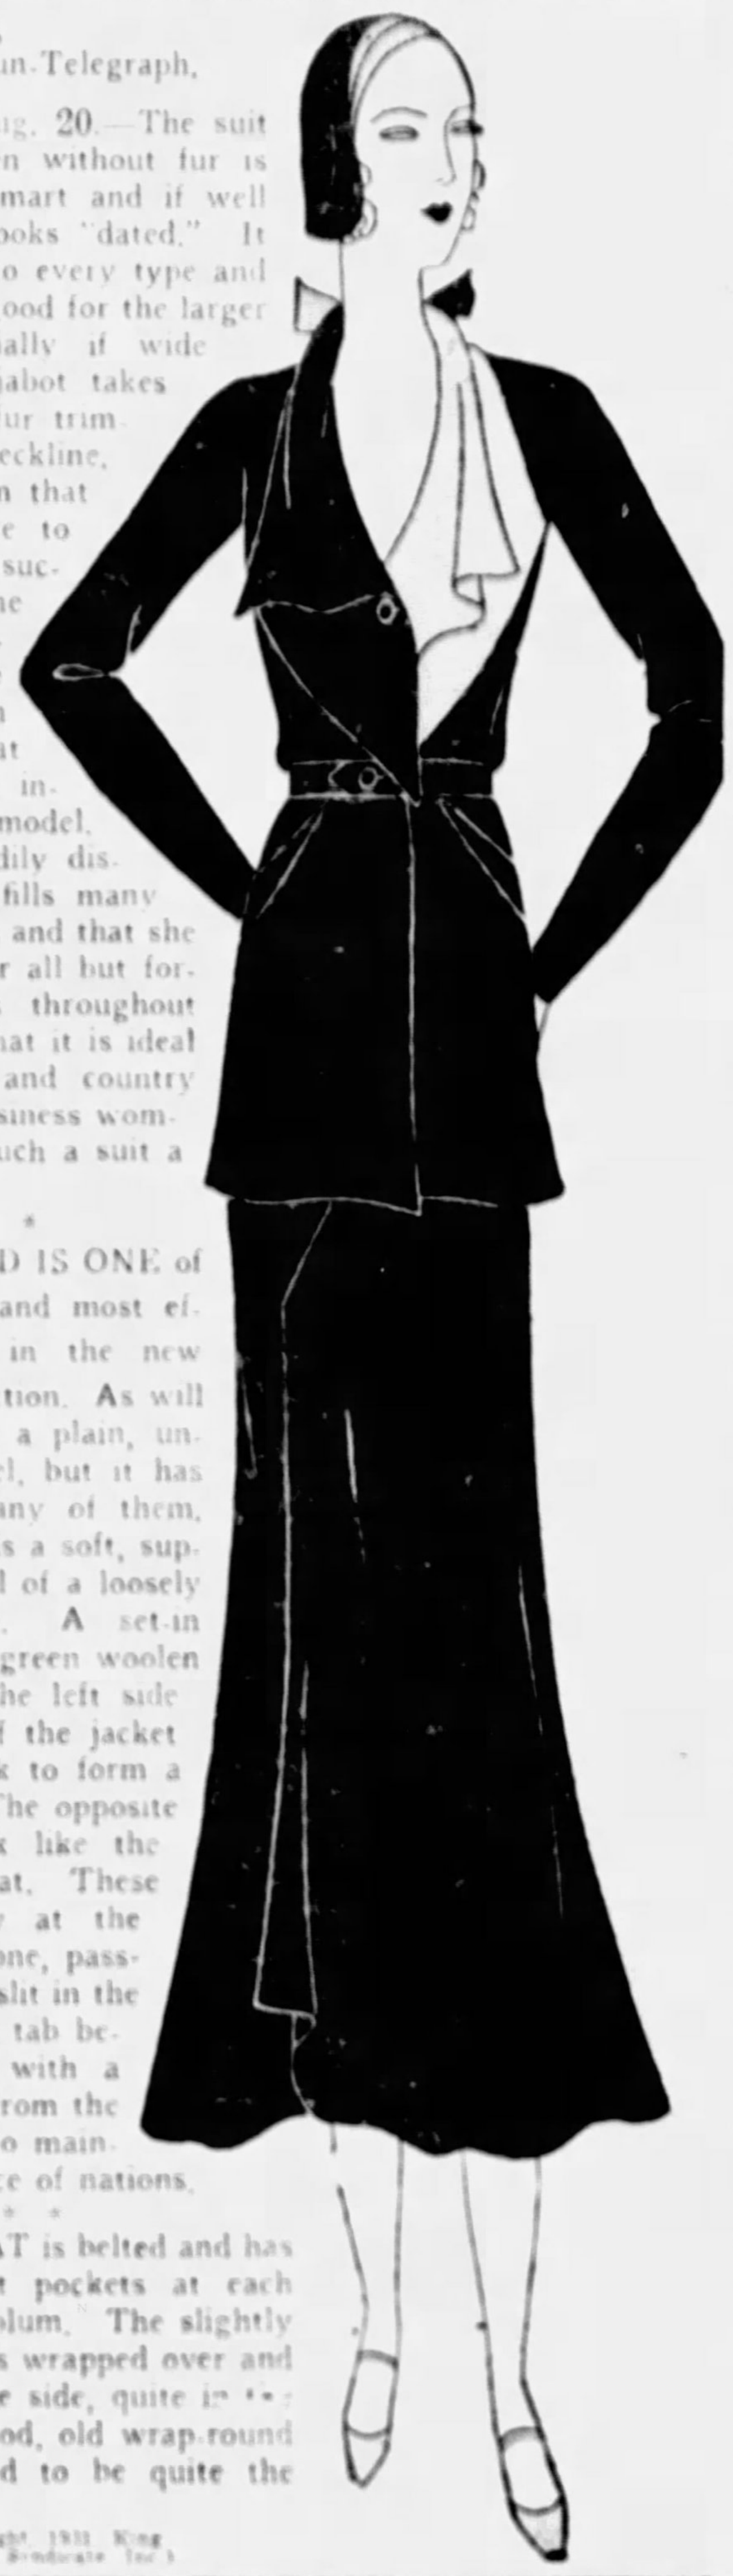
Monday, October 5, has been set as the date for the annual benefit card party of Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. It will be held at the Hotel Schenley with Mrs. L. Blaine Snow as chairman.

SUITS OF FINE WOOL LATEST AUTUMN MODE

—Sketched in Paris—



Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph,

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The suit of fine woolen without fur is exceedingly smart and if well done never looks "dated." It is becoming to every type and is especially good for the larger figure, especially if wide revers or a jabot takes the place of fur trimming at the neckline. It would seem that such suits are to enjoy a great success during the coming autumn and the wise woman will see that her wardrobe includes such a model. She will speedily discover that it fills many uses and needs and that she can wear it for all but formal occasions throughout the day and that it is ideal for traveling and country wear. The business woman will find such a suit a blessing.

* * *

SKETCHED IS ONE of the smartest and most effective suits in the new Bruyere collection. As will be seen, it is a plain, untrimmed model, but it has its points, many of them. The material is a soft, supple black wool of a loosely woven weave. A set-in piece of vivid green woolen is placed at the left side of the front of the jacket and folds back to form a wide rever. The opposite rever is black like the rest of the coat. These revers narrow at the shoulder and one, passing through a slit in the other, forms a tab behind the ear with a matching tab from the opposite side to maintain the balance of nations.

* * *

THE COAT is belted and has diagonal, inset pockets at each side of the peplum. The slightly circular skirt is wrapped over and open down one side, quite in the way of the good, old wrap-round skirt that used to be quite the thing.

No woman likes to wash a dirty handkerchief

This unpleasant job ended forever by
KLEENEX
DISPOSABLE TISSUES

WASHING handkerchiefs is no longer a necessary evil. This unpleasant task is ended forever—if you choose to join the thousands who have adopted Kleenex.

What is Kleenex, you ask? Kleenex is a remarkable tissue—far softer, gentler, more absorbent than you ever dreamed a tissue substance could be made. Tests prove it's twice as absorbent as an old linen handkerchief!

Always clear, fresh, dainty

Kleenex comes to you in dainty squares, handkerchief size. Conveniently packed, in a Cellophane-wrapped package that keeps every tissue fresh and sanitary.

And the cost is so very, very little. If you send your washing out, Kleenex will save considerable money, for many individual tissues can be used for the price of merely laundering one handkerchief!

There's no self-infection as with the handkerchief that's carried back to the face again and again. When you use Kleenex, all germs are destroyed, along with the tissue.

Try Kleenex for removing face creams. Authorities say it's best, because Kleenex is so powerfully absorbent that it blots all impurities from the pores.

Many home uses

Use Kleenex for wiping spectacles and razor blades. For dusting and polishing. Mothers find Kleenex invaluable in caring for babies.

Kleenex is so enormously popular that any drug, dry goods or department store can supply you. The package is Cellophane-wrapped for perfect cleanliness. A convenient arrangement permits tissues to be removed with one hand.

* * *

If you have Hay Fever...

—you'll appreciate the softness and absorbency of Kleenex. Do not put up with damp, irritating handkerchiefs another day. It is impossible to describe the greater comfort of these dry, gentle, absorbent tissues. (And remember, Kleenex costs less than laundering.)

GROGAN BUSINESS POLICY

In its 90 years of business the Grogan Company has never knowingly or deliberately sold an article of inferior quality, nor asked a price for merchandise above its real value, has never resorted to sales of doubtful character where the merchandise offered did not conform to the Grogan standards but has always met reductions when values declined, as in the present market.

In that spirit and with faith in our country's progress, we ask the patronage of those whose desires and tastes seek this standard of merchandising.

GET RELIEF FROM HEAT WITH COOL BEVERAGES

Don't endure heat in the summer. Refresh yourself frequently with a cool drink sweetened to taste with sugar. The cool liquid is not only pleasant to the taste, but absorbs the heat in the system.

A cool sweetened drink at the end of a day's work checks nervous hunger, so that the evening meal is eaten with enjoyment. For a sweetener use refined cane sugar. It is the recognized standard. Refresh yourself with a sweetened drink. The Sugar Institute.

PORTIA'S PLEA ON AIR TONIGHT

The Loud Speaker

By Louis Reid

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. Radio continues to point a way to new ideas for stage, screen and society. Here is Ravel's musical tamale, "Bolero," long since washed up on the radio sea, the chief hoity-toity of Earl Carroll's new show.

With its vast personnel, its teeming list of attractions radio is bound to be considered when showmen go into a huddle.

Against "Bolero," George White of course offers Rudy Vallee. If Vallee clicks you may be sure other maestros of the air will be called to the Broadway colors.

Society, alert to the times, is spreading its net for the bigger fish of the radio waves. It has snared several, the latest being Connie Boswell, Columbia's blues singer, who crooned for Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney at Saratoga. More important news will be the snaring by radio of the bigger fish of society. So far the bigger fish have swum safely away save when the honeye bells of indorsement propagandist called . . . If it isn't John McE. Bowman, hotel overlord, who finds television of special interest. Television to him means a coin-in-slot system, means more dimes, quarters and half-dollars in circulation. Obviously hotels will be equipped with the slot machines, giving their patrons visual access to ball game and prize fight.

* * *

Broadcasters are still hunting for the hottest fiddler in jazzdom. We thought the search was given up when the languorous style of playing came in . . . Don't hear the expression "radio-minded" any more. Strange terms, these of the business huddle! Favorite right now are "contact" and "coverage" . . . It's an English actor, Charles Webster, who is invariably called upon to impersonate Lincoln on the radio. But you never heard of an English actor in the role of Washington . . . The two most seductive ballads of the last two years were expressly of, by and for radio—Rudy Vallee's "Deep Night," Morton Downey's "Now You're in My Arms" . . . French style designers must have raged at the spread-eagle radio talk of Elizabeth Hawes, first American to have displayed American-fashioned clothes in Paree.

We Now Present

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

THIS MAN SHAPESPEARE gets a statue in front of every library and his picture in every school house, but we rarely hear his name over the radio, the greatest of all educational disseminators . . . is it that he is too high brow for the American armchair? . . . We don't think so and it makes us happy to see WCAE break the ice at 7:15 tonight by presenting Phyllis Morton in a bit from the "Merchant of Venice" . . . Phyllis is to interpret Portia's plea for mercy . . . remember it, "The quality of mercy is not strained, it droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven . . . etc."? . . . the WCAE String Trio under William Roberts is to furnish a musical background . . . we like the idea beaucoup and suggest as a follow up that someone recite Polonius' advice to Laertes or Hamlet's advice to the players . . . or . . . well, there's no end of good material that might be gathered from Shakespeare, Keats, Browning, Holmes, Burns . . . and we could stand, too, a bit of Emerson philosophy now and then.

Darrell V. Martin

Question a Day:

Please tell us exactly how Graham McNamee broke into radio.—Milton W., Ligonier, Pa.

Answer—Graham was on jury duty in New York one afternoon and his inquisitive nature led him to WEAF studios to while away the time. By mistake he sat down with a group of people who were taking auditions. He thought these people were being escorted through the studios individually, but was surprised later when he was handed a manuscript and told to read it into a black object that resembled a tin can (microphone). He found he was "on trial" when WEAF officials offered him a steady announcing job. He accepted at $50 a week.

* * *

Today's Tid Bit:

String instruments valued as highly as $5,000 are left in downtown studios these days with nary a guard but radio announcers . . . and the reason is obvious, violinists know that heat not only softens the glue holding the violin parts together, but also seriously affects the resonance of the wood . . . as most studios are air-cooled, violins used in broadcasting retain their normal tone when left untouched after each radio concert.

* * *

Studio Lights

Morton Downey goes for strawberry sodas in a corner drugstore near CBS . . .

Julia Sanderson is 47 today . . . she was born in Springfield, Mass., on August 20, 1884.

When Jack (what poise) Buckheit, manager of KQV, remarked at the "Show Boat" recently that the trumpet player in the pit looked like an Alpine climber, it was Roy Verret sitting nearby who added, "Yes, but that doesn't help him a bit on those high notes."

Jim Hughes is clever, too . . . a studio visitor overheard him announcing a bedspring program at 11:15 the other night and asked him what he called it . . . "Oh," returned witty Jim, "that's our Slumber Music" . . .

Russell Merritt is the hardest working pianist at local studios . . . his shirt is wringing wet when he emerges from the KDKA music factory . . .

Seth Parker Sez:

You know, as time gits on folks sort of accumulate one thing or another. Some get stock in the market, and some get land, and some get money in the bank, but you know when old age comes along, I kind of think I'd like to have my life's savings in pairs of shoes coming over to call on me and spend the evening.

Aliquippa War Hero Dinner Plans Set

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Aug. 20.—Plans are completed for the testimonial dinner to be held, August 26, at the Woodlawn Hotel, in honor of John W. Smith, of 1724 Davidson street, recently awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for valorous service in the World War.

AUTOISTS GIVEN GUN WARNING

Motorists carrying firearms in their cars after August 31 without a license or permission from police, are subject to a fine of $3,000 or a jail sentence of three years, according to a warning the Pittsburgh Motor Club has sent its members. This provision is part of the firearms act passed recently by the Legislature and which goes into effect September 1.

Motorists who carry guns in their machines for protection will have to obtain a license from municipal police chiefs or county sheriffs.

Indians Holding Snake Dance in Plea for Rain

MISHONGNOVI, Ariz., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Indian tom toms reverberated through this ancient Hopi village as bronzed warriors offered their age-old appeal to the gods of rain in a two-day fantasy of the snake dance.

Dawn heralded the sounding of the invocation signaling the start of the ancient rites, which will end in a symphony of fantastic dances, rhythmical drums and live rattlesnakes. Hundreds of sightseers are here.

CHILD ESCAPES DEATH FROM MOONSHINE

Mother Denies Possession Of Liquor Which Made Daughter Unconscious

While 12-year-old Theresa Marhefka was reported recovering today in South Side Hospital from the effects of drinking moonshine which is said to have endangered her life, an attempt was to be made to learn the identity of a youth who is alleged to have been drinking with her, according to Attorney Michael W. Huron, counsel for the girl's mother, Mrs. Theresa Marhefka, 35.

The girl was found unconscious on the floor of her mother's confectionery store at 521 Carson street, South Side, by Patrolman John Wells, Tuesday.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 20.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Will Rogers

Every day brings new schemes in the papers for relief. The Russians got a five-year plan. Maybe it's terrible, but they got one. We been two years just trying to get a plan. The latest two came from Mr. McKelvie, of the North, and Gov. Long, of the South. Neither one helps the corn raiser or the city fellow. One wants to give all the surplus wheat to the unemployed (that has been suggested more times than there is bushels). Long wants to plant no cotton next year. Both good schemes, but neither will put anybody to work, so we are still in the market for a plan. We will just about have to save ourselves accidentally. That's the way we stumbled on prosperity.

M'KEES ROCKS, NORTH SIDE SPAN IN USE

Thousands Hear Officials Dedicate $12,000,000 Ohio River Improvement

Allegheny County's $12,000,000 joint Ohio River boulevard and McKees Rocks Bridge projects were open to the motoring public today following dedicatory exercises yesterday at which city, county and borough officials took part.

Opening a new route along the North Side into adjoining communities of Bellevue, Avalon, Emsworth and McKees Rocks, the boulevard and bridge were described in a speech by County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong as "Pennsylvania's biggest projects."

Acting as master of ceremonies at the reviewing stand on the city side of the bridge, Armstrong introduced Mayor Charles H. Kline, of Pittsburgh, who paid tribute to the Commissioners and the people of Allegheny County for their "remarkable foresight in bringing to completion such a gigantic undertaking."

Other speakers included Congressman Edmund F. Erk, County Public Works Director Norman F. Brown, Commissioners C. C. McGovern and E. V. Babcock, City Public Works Director Edward G. Lang and several members of City Council.

Politicians Keep On Running, But Not for Office

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

The grasshoppers are chewing up Eastern politics.

New York Republicans are investigating Tammany Hall, while New Jersey Democrats are investigating the Republicans.

Rhode Island is neutral. Things are so tough in the East that a politician won't wade out into the ocean and grab a handful of seaweed.

If you have a job you're a crook. If you haven't got a job they arrest you on suspicion. If you talk, you incriminate and degrade yourself. If you won't talk they smack you on the head with a yard of lead pipe.

If you have a bank account, you stole the money. If you haven't got a bank account, you are going to steal it. Every politician is suspicious of his neighbor. And you don't see the neighbor putting pies on his kitchen window sill.

There is even an undercurrent of resentment running through the children's bedtime stories. We are all living behind spite fences. Do you know that the Democrats won't even lick postage stamps this year because they are afraid the administration has mixed bug exterminator with the glue?

Yes, sir, the East has a bumper crop this season. But it's all trouble.

GIRLS GO RIDING WALK HOME

County detectives today were seeking three men who made three girls walk home from North Park last night.

Marie and Julia Thompson, sisters, of 4906 Kincaid street, reported to the East End Police Station, officers there said, that they and Marie Soltis of 754 Boquet street, McKees Rocks, had gone for a ride with three youths last night.

In North Park, according to police reports, an argument developed and the girls started to walk home, leaving Marie's purse containing $20 in the car.

Marie said they knew their companions' names but did not know their addresses.

The East End station turned the investigation over to county detectives.

Refused to Pay, Taxi Fare Arrested

Charged $1.75 for taxicab fare from the downtown section to Oakland, Peggy Fall, 24, of 529 Wilmont street, said to be a waitress in the Keystone Athletic Club, refused to pay. Coal Miner Finds Fortune In Old Stamp Collection

MINER JAMES WRIGHT, 54, WITH HIS STAMPS AND LETTERS . . . . . . $45,000 OFFERED!

Library Man Offered $45,000 for Relics Saved by Family

James Wright, 54, of Library, a coal miner for 31 years, by sheer accident has discovered he is possessor of a small fortune in a collection of old letters and stamps.

A representative for a New York stamp and coin dealer made an offer of $45,000 for the entire collection, but this was rejected by Mr. Wright. He values his collection at $100,000.

Wright, a widower for seven years, maintains a home for his two sons and their families. Born in Washington County, he came to Library 20 years ago. He retired from the Pittsburgh Coal Company mine in Library a month ago.

Showing his collection to a Sun-Telegraph reporter in the First National Bank of Finleyville, where he keeps it in a vault, Wright told his story:

"My ancestors, since the year 1800, and myself have had a habit of saving our letters and postage stamps, never thinking they would be of any value. Now I find, through pure accident, our efforts to preserve these relics have proven more than a matter of sentiment. It appears the habit has turned into a good business. I find myself in possession of a small fortune, and it came in this way.

"A short time ago I read about a young woman, who, cleaning up around her home, found some old letters. She gave one to a boy as a keepsake. The boy traded this letter to a Negro lad for two new postage stamps. The latter, thinking he had been cheated in the trade, burned the letter. It had been written in 1835, a date before either envelopes or postage stamps were in existence. A Pittsburgh authority on old letters and stamps later declared the destroyed letter to have been worth $15,000.

"I remembered having letters that date back farther than that. I have some dating back to 1800. No envelopes, just folded letters and stamped with a stencil or something, marked 2c paid. I have also a number of stamps that date back to about the beginning of the postage stamp era. I hunted through old trunks, bags, china teapots and scrapbooks. When I got everything together I found I had quite an assortment."

LITTLE SISTERS FUND REACHES $78,000

65 of 350 Parishes Report Subscriptions; Bishop Makes Plea Over Radio

Reports from 65 of the 350 parishes in the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese participating in the building fund campaign for the Little Sisters of the Poor, whose building was destroyed by fire recently, revealed that subscriptions totaling $78,000 had been made. The campaign is scheduled to end on Sunday.

The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese, and John Stark, 79, a survivor of the fire at the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor, delivered radio addresses last night as part of a "request program" given over station WJAS in the drive for $300,000 to build a new home.

ENCOURAGING REPORT

Bishop Boyle said encouraging reports have been received from the committee in charge of the campaign. He urged that sufficient funds be raised so that the new building might have the latest in fire prevention devices.

Stark made a brief talk telling of the care and help he was given at the institution. He made an appeal for help so that a new home could be built.

INDIVIDUAL DONATIONS

The Rev. John P. Gallagher, chairman of the executive committee in charge of the drive, announced these additional individual contributions:

$1,000—Frank J. Lanahan, Patrick F. Gallagher, Edward C. Byrnes, Mrs. Mary Cullinan.

$500—Passionist Fathers of Pittsburgh, Patrick J. Walsh.

$250—Dennis F. Shanahan.

$200—Miss M. Blanche Munhall, Mrs. A. S. McSwigan, Mrs. M. F. Maloney, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Keating, Miss E. I. Pfordt.

$150—Pittsburgh Coal Company.

STRIKING TAXI DRIVERS HOLD PARADE

Five-Hour Drive Through County in Placarded Cars Stresses Union's Demands

Striking taxicab drivers, riding in more than 100 automobiles, paraded throughout the city and its neighboring boroughs last night to call public attention to their efforts to have the Parmalee Taxicab Company recognize their demands and effect a settlement.

Decorated with American flags, streamers setting forth the union's demands and placards of aspirants to political office, the striking drivers formed at Ridge and Irwin avenues, North Side, and drove a distance of 64 miles throughout the city in five hours.

From Irwin avenue the parade proceeded out East Ohio street to Millvale, Etna, Sharpsburg, thence back through Lawrenceville to Bloomfield, Garfield, East End, Homewood, Brushton, Squirrel Hill, Greenfield, Mt. Washington, Carrick, Mt. Oliver, Dormont, Mt. Lebanon and thence back to their headquarters in Fifth avenue, where they disbanded.

Paul I. Houston, president of the Green and Yellow Cab Companies, has announced a plan by which drivers for the company can win themselves a week's vacation with pay through 10 months of driving without an accident. Houston said all drivers of both companies will participate in the plan, each driver being awarded 10 credits monthly for each month in which he has not been involved in a personal-injury accident and during which month he works at least 20 days.

Arrested as Insane, Man Hangs Himself

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Joseph Sharpe, 62, arrested here at the request of the authorities at Rochester, N. Y., where he escaped from a hospital for the insane last week, ended his life by hanging himself in his cell at police headquarters last night.

Health and work blend when there is NEW STRENGTH in the Blood

At 4 o'clock you will be surprised how much better you will feel . . . how much more attractive you will be to your associates . . . after you have added New Strength to your blood.

RICH, red blood plays a dominant role in maintaining health. It builds and sustains . . . removes impurities from the tissues . . . gives strength! When you add New Strength to the blood and bring it back to normal, your whole body is invigorated and strengthened . . . your mental condition is improved . . . you are better able to resist infection and disease.

If your vitality is low and you feel weak, don't care to eat, have lost weight, your skin is sallow, pale or broken out with pimples or boils, let S.S.S. purify and enrich your blood.

S.S.S. is composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form. It has a successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood—this New Strength naturally makes for better health and happiness.

TAX COLLECTION SLOW IN CITY AND COUNTY

Condition Held Satisfactory In View of Reduced Levy And General Trade Slump

Tax collections in city and county are running behind last year, but figures to August 15 are considered satisfactory in view of business conditions, according to tax officials.

In the city, collection of city and school taxes and water rents to August 15 amounted to $27,617,829, compared with $28,318,014 in the same period last year, according to City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley. This decrease of $700,184 must be corrected to the extent of $350,000 represented in the half-mill decrease in city taxes. This leaves an actual decrease in collections of $850,184.

Collections of delinquent taxes in the city have shown a substantial increase. To August 15, $3,028,778 was reported, compared with $2,827,452 in the same period in 1930. Figuring all city collections, including delinquent taxes and allowing for the tax decrease, the total decrease in collections for the city was $148,848.

In the county, collections up to August 15 totaled approximately $14,750,000, a decrease of about $500,000 from the same period last year, according to John Francies, County Treasurer.

County collections received a late start, due to the delay in the legislation which wiped out the occupation tax and required a large amount of bookkeeping to provide exonerations for taxpayers.

Very little was done in May. Heavy payments were received by mail in July, however, and stacks of late mail have just been cleared up.

Heckscher Named In $25,000,000 Suit

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—(AP)—Charles V. Bob, former broker indicted for fraudulent use of the mails, began action in Supreme Court to recover $25,000,000 he claimed to have been "fraudulently" obtained by his former associates. He alleged "improper and illegal" means in gaining control of extensive mining properties once owned by him.

Complaint and summons named 17 defendants, including August Heckscher, philanthropist and financier.

Tuttle Advocates Beer for Prosperity

GLEN FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 20—(INS.)—A flat-footed stand for legalized sale of beer was written today into the record of Charles H. Tuttle, former United States District Attorney and candidate for Governor last year.

In an address before the Kiwanis Club here, Tuttle advocated the sale of beer to bring back prosperity through the opening of breweries and allied trades.

Philadelphia Wars On Navy Yard Rum

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20—(AP.)—A city policeman last night arrested a man who said he was Earl Parker, 22, as he was about to enter the navy yard. Parker carried a suitcase, which, police said, contained eight pints of whisky.

The action was taken at the direction of Director of Public Safety Schofield, police said. Schofield 10 days ago said in a speech that liquor was being brought into the navy yard and that commanding officers had ignored protests.

Legion Truck Burns In Gasoline Station

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20—(AP.)—A truck carrying several members and the equipment of the Altoona American Legion Drum Corps to the Legion state convention at Easton, was destroyed by fire near here tonight. The truck took fire while being refueled, gasoline dripping on a hot muffler.

The blaze spread to 11 pumps at the gasoline station, all of which were damaged. It did not reach the tanks under them.

Mrs. Josephine McGowen, 24, filling the truck's tank, was slightly burned.

TORCH SUSPECT CUTS THROAT

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 20—(AP.)—A few hours before he was to have been questioned concerning human blood found on a club in his possession, Paul Keene, 49, once suspected of last week's torch slayings of two young couples, slashed his throat last night in his cell. His condition is serious.

He and his younger brother, Lawrence, were arrested in their shanty on wheels near the spot where the bodies of the two young couples were found in their still burning auto. Suspicion against them was strengthened when stains found on a club in their shanty proved to be human blood.

They gave no satisfactory explanation for the blood, confessions of the three slayers interrupting that investigation. The brothers have since been held on a prohibition charge.

-:- OBITUARIES -:-

Long Funeral.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Thomas E. Long, president of the Pittsburgh Pump and Supply Company, who died yesterday in his home, Longacres, near Babcock boulevard. The services will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the home and burial will be private. Mr. Long also was president of the Real Estate Savings and Trust Company. He was born at Loudonville, O., and came to Pittsburgh when a young man. Mr. Long also was associated with the Columbiana Pump Company of Columbiana, O. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, president of the Goodwill Industries of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and a member of the Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church Union. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Frances Scott Long, a son, Thomas E. Long, Jr., and two daughters, Miss Elizabeth McHendry Long and Mrs. William S. Ryland, of Greensboro, N. C.

CUSTOM COLORS at standard prices!

STUDEBAKER Splendor Cars

COME to this carnival of custom colors that constitutes the coronation ceremonies of Free Wheeling—inaugurating Studebaker's second year of Free Wheeling with this unexpected offering of Free Custom Color Schemes!

Having materially reduced the cost of motor travel with Free Wheeling, Studebaker has now cut down the high cost of custom colors by actually producing them at standard prices.

These Studebaker Splendor Cars, costing no more than ordinary cars, are lavishly finished in Seal Brown . . . in a new shade of Beige . . . in the regal Mulberry of monarchy . . . with belt mouldings of Beaver, Gray or Maroon. Fenders are in harmonizing colors or in black for contrast . . . they have wire wheels and stripings in combinations of Cardinal, Cadmium, Gold, Silver and Bronze!

Thus Studebaker, first to introduce Free Wheeling for economy and personal safety, now sponsors custom colors for beauty and personal pride . . . another "extra" without extra cost.

This carnival of colors is also a carnival of momentum — auspiciously celebrating the triumph of three Studebaker Eights that have just scored an official 32% saving from New York to Seattle . . . traveling 24,367 measured miles while registering 16,396 engine miles!

Come, visit this special showing of the smartest motor car productions of 1931 . . . You'll find this Studebaker carnival of colors a carnival of thrills!

Sixteen Other Cars Have Adopted free wheeling and others are fast coming to it, but obviously Free Wheeling pioneered by Studebaker is Free Wheeling in its finest form . . . first, because it is under positive gear control . . . second, because it is built in as an integral part of the mechanism . . . and finally because this greatest of all motor car "extras" involves no extra cost to you.

'Mr. James Cagney Walks Out On First Starring Film; Wants More Money

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.

Another rebel, James Cagney, has set Hollywood to arguing its favorite question.

Does quick success entitle a player to demand a new contract with more money?

James Cagney

Cagney's walkout shortly before he was scheduled to start his first starring picture leaves Warners in an embattled position with two of its stars. Barbara Stanwyck still refuses to carry out her present contract with this studio and with Columbia.

Only a short time ago Paramount won a similar battle with Jack Oakie and before that Lew Ayres won a settlement of his difficulties with Universal.

The Cagney episode draws a sharp statement from Darryl Zanuck, Warner production head.

"We have Cagney under a five-year contract for screen, stage and personal appearances," declares Zanuck. "We are paying him $550 a week and he would shortly get optional raises. He makes absolutely no complaint other than salary.

"We say this is not the time for him to ask for more money. He hasn't appeared in a starring picture, and it is not certain how well his films will draw."

Considering things dispassionately, the studios actually gamble on a new player only to the extent of his salary for three or possibly six months. On the other hand they make the same gamble

'Admirable Crichton' Coming to Nixon

Effie Shannon and Sydney Greenstreet have been re-engaged as members of the star cast of Barrie's masterpiece, "The Admirable Crichton," headed by Walter Hampden and Fay Bainter, which under the management of George C. Tyler and the Erlanger Productions, Inc., will go on tour for 16 weeks in the forthcoming season, opening in Reading on September 28.

Pre-eminent stars as Mr. Hampden, Miss Bainter, Miss Shannon and Mr. Greenstreet will be one of the outstanding touring theatrical attractions of the year, having the record of a sensational success upon its revival in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and elsewhere last season. The production, according to a tentative booking, will be seen locally in the Nixon for an engagement of five days, October 20 to 24.

Fulton Open Friday

Ruth Chatterton is starred in "The Magnificent Lie," a Paramount talking screen drama, booked to reopen the Fulton Theater, Sixth street, tomorrow. The picture presents Miss Chatterton as a cafe entertainer in New Orleans, who, playing out a wager, dupes a sincere young lumberman into believing she is the girl he loves. The Sheridan Square also will begin an engagement of "The Magnificent Lie" tomorrow.

"Pardon Me," a full-length feature picture co-starring the comedians Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, will open a week's engagement as the principal screen attraction tomorrow in the Penn.

ON STAGE AND SCREEN

Fifi D'Orsay, the little French girl of the movies, comes in person to the Stanley stage tomorrow and will also be featured in Will Rogers' latest film, "As Young As You Feel."

Dorothy Mackaill, Joan Blondell, Conrad Nagel and H. B. Warner head the cast of "The Reckless Hour," which opens today in the Enright. The picture also comes to the Harris Saturday.

"The Miracle Woman," starring Barbara Stanwyck, will open in the Warner Sunday midnight. Sam Hardy, David Manners and Beryl Mercer are in the cast also.

Encore Month In Theaters

Following its celebration of August as "Blue Ribbon Picture Month," the Warner Brothers' organization plans to designate September as "Encore Month" in its first-run theaters in the Pittsburgh district.

Feature photoplays to be seen in the Stanley at the time will be "Merely Mary Ann," co-starring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell; "The Last Flight," with Richard Barthelmess; "Bought," with Constance Bennett; "Side Show," featuring Winnie Lightner, and "Penrod and Sam," starring Leon Janney.

Stage attractions in the Stanley during September will include Duke Ellington and his orchestra, Estelle Taylor, Harry Langdon and Evelyn Hoey.

The Warner screen during the same month will have George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton" and the Four Marx Brothers in "Monkey Business" among its attractions.

Kennywood Park Scene For Magyar Day

Western Pennsylvania Magyar Day is to be held in Kennywood Park today. It is sponsored by Hungarian churches and societies of the Pittsburgh district and surrounding counties. Native songs, dances and music are listed on the program. The picnic committee is headed by Joseph Fabel and John G. Toth. The Syria Auto Club will hold its annual outing in Kennywood tomorrow.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

I certainly do not envy speakeasy impresarios . . . No, not even the ones who are enticing the biggest audiences . . . What a pasting they take every week or month . . . From the revenuers . . . And what a racket these babies have! . . . Oh, boy! . . . That was no gag that one about the agent who retired last week after saving $180,000 in a season . . . The less shrewd agents cannot fail to pocket $1,000 a week—considering that there are at least 10 speakies on nearly every street . . . What's a "C" note to an illegalad who wants to stall off a pinch? . . . He knows he isn't immune from a closing because he pays an agent some sugar, but he can "straighten matters" for a while and clean up while the cleaning up is good . . . In fewer words, the revenue men are appropriately named, but what an amazing amount of revenue they exact! . . . Surely the government higher-ups know that their representatives are merely partners of the sin-spot owners? . . . The only guy who didn't cash in, perhaps, was Volstead himself . . . The big silly. . . . He could be so rich by now . . . That William Rhinelander Stewart fellow keeps young . . . I mean, I imagine he does, considering that he knew a good-looker when the first Ziegfeld "Follies" opened—in 1907, and that he is still stage-ador-ing them.

The power of the press is amazing, at times . . . For many years Heywood Broun has been so indifferent to the comments about his baggy trousers . . . It gave him character, he used to say . . . Not until he appeared in a show on Broadway, however, did the clown comments of the reviewers get on his nerves . . . So yesterday he purchased his first pair of galluses . . . It is something to cheer about, though, when you consider what he has done for 125 actors . . . He organized a show and relieved unemployment a great deal . . . And he pays the chorus of men and women $40 per week instead of $35—which Equity rules . . . Funny about Tunney . . . He doesn't drink likker, yet he is one of the enthusiastic members of the "Crusaders," the anti-prohibition organization.

This time last year the show season had begun . . . Tickled silly it is tardy, if they asked me . . . Sitting through the bad plays in this sticky spell isn't worth the cash you get for it . . . But the forthcoming entries are not coming in with sugary reports . . . Merely "fair," you hear everywhere . . . They couldn't get me to see "Scandals" and "Vanities" at the shore . . . Why see a show that went away to polish up its rough edges? . . . That's why we have "outta towns"—so shows can try their wings! . . . They can't rap "Scandals" to me—not with that grand score, which the creators piano'd for me in their studio . . . Yet, no one who heard it mentioned one of its grandest ditties—"If I Thought I Could Live Without You—I'd Die" . . . "The Rosary" isn't lovelier.

Wonder what's going to happen to May, that affable red-headed waitress in that 47th Street and 7th Avenue restaurant that closed the other night after all those years? . . . May knew everybody and everybody liked May . . . Paid many a check for a hungry actor, May did . . . She knew how you liked your java or your ham 'n' eggs . . . And she can swap wiseys with the swiftest thinkers, too . . . Maybe some other beanery around there will beg her to work for it . . . Five dollars will get anybody a trip around the world that she can draw more customers to any restaurant than Rudy Vallee! . . . May remembers me from away back . . . She gave the nickel-tipper the same service as the two-bit boy . . . I certainly hope May doesn't get a sour break after struggling that way for so long . . . And if she does, and she hasn't gone tall millinery on me, I wish she'd gimmee a ring . . . Because I could get her a job in a restaurant Just Like That!

Wish I could get up enough courage to ride in a plane . . . The trains are so stuffy and the cinders get in your hair . . . Nearly everyone I know rides in the air . . . Perhaps it isn't so terrible at that . . . Never thought I could get up enough "Moxie" to step on an accelerator . . . And now wheeee! . . . I don't think I'm afraid of anything that might happen in a plane—it's what might happen to Walda and Gloria . . . They love me so . . . There's nothing so heart-achey as seeing the corners of a child's mouth droop—just before the lovable thing begins to cry . . . I mean little baby girls when they are 4 . . . Wonder why it is that whenever you are in haste your shoe-lace always breaks? . . . A thing like that can keep me awake half the night . . . Or I could worry about something just as unimportant—such as a contributed "Things I Never Knew Till Now" item—to wit: "U. S. Railroads spend $7,000,000 a year blowing whistles" . . . Worse yet is trying to remember why you dislike a feller you haven't talked to in years . . . On Broadway you fight so many people you can't keep up with the reasons.

EXHIBIT ENTRY LISTS CLOSE

Tonight will see the close of entry lists for exhibits at the Allegheny County Farm and Flower Show to be held at West View Park Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 27, 28 and 29. J. A. Seamon, who has been receiving the entries at 2214 Farmers Bank Building, reports that the list is a very representative one including more than 30 farmers of the district. Flowers, rabbits and pigeons are to be exhibited as are also numerous farm products.

Cloudburst Sweeps Blairsville, Derry

BLAIRSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 20.—Blairsville and Derry were swept by a cloudburst. Streets were flooded and a bolt of lightning felled a large tree in the business section, shattering windows in the home of William Vorlage. None was injured.

The player's side is that he has only a few good years at best and must cash in while he's on the upward swing. He always can point to other stars of less box-office value who receive much larger salaries.

No doubt, it's a question that will be be argued indefinitely. In the meanwhile Warners have suspended Cagney's contract, and, at last reports, the actor was heading for New York.

THOSE HATS AGAIN

In an unguarded moment, I offered to secure an autographed picture of Clarke Gable for anyone who could suggest a good excuse for the new derby hats the girls are wearing.

But now I am a wiser and a chastened man. Letters, telephone calls and wires have put me in my place for good and all. Lillian Brown, of Hollywood, writes:

"Not being a matador, picador, or whatever they are, you have probably never coaxed your hair to grow until it formed a neat little roll at the nape of your neck." (Right you are, Lillian).

"Well, anyway, a girl spends eight months getting her hair long enough to put up. Then she assembles a collection of hairpins to help her out.

"Next she puts on a hat. Berets are easiest, and straws are worst. The pins cling to the linings, punch your skin and raise the dickens. This is bad enough. But taking the hat off is the climax. The pins stay with the hat.

"Now, Mr. Carroll, just notice how the new hats stop short at the hair-pin line. That's why I'm for second empire headgear."

Miss Brown says I am a man "who knows nothing of such things."

Maybe she's right. But I still think the new hats have made more women look ridiculous than any feminine style of recent years.

Postpone Hearing In Fatal Explosion

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 20.—(AP)—District Attorney John S. Absence of the defendant's attorney caused the postponement.

Try them for your throat's sake—they're FRESH!

THERE is a simple and understandable reason behind the rising tide of public favor for Camels in the Humidor Pack.

Fine cigarettes kept fine, kept always in prime smoking condition, that is the whole throat-friendly Camel story.

A blend of expertly chosen fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos, Camels have a fragrance and an aroma all their own.

No matter where or when you buy them, thanks to the Humidor Pack, every bit of that fragrance and aroma now is yours to enjoy.

A special vacuum-cleaning process whisks away from Camel's choice tobaccos the peppery dust that otherwise might sting the throat.

The Humidor Pack, that scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the natural factory-freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

Give your throat a vacation—learn what an unalloyed joy a fine cigarette in prime, fresh condition can be!

Switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons—Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday

Don't Be Stampeded Into Marriage by Pity

Should a girl marry a man she doesn't love?

If she does, will love come to her, grow out of the years together [illegible] happiness, contentment, [illegible] pride?

Ione asked. A fine young man loved her. A man who had stood by her through thick trouble and [illegible] . . . who [illegible] to be true blue. And he wanted to stand by her and take care of her always. But she doesn't love him. Yet she hates to hurt him. How should she [illegible]? Should she marry him . . . or shouldn't she?

"Yes," answered Hazel, who had done [illegible] by worshipping the man she's taken a chance on.

"No," said Lonely, who [illegible] read [illegible]:

Dear Sally:

VERY UNHAPPY

You asked [illegible] about whether a woman should marry a man she doesn't [illegible] and I feel that I must [illegible] Hazel, who says that [illegible] and that [illegible] marriage. Her answer may be all right for some people, but not for me. My experience makes me say No, most emphatically [illegible] always [illegible] and [illegible] dreadful.

Six years ago, when I was [illegible], I married a man who threatened suicide if I didn't. [illegible] because he loved me so much, and so forth. I [illegible] He did interest me [illegible] . . . but I [illegible] fact I didn't know what [illegible] was. Well, I married him. And I've been unhappy ever since.

At some time or another we all need mutual affection and when you can't respond to affection that [illegible] it's pretty tough. I am wretchedly unhappy, but I am playing the game square. I made my bed and I will lie on it. But let me tell you, Sally, it's just plain punishment.

I catch myself longing for someone whose coming home at night would really mean something to me . . . someone who could touch my hand and thrill me . . . someone whose lips would really mean kisses to me, not just someone who takes love from me and through no fault of his own gives me nothing but headaches.

LUXURIES UNNECESSARY

What is a moon, a summer breeze, an outing in the country, the croon of dance music without someone you really care for? What is anything without someone you really love?

Money can't change it. Neither can gorgeous clothes and cars. I know. I have them. Some people would call me lucky, but I'm not. For I want [illegible] that I want to be [illegible] hasn't come. So I am [illegible] unhappy [illegible] dissatisfied.

No doubt I'm in the wrong. Maybe I should be satisfied as things are. But I am not. I am miserable. [illegible] that [illegible] the men who want to marry them. Real love [illegible] respect, companionship, and above all, no jealousy or [illegible] either [illegible]. Those are the things that [illegible]

What do you think? [illegible] I [illegible] to love my husband as Hazel did.

LONELY

MARRIED WITHOUT LOVE

[illegible] You're [illegible] kind of person Hazel is [illegible]. It may come to some women after marriage, to others it doesn't. And Hazel [illegible] had the advantage of respecting and liking her man when she married him. You didn't. You married yours because you allowed his weakness and his whining threats to stampede you into it. And you've been resenting that weakness ever since. To marry without love, but with respect and liking, may be safe, but to marry from pity, never!

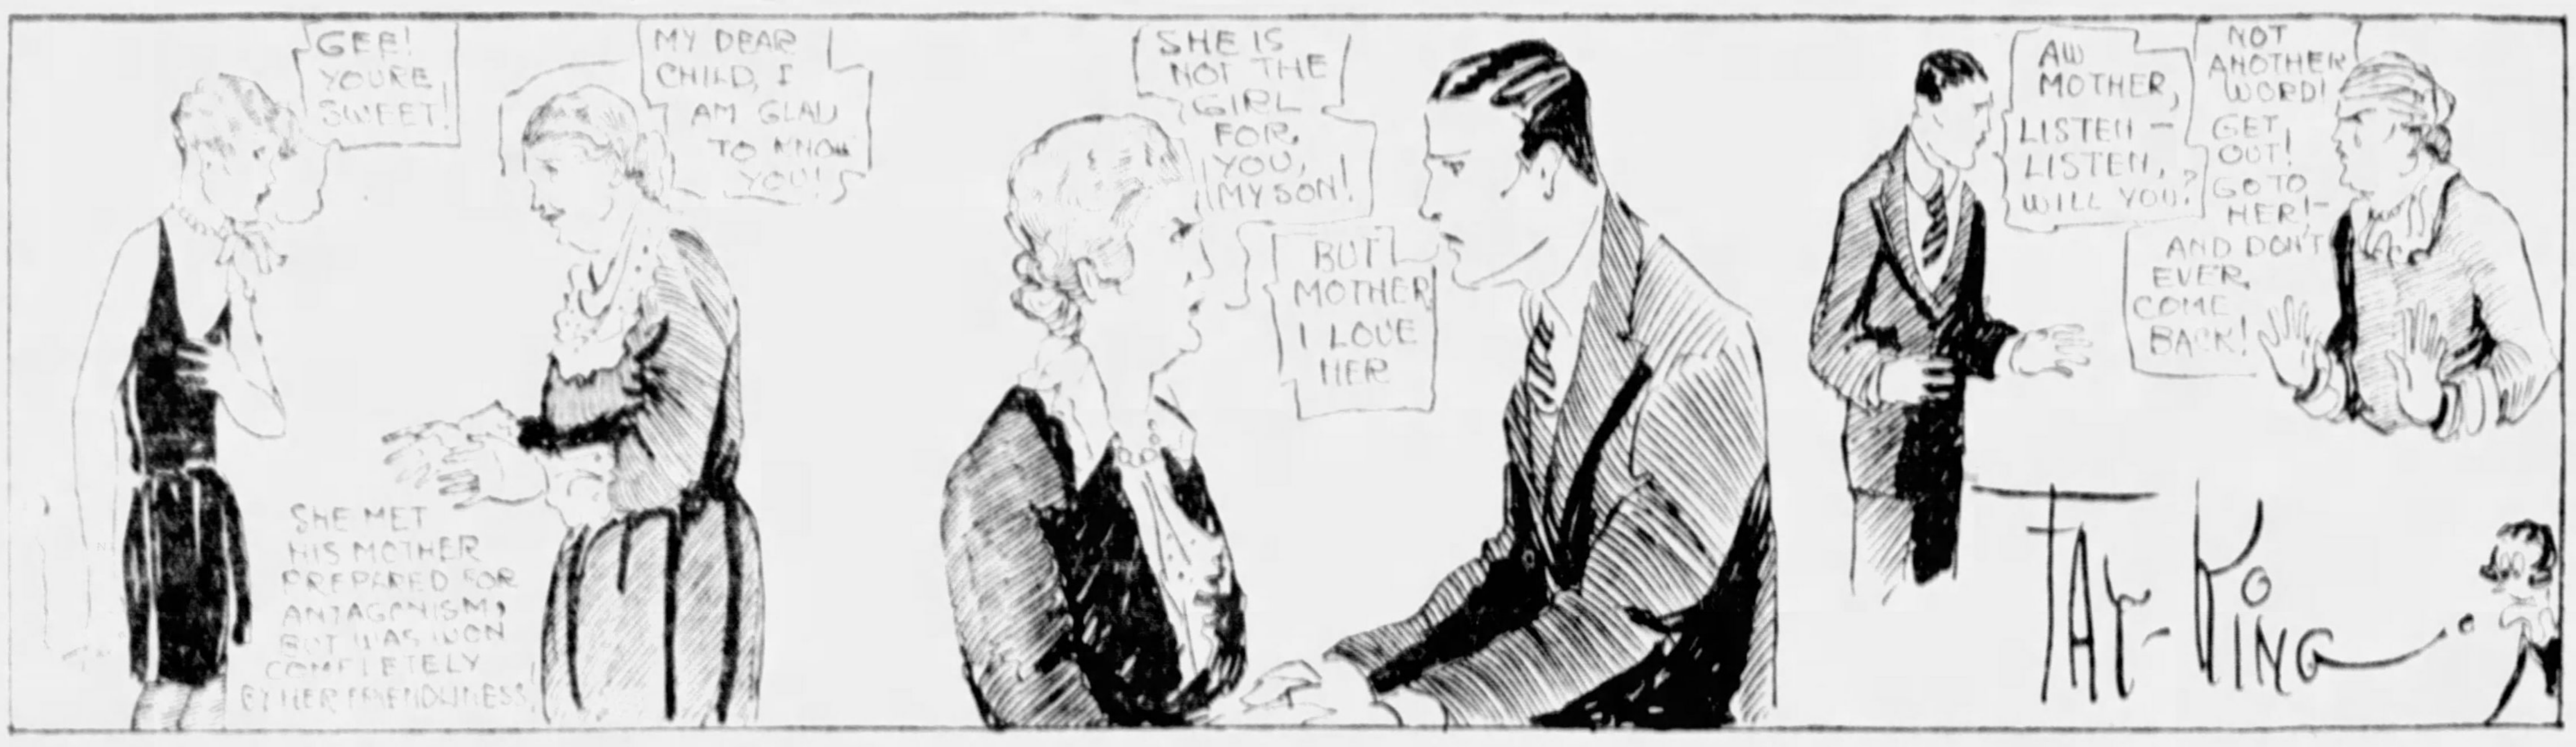
Fay King Offers a Solution of Mother, Son and Girl Riddle



GEE! YOU'RE SWEET!
MY DEAR CHILD, I AM GLAD TO KNOW YOU!
SHE MET HIS MOTHER PREPARED FOR ANTAGONISM, BUT WAS WON COMPLETELY BY HER FRIENDLINESS
SHE IS NOT THE GIRL FOR YOU, MY SON!
BUT! MOTHER I LOVE HER
AW MOTHER, LISTEN— LISTEN, WILL YOU?
NOT ANOTHER WORD! GET OUT! GO TO HER! AND DON'T EVER COME BACK!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Few sons are as noble and pure as their mothers believe them to be.

Yet, no matter how hard-boiled a boy may have become, like the boy in the well-known poem, he would really "like to be the guy my mother thinks I am."

Many a mother is apt to think that no girl is good enough for her son.

And when he falls in love, she sees only the girl's faults.

Even if he falls in love with a really unworthy girl, how much better for his mother to welcome her and to exert her good influence over them both.

Animosity and antagonism can accomplish nothing.

But the environment of love and understanding has inspired many to improve!

Madge Realizes Wisdom and Truth in Lillian's Statement

My cheeks were blazing as Lillian finished her diatribe against Dicky. It is not pleasant to hear one's husband referred to as a "pampered pup," even if the person applying the epithet is his best friend and yours and has only your best interest and his at heart in making the speech.

There was a special sting for me in the last part of her speech also. "His standard of value for anything," Lillian had said calmly, "is the difficulty he has in obtaining it or keeping it." Did she mean—my eyes were suddenly hostile and she put up her hand laughingly as if to avert a blow.

"Don't take me so literally," she said laughing. "We've threshed this out before and you ought to be able to translate my rhetorical extravagance into everyday English. I don't mean that Dicky fails to value you or that you haven't always been the supreme woman of his life. No doubt he will go on loving you if you shelve your career and start in on the Kinder, Kirche, Küchen ideal. But let me tell you solemnly he won't be half as interested in you after a time and that, if I know you, will be simply death to you."

I shivered involuntarily, for I knew only too well the truth of her words.

"You see," Lillian went on, patently warming to her work, "yours is an unusual case. Heaven knows I'm not advocating the general combining of children and a career. In the case of the ordinary woman with no special outstanding talent which puts her into the rank of big earners, it works havoc all around for her to leave her home to an underpaid, inefficient hireling, as she must, and work at some outside job for just about enough money to clothe herself and pay the expenses of the hireling. There are two reasons, of course, which justify any woman in getting out and earning money outside her home—grim necessity, which, let me whisper, is behind the careers of most women, and the presence in her home of some stranded woman relative, loving and efficient, who must be supported but whose only economic value is her ability to keep house and raise children and whose traditions forbid her doing it in the home of anyone save that of a near relative.

"Career is a fighting word to me anyway," Lillian went on, and I bent a deferential ear, for if any woman is authorized to speak upon that subject it is she, highly successful illustrator and advertising writer at the very top of her profession, who has managed to bring up a daughter most ideally. "It is abused so often by some half-baked woman who deems making a home for a husband and children the lowest profession in the world instead of the highest, as it is, and who gets out of what she calls the deadening drudgery of domesticity—oh, yes, I've heard 'em—by leaving her home to anybody she can get and expressing herself at something which usually does not bring her in enough money to buy her food and lodging."

She stopped short, struck her hands together and gave a short little contemptuous laugh.

"Oh, go on," I urged as well as I could for laughing. Lillian adds [illegible] mimicry to her other talents.

"All right, we'll return to our [illegible]," she said. "As I was saying when I—interrupted myself, yours is a special case and you've got to consider it as such. You have a combination that's Heaven sent: first, a most unusual talent—let me tell you that to get Philip Veritzen, dean and prime minister of Broadway, to be asking for more when he's seen only two acts of a play is some achievement, lady—you can put that in capitals. Second, you have a husband whose temperament is so constructed that he thinks he wants a domestic wife with no interests outside himself and his children, but who—make no mistake—is going to be bored stiff if he gets one. Third, you have a kinswoman who is probably the best nurse in the world, bar none, and who, as far as physical care of any human being goes, can tie one hand behind her and beat you or me or any four like us. Finally, you have a temperament yourself that's going to give you a lot of trouble if you don't exercise the brain the Lord gave you."

She flung herself back in her chair while I felt that I had just been put through an electric wringer and hung out to dry. Most of her arguments were sound, I knew, yet my instinct told me there were flaws if I could find them. Without stopping to consider my words, I voiced the first one that came to me.

"But Lillian, are you sure that Philip Veritzen really thinks—that his judgment may not be—" I floundered miserably.

"You mean he may be biased because he is in love with you?" she queried coolly. "But he isn't any more."

Household Hints

Avoid "pretty jars" for canning. Fancy jars are hard to keep clean and frequently require varied tops which do not fit the uniform lids and rubbers.

Belmont egg for breakfast! Brown several slices of bread in the oven, then moisten them in warm salt water and butter them, poach eggs in salted water, place eggs on toast and surround with chopped meat heated in butter.

Breakfast in bed is always more delightful if the dishes match or harmonize with the color of the boudoir.

To determine when the jellying point has been reached, in making jelly, put a little on a cold plate and draw a path through it with the point of a spoon; if the path stays and the jelly does not run together, the jellying point has been reached.

To greatly improve flavor of tea, thoroughly dry the peel of an orange or lemon, and place it in the tea caddy; it gives domestic tea an imported flavor.

Stains on dishes from eggs are among the hardest to remove. One housewife suggests the dishes be put directly in cold water when removed from the table and allowed to stand while the dishes are being stacked preparatory to washing.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Group Reading Aloud as a Cure for Stammering

Dr. Copeland

Stammering is a common, distressing affliction. It has been recognized for many centuries. Only within the past few decades has there been any success in the cure of this condition.

In former times it was believed that stammering resulted from some disturbance in the development of the speech organs. It used to be thought, too, that it was caused by coldness of the tongue and that the condition could be removed by drinking wine in moderation, because the wine produced heat.

About the middle of the nineteenth century a new theory was advanced. According to this, stammering was due to the fact that the movements of the tongue were retarded. An operation was devised whereby the tongue could be elevated in the hope and expectation of correcting the trouble. This theory went into the overcrowded waste basket of discarded ideas.

Although surgery has been proved to be of no direct worth in this condition it has its value in correcting associated defects. Such operations are never performed on the tongue, but are used to remove enlarged and diseased tonsils, adenoids, or to straighten and open a deformed nose.

It is now believed that stammering is the result of impediment of thought and that it is not primarily a disorder of the speech organs. This disability affects the speech only because speech follows thought. According to this theory there is an inability of the man who stammers to think the words clearly in his mind.

There are special schools for the training of stammerers. Pupils are placed in classes and instructed in simple methods of fluent speech.

Among such methods is group reading, which is done aloud and in unison. Later the pupils read alone. If at any time they should stammer, the group immediately joins in and thus carries the stammerer over his difficult point. Eventually these pupils find themselves reading alone and gradually they overcome the stammering.

Tremendous strides have been made within the past decade in the study of stammering. Old ideas have been placed on the shelf. New ideas are constantly being tried. It is hoped that in time an effectual treatment for stammering will be established. Then thousands and thousands of children will be relieved from suffering and humiliation.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Serving at the Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

As you have helped us before, we ask your advice again.

We attended a wedding reception at a hotel from 8 p. m. until 2 a. m. There was dancing and a punch was served. A claims that food should have been served, either sandwiches, cakes and coffee, or a buffet supper with smokes for the gentlemen. B claims that this was not necessary. Who is correct?

TWO PALS

It would indeed seem as A suggested that something of food, however simple, should have been served for a reception, especially a wedding reception, which lasted for so long a time. Supper, in some form, . . . it might well have been, as again A suggested, sandwiches, cake and coffee . . . should have been planned. This is customary. Usually for the wedding reception a quite elaborate menu is planned, complete with wedding cake.

'I Beg Your Pardon'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In general conversation, business and social, is it correct form to say, "I beg your pardon" or "Pardon me" when one does not hear what the person has to say when that person is addressing you, or perhaps speaking to you over the telephone?

Yes, . . . and "I beg your pardon" is perhaps a little the better of the two.

Elbow Guiding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it fitting for a man to take a lady's elbow when crossing a thoroughfare or should the lady cling to the man's arm?

MISS A. B.

The first is correct. The man puts his hand under the lady's elbow lightly and guides the way across the street.

Never Use the Fingers in Eating

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A says it is correct to pick up chicken or any other meat on a bone in your fingers after a knife and fork has been used in order to get the remainder of the meat. B says it is absolutely incorrect to use your fingers and that only a knife and fork should be used.

Kindly advise if A's theory was ever recognized, if it is not at the present time? R. M.

B is thoroughly right. Never since the good-hearted [illegible] days . . . and the accounts of the eating habits of those days are far from being pleasant and delicate . . . have civilized eaters taken chicken or chops in their fingers to gnaw and gnaw and gnaw. Better use the good old knife and fork and show how civilized we are!

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Sage tea will darken gray hair. It is not a permanent dye unless it is combined with chemicals, so must be put on frequently. Steep one ounce of the leaves in a quart of water for 15 minutes. Strain and add one-half ounce of rubbing alcohol. Experiment with a single lock. Best to be careful. Watch results.

To acquire the correct posture when sitting, sit well back in the chair. Let the shoulders rest against the chairback. Chest should be held high, abdomen should be flat. There should be an inward curve at the waistline. Some day we shall sit in chairs that furnish proper support at the small of the back. There are such. Find 'em. You'll be sitting pretty.

$3,000,000 for a cup of really fresh coffee

Read These Amazing Facts

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen!

Think of it—45% to 65% of the flavor gone from 9-day-old coffee.

IN 9 DAYS COFFEE IN OLD-FASHIONED CANS LOSES 45% OF ITS FLAVOR

The Amazing New

VITA-FRESH PROCESS

. . . most important advance in the history of coffee

. . . Maxwell House brings you the first completely roaster-fresh coffee—always full flavor, full value, no matter when or where you buy it!

A TRULY fresh cup of coffee—how delightful—how thoroughly satisfying—but until now virtually unattainable.

Many people have gone through life without ever once tasting really fresh coffee. But all can enjoy it now—for Maxwell House has invested $3,000,000 in developing a new method of coffee protection. Here we tell how and why this brings you greater coffee enjoyment than you have ever had before.

Oxygen—a greedy racketeer

Coffee flavor is highly perishable. Air (Oxygen) robs coffee of its strength and flavor.

Just read these amazing facts established in the laboratories of a leading Eastern University:

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen!

Think of it! 45% to 65% of the flavor gone from 9-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

Your first sip will be a taste thrill

Ask your grocer this very day for a pound of Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee and treat yourself and your family to the new delights of the finest coffee precisely as fresh as the moment it left the roasting ovens. Old friends, and new friends, of this famous Southern blend proclaim it a flavor revelation. You'll drink it with surprise and delight.

Try it at our risk

After trying Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee, if you and your family do not agree that it is the finest coffee you have ever tasted—simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will gladly return the full purchase price.

A Champion's Tennis Strokes—Bill Tilden, King of 'Em All—Demonstrates Them Before Camera

THE SEVERE CANNONBALL SERVICE — AND THE AMERICAN TWIST SERVICE — SLICE SERVICE . . . NOTE THE DIFFERENCE — MOST-USED STROKE . . . FOREHAND DRIVE — BACKHAND STROKE, A PERFECT ONE

Bill Tilden, former world champion amateur and now world champion professional tennis player, has preserved his technique for posterity through the medium of motion pictures, cuttings from which are reproduced above illustrating his form. The white lines describe the arc of the racquet in the making of each stroke. Other points stressed in the series of instructive pictures concern footwork, balance, strategy, etc. Perhaps these few shots will enable you to brush up your own game. All Tilden has been able to accomplish with his mastery of the strokes has been to win seven national titles and sundry others and dominate a number of Davis Cup competitions. At first glance, you'd think Big Bill was wrapping himself around several yards of spaghetti in the above pictures, but the hand is quicker than the eye, you know, and he's really and truly showing off his tennis strokes. These are the strokes that have baffled and bewildered Big Bill's opponents in international competition for more than a decade.

A COMPOSED JOCK SUTHERLAND

IF YOU LEAVE it to Chuck Klein, slugging outfielder of the Phillies, the best pitcher in the National League is Ray Benge, of his own club . . . "I know the records show Guy Bush, of the Cubs, and Jess Haines, of the Cardinals, are at the top of the heap," he said the other day, "but look at their clubs. When you consider pitchers, always look at the clubs in back of them. Put Benge in there with either of those clubs and he would win a lot of close ones." . . . Benge turned back the Cardinals yesterday, 3-2 . . . Speaking of pitchers, this fellow Lefty Grove has not been batted off the mound all season and has won his last 16 straight and has 25 wins for the year to date, and, if he hadn't finished up a game for a faltering brother back in June and lost when Fonseca hit a home run off him in the twelfth inning, his string now would be 24 straight . . . In the last two seasons he has won 53 games and lost seven, which is pitching as is pitching.

Ray Benge

J. E. MADDEN HERE with the Iroquois Polo and Hunt Club of Lexington, Ky., for the game with the Pittsburgh Polo Club scheduled this afternoon but canceled because of the recent heavy rains, is a son of the late J. E. Madden, one of the best known horse breeders in America . . . Father and son operated the famous Hamburg Place at Lexington for years, and since his father's death young Madden has managed the estate . . . Hamburg Place contains more than 800 stalls and is famous for producing trotters, the great Nancy Hanks having been one of its stars . . . Thoroughbreds from Hamburg Place are estimated to have earned their owners more than $5,500,000 during the years 1919 to 1929, inclusive, or an average of more than $1,000 a day for that period.

SKIP WYMARD, running for county judge in the primaries, says he received the hardest punch on the jaw of his football career while tackling Pat Clougherty, playing for the Duquesne team against the McKeesport Olympics in a game at Duquesne some 16 years ago . . . It was a memorable contest, with Dex Very, Pete Mauthe, Red Fleming, Russell Goodwin, Leo Collins and other grid greats helping Wymard, a Georgetown star, to further the Duquesne cause, while the Olympics had Dash Kline, Hartie Wilson and others, in addition to Clougherty . . . Duquesne carried the day, a big one in the sports annals of the Monongahela valley . . . The occasion has been quite forgotten with the passing years, but the memory of the punch on the jaw still lingers with the recipient, as he told members of the Paramount Club during the course of a talk in Duquesne a few nights ago.

SETTLING A DISPUTE in Charleroi: Russ Stein and Charley West were members of the same football team at W. & J. . . . Brenkert made the touchdown that was called back in W. & J.'s game with the California Golden Bears on New Year's Day, 1922; Wiederquist also played with Russ Stein, and Erickson played in that California game . . . Earl Mastro, the Chicago featherweight, registered a tremendous hit in his bout with Kid Francis, the Italian, in New York, Tuesday night, and is headed for a title match there with Bat Battalino . . . Damon Runyon's collection of short stories of Broadway, which have appeared in magazines, will be published in book form September 29 under the title, "Guys and Dolls" . . . Heywood Broun has written the introduction.

ONE OF THE smartest captions on a photo in a newspaper recently cropped out on the Coast where Johnny Evers, now scouting out there for talent for the Boston Braves, was pictured placing a wreath on the grave of Frank Chance, the old Peerless Leader and first baseman of the Chicago Cubs in the halcyon Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance double play days . . . "From Evers to Chance," read the caption, speaking volumes . . . Jess Petty, former Pirate pitcher sent to Los Angeles by the Cubs this year, is blowing a chance to collect a $2,000 bonus because he can't maintain a winning stride . . . The bonus was to be his if he won 20 games . . . English newspapers are kicking up a fuss because too many boxing bouts over there are being called draws, claiming the "no decision" rulings kill off interest in the sport, and they're right . . . No bout ever is a draw if you watch it closely enough . . . And they don't even allow them in the short amateur bouts.

Jess Petty

JIM LONG, regular conductor of this column, is vacationing along the Jersey shore, where we'll be next week . . . Phil Perkins, the former British amateur golf champion, is another big shot with whom they must reckon in the U. S. amateur championship tournament soon to be decided . . . Roy Mahaffey, once with the Pirates, now just another pitcher on the Athletics' staff, to fill in along with Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg, has won 12 games, seven of them at home, where he has not lost a decision . . . They tell a good one about Harry Heilmann . . . Back in 1927, he led the American League in batting, and the following season he got off to a terrible start, with the result that when the Yankees hit Detroit Joe Dugan was leading the league in batting and Heilmann was far down the list . . . . Anticipating some wisecracking about their respective percentages, Heilmann was all set with his cruel retort . . . Meeting up with Jumping Joe, he pulled one that simply slayed Dugan and put him in his place . . . "Well, Joe," he said, "I see they're printing the batting averages upside down in this league this year."

BILLY PETROLLE retired two years ago disgusted with his failure to succeed in the boxing game, but now he's back making big money and fighting Jimmy McLarnin a third time in New York tonight . . . Since his return to the ring, on January 1, of last year, he has boxed a no-decision bout with Jackie Purvis, lost to

MRS. CURRY, MRS. BLAIR IN FINAL

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

For the third time in as many years, Mrs. Eva Blair and Mrs. Margaret Curry will battle it out for the women's city golf championship in the final round of the annual title tournament at the Schenley Park municipal links tomorrow.

Mrs. Curry won the title in 1929 and Mrs. Blair evened the score by annexing the crown last season. The match tomorrow, therefore, will be the "rubber" duel of the series. It will be at 36 holes and the finalists will leave the first tee at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Curry gained the final by defeating Miss Maxine Cuden, 5 and 4, in their semi-final round battle at Schenley today. Mrs. Blair, 2 down at the turn, fought an up-hill fight in eliminating Mrs. Carrie Josephson, the medalist, 2 and 1, in the other semi-final.

MRS. BLAIR RALLIES

Both Mrs. Curry and Miss Cuden were unsteady on the out nine, but the former titleholder settled down and played sparkling golf after the turn for home. Miss Cuden, an 18-year-old graduate of Peabody High School, playing in her first big tourney, is to matriculate at the University of Wisconsin this fall.

Mrs. Josephson was consistently brilliant in reaching the turn in 40 and gaining a 2 up advantage on the defending champion, but she withered before Mrs. Blair's fine shot making on the in nine. The semi-final round cards:

A comparatively small field swept the beautiful Wildwood Country Club layout yesterday in the one-day tourney of the Pennsylvania Golf Association. It was a miserable day for golf at Wildwood, and aside from many withdrawals from the entry list, a EXPLANATONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE BLIND SCULPTOR'S STATUE FROM LIFE—This statue of Emperor Franz I, of Austria, is the proudest exhibit of the State Museum of Innsbruck, Tyrol. Josef Kleinhaus, the sculptor, was blind from the age of six months. Yet, despite this handicap, he is considered the foremost sculptor of his native country. The Emperor visited Kleinhaus' native town, Nanders in Tyrol, and, hearing of the famous blind master, invited him to come and execute his likeness. Kleinhaus felt of the Emperor's features in a single sitting. The statue is an amazingly accurate likeness of the Emperor. THE CHANGEABLE FROG—The "Changeable Frog" belongs to the genus Hylae (gratiosa, versicolor, etc). One of the most remarkable representatives, the Florida Tree Frog, will change in a few minutes from bright or dark green to gray, mulberry and a rich brown with amazing rapidity. The color change is a chemical problem, connected with the food of the species. "BOOZE" COMES FROM THE NAME E. G. BOOZ—The origin of our term "booze" as a connotation for liquor goes back to the time Mr. E. G. Booz, an American distiller, manufactured his famous "Log Cabin Whisky." The trade, to be certain that they obtained the genuine Booz whisky, would ask for Booz instead of Log Cabin. One of the few existing original Booz bottles, with the name blown in the glass, was exhibited at the Ceramics Exposition at Rutgers University this year.

DIEGEL LEADS N. Y. PROS

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 20—(AP)—Leo Diegel, wandering professional from Agua Caliente, Mexico, led the qualifiers from the New York section yesterday in the 36-hole preliminary test for the National Professional Golfers' Association championship to be held at Providence, R. I., next month.

The qualifiers:

Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente, 67-71—138; Willie Klein, East Williston, 70-73—143; Willie Cox, Brooklyn, 71-72—143; Tom [illegible] 72-71—143; [illegible] 75-73—148; [illegible] 72-73—145; [illegible] 69-76—145; [illegible] 69-77—146; [illegible] 75-72—147; [illegible] Farrell, Mamaroneck, 73-74—147; [illegible] MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, 73-75—148; [illegible] Turnesa, Elmsford, 71-76—1[illegible]; Gene Sarazen, Greatneck, 73-77—150.

JONES TO BOX BROWN HERE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20—(AP)—Frank H. Fowles, Jr., manager of Billy Jones, Philadelphia Negro light-heavyweight, announced today his fighter has signed for a 10-round bout with Natie Brown, stablemate of Max Schmeling, at Hickey Park, Millvale, Pa., September 3. Jones scored a four-round knockout over Rosy Rosales, of Cleveland, in his July 30 appearance in that arena.

Chisox Spend 31 Runless Frames Behind Faber

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—(AP)—Urban (Red) Faber, veteran White Sox spitball pitcher, is just going along hoping his mates will score a run for him one of these days.

When he retired for a pinch batsman in the eighth inning of Bob Grove's personal triumph yesterday, it rounded out the thirty-first consecutive scoreless inning for the Faber-White Sox combination.

PLAY FOR FIFTH PLACE IN HUB TILTS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—The Pirates this morning faced their fifth doubleheader of the present invasion. They are slated to start the long session with Bill McKechnie's Braves at 1:30 this afternoon, fifth place being the stake. Single games are on the card for tomorrow and Saturday, today's bargain bill being the result of a rain postponement of yesterday.

The Pittsburgh pitching for the dual fight will be very much righthanded while the enemy sharpshooting is likely to be exclusively of a southpaw hue. Skipper Ens will call upon Remy Kremer and Heinie Meine, while Boss McKechnie expected to send Wee Willie Sherdel and Eddie Brandt to the slab.

TEAMS ON EDGE

Each team appears to be keyed up for the impending fights, especially the Pirates. The Braves have been close to the favored first division through a large part of the season, the Pirates hobnobbing with the cellar champs most of the time.

The flavor of a money position has been in the senses of the Pittsburgh players for the past few days. Within striking distance of the fourth place and the slipping Robins, the Buccos feel they will have a chance to displace both the Braves and Robins who must meet the ordeal of another stiff western invasion ere the curtain falls. The Pirates, on the other hand, will play most of their remaining games in the Oakland Orchard after they return from the present jaunt.

Capt. Pie Traynor, of the Pirates, being a Boston boy, fans and writers here naturally are het up over the published statement to the effect that Traynor is the best third baseman the game has yet produced, Jimmy Collins to the contrary nothwithstanding. Collins, however, must have been a corker, for his supporters are legion.

BILL BOOSTS PIE

When the matter was placed before Bill McKechnie yesterday, the Wilkinsburg citizen qualified his opinion on the controversy.

"I did not see Jimmy Collins when he was in his prime, but Traynor is the best the modern game has produced," said Skipper Bill.

Collins' smoothness and smartness apparently were marked, but none will gainsay that Jimmy could go as far for a ball as the Pirate captain. Traynor is one of the fastest runners in the league and his height gives him an advantage over Collins and all other of the smaller infielders.

Says Nick Altrock

—(Baseball's Comedian)—

CLEVELAND, Aug. 20. — The experts are asking how it can be a closer American League race next year and Uncle Nick is never niggardly with his suggestions.

A couple of good ways to tighten up the race would be (1) Put smallpox germs in Connie Mack's soup, (2) Get Grove and Earnshaw to enlist in the Navy for a 11-year term; (3) Put handcuffs on Mickey Cochrane and throw away the key; (4) Give Al Simmons Trader Horn's old aluminum ware route in Africa and then burn down Shibe Park.

Nick Altrock

If that wouldn't help make the race a tighter proposition I got some other ideas like mayhem, garroting and arson.

BRITISH CONTINGENT CUT AT FOREST HILLS

QUEEN HELEN, OTHER U. S. ACES WIN

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The chances for an international singles final in the Women's National tennis championship appeared considerably slimmer today as only four of the seven British entries were left in the running and one of the four had to stake her chances of survival on a single set.

A sudden storm late yesterday afternoon cut short the program, after three British stars had been eliminated and when a fourth, Mrs. Dorothy C. Shepherd-Barron, captain of the British Wightman Cup team, stood all square with her opponent, Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup. Each had won one set, Mrs. Jessup taking the first 8-6, and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron the second, 6-0.

The three matches which were to decide the makeup of the rest of the last eight brought together Sarah Palfrey, young star from Sharon, Mass., and Phyllis Mudford, of the British team; Betty Nuthall, of England, the defending champion, and Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, Cal., and Mrs. Sheppard Barron and Mrs. Jessup.

Led by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, four California stars and one British invader already were in the quarter finals. Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall carried the British colors a round ahead of her surviving countrywomen while Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Oakland; Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, and Dorothy Weisel, of Sacramento, formed the main body of the California defense behind Queen Helen.

Mrs. Moody had an easy triumph yesterday, downing Joan Ridley, of England, 6-3, 6-0. Mrs. Harper, runner-up last year, was carried to three sets by Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman, 6-0, 5-7, 6-1. Mrs. Whittingstall scored the lone British victory, downing Alice Francis, of Orange, N. J., 6-1, 6-3.

WOMEN REACH CITY FINAL

number of players found the going too tough to return cards.

Two outstanding stars tied for low gross honors—Fred B. Weppner, Stanton Heights star, and Samuel M. Parks, Jr., of Highland, runner-up in the recent hectic struggle for the West Penn senior crown. They had 77s, and worked to get them. Another Highlander, R. B. Parker, a golfer in the making, was runner-up to Parks and Weppner with a gross 77.

Low net honors were divided between Charles L. Totten, of Stanton Heights, father of a great family of golfers, and Fred Brandom, of Alcoma, who scored net 68s. Totten registered 85-17—68, and Brandom, 86-18—68.

The contest in the medal play of partners against par, under seven-eights handicap event, was a cinch for Mike Jennings and C. E. Devlin, both of Stanton Heights, who were 11 up, strange as that may appear.

JOHN GRAHAM WINS

An interclub invitation tourney, which was close to being an interclub team match, between South Hills and St. Clair, at St. Clair yesterday, saw the veteran John Graham, president of South Hills, former district champion, win with a card of 41-35—76. About 175 participated. Two other South Hills players also won honors, Dr. C. McKee having the low net, 87-20—67, and J. C. Benson being gross runner-up with a 78.

The Wildwood Country Club has announced an invitation tourney for women for Friday, August 28, and an invitation mixed foursome tourney for Wednesday, September 2.

Saturday and Sunday, Pittsburgh lawyers will be playing at Conneaut Lake in a team match against Cleveland members of the bar. A number of locals are expected to attend.

Virtually all professionals in the tri-state district will compete at Fox Chapel next Monday in the 36-hole qualifying round for the three places in the National Professional Golfers' Association tournament to be played next month in Providence, R. I.

RAIN CURTAILS CIRCUIT RACES

AURORA, Ill., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Yesterday's Grand Circuit program at the Central States Fair was postponed because of rain, after one heat in each of the first three events had been run. The races will be finished today.

Charlotte Hanover, which finished second in the $60,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., last week, was upset in the only heat of the 3-year-old trot by Protector. Calumet Baker, winner of the Hambletonian and favorite for the 3-year-old event, did not start.

Des Moines Hurler Wins Sixteenth Fray

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Speaking of consecutive pitching victories, Bud Tinning, righthanded star of the Des Moines Western League club is compiling an impressive collection.

Tinning yesterday held St. Joseph to five hits and won his sixteenth consecutive triumph of the season. He has won 20 games in all and has been defeated only once, the setback occuring May 31.

TIGER RANDALL TRIES AGAIN

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Tiger Joe Randall vs. Ted Yarosz, 10 rounds; Freddie Edwards vs. Young Rudy, 8 rounds, and Mississippi vs. Jimmy Reilly and Jack Miller vs. Anson Green, 6 rounds each, Hickey Park, Millvale.

Freddie Miller vs. Emil Paluso, 10 rounds, Cincinnati.

Ohio Tuffy Griffiths vs. Mickey McCallister, 10 rounds, Athens, O.

Al Friedman vs. Con O'Kelly, 10 rounds, Brockton, Mass.

Jimmy McLarnin vs. Billy Petrolle, 10 rounds; Young Terry vs. Benny Miller, and Andy Saviola vs. Eddie Guida, 8 rounds each; Phil Stark vs. Jack Terranova, 6 rounds, and Billy Donohue vs. Max Pincus, 4 rounds, Yankee Stadium, New York.

Danny Devlin vs. Young Ketchel and Joey Hatfield vs. Billy Ritchie, 8 rounds each, Wilmington, Del.

Tiger Joe Randall, hard-hitting Negro veteran of Elizabeth, is going to try it again tonight.

"It" consists of boxing Ted Yarosz, the Monaca welterweight, and trying to get a win over him.

This will be their fourth meeting, and Yarosz has yet to lose a decision in 46 starts as a professional. He romped off with his first bout against Randall but came a cropper in the second, at the Moose Temple last winter, when he was lucky to get the decision. Shortly afterward, however, he caught up with Randall again at McKeesport, and breezed in. Since then he has enhanced his prestige by beating Buck McTiernan and Bucky Lawless.

Randall believes he eventually will solve Yarosz' style and that this will be the time. He wants to be the first to check the winning streak of the youngster. A good turnout is in prospect, with Yarosz' loyal rooters from the Beaver Valley heading the procession to the park.

Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., Yarosz' stablemate, boxes Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the eight-round semi-final. Eddie Foster, a Negro boxer, who fights under the ring de guerre of Mississippi, meets Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, in the second bout, and Jack Miller, of Lawrenceville, and Anson Greene, of Homestead, are in the opener, scheduled for 8:45 o'clock.

Between Rounds

Tommy Crawley, South Side lightweight, is back home nursing a bruised right ear suffered in training following four winning bouts in the East. He won by technical knockouts over Johnny Gaito and Frankie Cerello and took two decisions over Eddie Cerda. He may box here before the outdoor season closes.

Marty Gornick, Whitaker lightweight, faces the toughest bout of his promising career so far when he steps out against Ray Collins, Erie blond, in the eight-round semi-final to the Jackie Rodgers-Vidal Gregorio battle at the Meyers Bowl next Monday night. Collins is a rough and ready mixer, a fair boxer and a good puncher with his right hand, and he will have a big edge in experience over Gornick.

A big money bout with Benny Leonard in a comeback role, may be the reward for the winner of tonight's Jimmy McLarnin-Billy Petrolle third meeting in New York. Petrolle, returning to the ring following a period of retirement, shocked the New York fans last November by flooring McLarnin and twice having him on the verge of a knockout in Madison Square Garden. Last May, they met again, and McLarnin cautiously boxed his way to victory. Both are good punchers and almost anything may happen when they blaze away at each other.

The Hickey Park management is trying to sign Roger Bernard, of Detroit, as Frankie Bojarski's opponent in the main bout of its show next Thursday night.

HAWTHORNE PARK MUTUELS

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(Special.)—The mutuels on the seven races at the Hawthorne Park track yesterday paid a total of $339.88.

SCOTTDALE TIES FOR M.-A. LEAD

Scottdale effected a tie for the second-half leadership in the Middle Atlantic League with Johnstown yesterday by defeating Cumberland in both ends of a doubleheader. The Scotties won the first game 5-3 and then took the second 4-0 behind the airtight hurling of Lange.

Johnstown, meanwhile, was held idle for the second day in a row by rain.

Fairmont captured a twin bill from Charleroi, winning by scores of 5-1 and 14-5. The Black Diamonds pounded out 16 hits in the second game.

Beckley hit at timely moments behind Bobo's fine pitching to defeat Charleston, 5-1. Wheeling was nosed out by Clarksburg, 5-4, although the Stogies garnered 11 safe hits to eight for the victors.

Other league teams were held idle by rain.

LOCAL POLO MATCH OFF

The continued heavy rains of the last few days have resulted in cancellation of the polo game scheduled here today between the Pittsburgh Polo Club and the Iroquois Polo Club, of Lexington, Ky. Members of the Kentucky team who remained in Pittsburgh since the game Saturday will go on to Columbus, O., for a game Saturday.

Coach Carl Guenther, of the Pittsburgh club, announced that there will be a game between members of the local club Saturday at the Pittsburgh Hunt field, O'Hara Township. All members of the local team will be given a hard battle, each competing for a place on the squad which will be sent South to meet the Iroquois team at Lexington on August 29.

It is understood that a special car will carry the local players and fans to Lexington.

DRIVING TEST TONIGHT

The Western Pennsylvania championship amateur driving contest, originally booked for Monday night, postponed on account of rain, rescheduled last night and again called off because of wet weather, will be put on tonight.

BOBBY JONES' Lessons in Golf

By Robt T Jones Jr.

U. S. Amateur Champion and Former U. S. and British Open and British Amateur Titleholder.

I suppose that almost every golfer has recognized the queer perversity of a golf ball. At any rate I have heard no end of complaints that the pesky things would run when they were wanted to stop and they would stop when they were wanted to roll—for instance, that drop dead and delicate pitches that run as though the devil were in them. The average golfer gets his backspin just precisely when and where he does not want it.

Bobby Jones

This is another case of not knowing what he is supposed to do with the club head. Merely knowing, of course, will not give him the ability to play the shots but it will put him a long way along the road.

Every decent golf club has some loft. We do see some drivers and putters with perpendicular faces, but I do not class these as decent golf clubs. When the face of the club comes in contact with the ball there is a certain amount of friction or gripping between the two surfaces. The face of the club exerts two kinds of forces—or at least forces in two directions upon the ball—one tending to compress the ball and propel it forward, the other tending to produce spin. The only case in which the force tending to produce spin is not exerted occurs when the clubhead as it meets the ball is moving in a direction exactly perpendicular to the plane of the club face, or in other words when the ball is taken on the upstroke. I am not considering the topped or half-topped shot.

RESULTS INEVITABLE

Now, for some reason, most golfers when swinging a driver hit the ball a downward blow and the same players when swinging a mashie-niblic strike the ball upward. In this way the results which they complain of are inevitable. If they do not top the drive, the downward blow merely increases the tangential force tending to produce spin and if the shot is fairly struck it will rise abruptly toward the end of its flight and drop dead.

In playing a pitch shot I suppose the natural desire is to lift the ball into the air with the almost unconsciously cherished idea that the loft of the clubs needs some assistance. Taking the ball on the upstroke in this way directs the force of the blow more nearly toward the center of the ball, and diminishes accordingly, if it does not remove entirely, the resultant along the periphery of the ball which would produce a backspin.

The longest drives are hit slightly on the upstroke. The loft of the ordinary driver is very little, so that only a slightly upward blow is needed to make the spin-producing force almost negligible. Yet I think that the driving swing should strike as much of an upward blow as is consistent with good control.

But the accurate iron shots and pitch shots which bite into the green must be struck downward. One rarely sees a good iron player who does not rip into the turf in front of the ball. The impression is gained that he has squeezed the ball against the ground in sending it away, although this of course is not the case. The lofted club even moving horizontally parallel to the ground beneath the ball if it contacts the ball below center will produce some spin but this effect is exaggerated by the downward blow.

NATURAL ERROR

Apparently this last is one of the hardest things for the average player to get into his head. It is only natural, I suppose, for him to think that the very high shot will always stop quickly. As a matter of fact this is not so. If the greens are soft and well watered the shot with plenty of elevation will stop quickly enough but it does so merely because the ground holds it. Any such delusion as this will be dispelled with sad experience to him who entertains it whenever the putting surfaces become a little bit dry and firm. When that condition exists it is spin, and spin alone, which will do the work.

So for length and roll hit the drives slightly upward, and for accuracy and quick-stopping strike the irons and pitches slightly downward. But also when playing the irons trust the loft of the club a little bit. It rarely needs any assistance in supplying elevation, and it seldom needs a great deal in producing spin. In ordinary cases enough back-spin can be had without any drastic measures. The loft of the club directed slightly downward and meeting the ball below center is enough.

Dormont Granted Sports Charter

A charter was granted the Dormont Athletic Club, organized to promote baseball and other sports in the South Hills and provide facilities, in Common Pleas Court by Judge James H. Gray.

By TOM BIRKS

Undisputed possession of first place in the City League will be at stake this evening when the Dormont and Book Shop nines clash at Olympia Park. These teams are staging a hectic race for the second half title and either club can win. Dormont naturally is playing hard after winning the first half to cop the second flag and prevent a playoff.

Many of the wise heads of the South Hills team are smart enough to know that a short series does not always find the best club winning, so Dormont is out to evade any post-season fussing.

Book is shooting the works and it must be admitted that the team looks to be the best outfit in the loop at present.

ACES FACE SAINTS

Two big games are carded in the West Penn loop. St. Joachim meets the Homestead Aces at West Park and the Swissvale nine under the leadership of Eddie Walsh clash with Reliance at Homewood Playgrounds.

Seeing that practically all of the four clubs still are in the race anything may happen.

Two other games are carded in the City League but nothing important depends upon their outcome. North Side sandlot fans will have an opportunity to watch the Civics and Buicks clash at the Salt Works. Homewood will play out its string meeting the J. L. Thomas nine at Dean Field.

BICKS PLAY COALERS

One game is scheduled in the Commercial and Industrial loop. Bicks entertain the Coalers at Magee Field. Manager Munson of the Coalers is away on a vacation so someone else will be in charge.

A local battle will be staged in the Minor League when the Bellevue and Ben Avon outfits hook up at the new Bellevue athletic field. In the Steel City League the Mifflin club and the Penn club of Wilkinsburg will tangle at Mifflin Field.

The Homestead Grays and the Baltimore Black Sox will continue their series tonight at Akron, O., playing under the lights. The game booked for Edgar Thomson Field, Braddock, last evening was called off on account of rain.

PERRY ENTERS NET FINAL

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Frederick J. Perry, British tennis star, today gained the final round of the Newport Casino tournament when Sidney Wood defaulted.

Wood was seized with a leg cramp, a discomfort he often suffers, when the Britisher reached the match point on his opponent's service in the twelfth game of the fifth set.

Boxers Reinstated By State Board

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—(INS)—Two boxers, Wally Sears of Minersville, and Joe Parker, Philadelphia, were reinstated by the State Athletic Commission at its regular weekly session here.

Approval also was given to the date of September 14 for an open-air show by the Arena Corporation of Philadelphia. The Arena group also was granted every Monday night starting with the first Monday night in October for indoor shows.

Sulky Races Feature Greene County Fair

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 20.—The Greene County fair and harness horse season got under way yesterday at the opening day of the sixty-fifth annual exhibition of the Jacktown fair at Wind Ridge.

A racing program of one trotting and one pacing event was on the card with a similar program scheduled for today.

BELIEVE IT OR not, but the good Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach, is not talking as much football these days as before some seasons that come readily to mind, which may be considered a good omen, for when the good Dr. opens up on the subject it's a sign there's something on his mind that's troubling him and likely as not it has to do with his football team and that bogie man schedule that it faces . . . . Pitt, by the way, will be using its camp in the mountains near Windber this year for the thirteenth pre-season prepping . . . . LOCAL PRINTERS LOSE AGAIN

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Teams from Chicago, Cincinnati and Washington made it three straight victories yesterday in the baseball tournament of the International Typographical Union while St. Louis recorded a one-sided victory over Baltimore, 17 to 2. Pittsburgh, New York and Minneapolis-St. Paul were the other losers.

Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 9-2; Cincinnati downed New York, 2-1; St. Louis crushed Baltimore, 17-2, and Washington upset Minneapolis-St. Paul, 7-5.

The Pittsburghers were unable to hit the offerings of Jacobs of Chicago while Gould and Seil were touched for 11 safe blows by the victors. N. Seddon and Danny Gall secured two hits apiece for the Pittsburgh team. The score:

[illegible]

Three strokes ahead of his closest rival after 54 holes of play, Eddie Gableman of Cincinnati today was a strong favorite to win the annual tournament of the Union Printers Golf Association in progress here.

In starting the final round today Gableman had a medal score of 247, three better than the defending champion, C. D. Radabaugh, of Detroit. Gableman was runner-up last year.

In third position was Murdoch Deans of Toronto with 253.

C. E. Hoxie of Canton was leading the Allied Crafts section with a total of 284 strokes. His nearest opponent was 11 strokes away.

GROVE EQUALS WIN RECORD

Associated Press.

For some time Lefty Grove, star southpaw of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been hanging around the portals of baseball's Hall of Fame pressing some strong claims to ownership of one of the niches. He gained official recognition for a place in the hall yesterday when he recorded his sixteenth consecutive victory by beating the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2.

This triumph, which gave Grove a record so far of 25 games won and only two lost, equaled the American League record. Smoky Joe Wood of the Boston Red Sox and Walter Johnson of Washington were the previous American League pitchers to win 16 straight games, both of them doing it in 1912. The major league mark is 19 straight.

RELIEVED ONLY ONCE

Grove has done some great work in winning those 16 games, being relieved only once and pitching 13 full contests. Twice he went in as a relief pitcher and was credited with winning.

Just by way of keeping pace in equaling records, Earl Averill tied Cleveland's all-time home run hitting mark by clouting his twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth homers of the season in the first half of a doubleheader with Washington. The Indians won both games from the Senators by scores of 10 to 5 and 10 to 8, leaving Washington 13 games behind the Athletics.

Irving Burns of the St. Louis Browns pulled off another unique feat to hand the New York Yankees a 7 to 3 setback. With the score tied in the seventh and the bases full, Burns clouted a triple, then stole home to provide the margin of victory. Boston and Detroit staged a slugfest which the Red Sox won, 9 to 8.

The New York Giants gained the day's National League honors and once more took possession of second place in the standing. They came through in the ninth inning with two runs to down the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5.

CUBS, ROBINS SPLIT

Meanwhile the Chicago Cubs could get no better than an even break with Brooklyn. Home runs by Cuyler and Barton in the first game gave Chicago a 4-to-1 victory. The Robins rallied behind Vance for four runs in the sixth and won the second game, 5 to 3.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals and the lowly Phillies split another twin bill. Don Hurst's hitting and Ray Benge's pitching combined to win the first game for Philadelphia, 3 to 2, but the Cards won the second clash, 8 to 4.

Pittsburgh and Boston were rained out in their battle for fifth place, bringing on a doubleheader today.

Dizzy Dean Cards Twenty-fourth Win

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, the eccentric former Western League right-hander sent by the Cardinals to their Houston Texas League farm after spring training, continues to hurl in dazzling fashion.

In winning his twenty-fourth game of the season by shutting out Fort Worth, 8 to 0, last night, Dean ran his season strikeouts to 253. This, however, was still below the all-time league record set at 325 in 1910 by Harry Ables, left-hander for San Antonio.

Fourteen Fort Worth batsmen were strikeout victims.

France Is Assured Place in Olympics

PARIS, Aug. 20.—(INS)—France's participation in the Los Angeles Olympic Games of 1932 was formally approved by the cabinet of Premier Pierre Laval today.

Because of the expense of transporting the French Olympic team from Paris to the western American metropolis, governmental sanction of France's participation was slow in forthcoming. It was reported at one time that the government might refuse to appropriate the funds necessary for the trip.

Art Smith Returns As West Va. Trainer

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 20.—Art Smith will train the West Virginia football squad this fall. Smith was the trainer of the team for five years, from 1924 to 1928 inclusive, then gave it up in order to devote himself exclusively to Cross-Country, which was adopted as a sport here in 1929.

LOCALS BEATEN IN DOUBLES AT DETROIT

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN
Staff Correspondent.

DETROIT, Aug. 20.—Pittsburgh hopes faded from the National Public Parks tennis championships yesterday as Frank Broida, Harvard southpaw star, and Mrs. Jean Artzberger, Mount Lebanon ace, went down fighting before powerful opposition in the doubles events of the local competition. Severe rain Tuesday evening washed out possibility of play at Gladwin Park, where action is formally scheduled throughout the week, and yesterday's hostilities were transferred to the dozen courts of the Detroit Tennis Club.

Today's quarter-final play in all divisions will be returned to the municipal rectangles unless additional downpour should keep them unfit for use another day.

COP FIRST ROUND DUELS

Both Broida and Mrs. Artzberger were successful in reeling off wins in initial round dual tests, the former teaming with Daniel Freedman, New York youngster, to account for Norris and Fox, Lansing pair, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, and the latter joining force with Helen Germaine, likewise of Gotham, to overwhelm the Dearborn entrants, Ona Wittersheim and Lena May Jones, 6-1, 6-0.

The second bracket, however, found the Steel Citians pitted against top-flight opponents, as Broida and Freedman took on the No. 1 seeded outfit, George Jennings and Gordon Braudt of Chicago, and Mrs. Artzberger and Miss Germaine tangled with the accomplished Washingtonians, Mrs. Ruth Martinez and Frances Walker, seeded second in the feminine group. The Jennings-Braudt duo, outhit at the start of the tussle even unto the extent of being down at 2-5 in set one, recovered as the strain of warding off dazzling net attack wore down the resistance of the rival lads and carved out an impressive 7-5, 6-1, 6-1 verdict.

Mrs. Artzberger and Miss Germaine, though they enjoyed 3-2 leads in both sets, proved unable to maintain the pace against the well-balanced enemy and dropped a 6-3, 6-3 decision after bitter struggle.

SEEDED TEAMS WIN

No singles jousting whatever was cared for yesterday, but men's doubles was carried to the bracket of eight with the exception of an uncompleted fracas involving the St. Louisans, Bell and Niemoeller, and the New Orleans-Minneapolis team, Craig and Cornell, which was interrupted by darkness at two sets apiece. Seeded teams came through without disaster, Jennings and Braudt spilling Broida and Freedman; Mitchell and Markey, Washington luminaries, downing, first, the Clevelanders, Bartel and Dorr, 6-4, 7-5, 12-10, and, later, the Dallas pair, Estep and Appell, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6, 7-5; Simons and Rover, of Louisville and Dallas, respectively, having an easy time with Keenan and Rae, of Niagara Falls, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, and O'Connell and Mahoney, Chicago-Los Angeles outfit, trimming Carson and Kaufman, of Ypsilanti, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

Net Stars Advance In Hospital Play

Dr. J. S. Baird will meet Dr. W. Rote in the final round of the second annual Municipal Hospital tennis tournament. Dr. Rote and Dr. Herron will meet Dr. W. Greenlee and Dr. W. Hazlett in the doubles final.

In the women's division Miss M. Avery will engage the winner of the Mrs. Baird-Miss Collins match for the singles crown. Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Tipton meet Miss Collins and Miss T. Conroy in the doubles final.

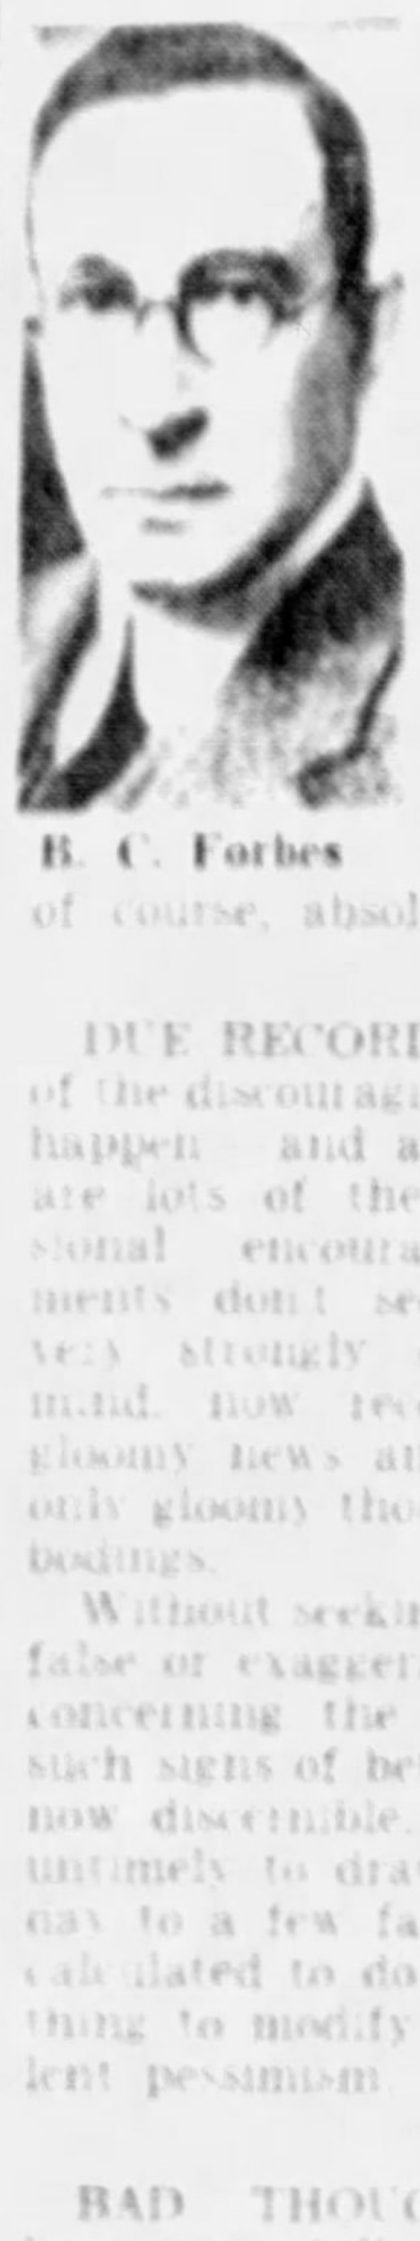
Forbes

Not All Facts and Figures Spell Gloom

By B. C. FORBES

OLD MAN DEPRESSION, although still in the ring, isn't having everything quite as much his own way. Kid Prosperity has been undergoing very severe training, and, although he isn't, perhaps, ready to deliver a knock-out blow, there are increasing signs that he is gathering strength. That he will win decisively one of these days is, of course, absolutely certain.



B. C. Forbes

DUE RECORD is made daily of the discouraging things which happen—and admittedly there are lots of them. The occasional encouraging developments don't seem to register very strongly on the public mind, now receptive to only gloomy news and possessed by only gloomy thoughts and forebodings.

Without seeking to create any false or exaggerated impression concerning the significance of such signs of betterment as are now discernible, it may not be untimely to draw attention today to a few facts and factors calculated to do at least something to modify the too-prevalent pessimism.

BAD THOUGH conditions have been, fully 10 per cent of the companies reporting for the first half of 1931 were able to show gains in earnings over 1930.

The prospects are that a still larger number of concerns will be able to achieve this half-year better financial results than during the second half of last year.

THE COTTON TEXTILE industry, an old-time trustworthy barometer, has shown encouraging improvement during more recent months.

The equally-basic shoe industry is doing distinctly more business now than a year ago.

The woolen manufacturing industry of New England announces a cheering pickup after years of unwonted dullness.

ALTHOUGH NOTHING but head-shaking is indulged in over the building industry, lumber producers have lately enjoyed substantially broader demand.

Tire manufacturers are selling far more tires than last year.

Gasoline consumption is on the up-grade.

Not all motor manufacturers are doing as poorly as they did earlier in the national depression.

ELECTRIC LIGHT and power consumption does not sink and sink each successive week. It is holding its own astonishingly well.

Expansion of consumption of natural gas is most pronounced.

Electric refrigeration is an expanding industry.

AT THE LONG last the oil industry, after interminable selfish bungling, is having curtailed production thrust upon it at the point of the bayonet. Wouldn't it be strange if the sensational action of a so-called "wild and woolly" politician should accomplish more for the industry than its own ablest leaders proved able to accomplish?

THE WEEKLY SHRINKAGE in freight carried by the railroads is no longer severe—is, indeed, quite mild.

Travel by air shows very notable growth.

WHILE BANK failures continue to crop out, it is encouraging to note that commercial failures have ceased to break all records, this notwithstanding the shrinkage in market value of most lines of merchandise.

Retail sales still show a decrease when measured by dollars, but an increase when measured by volume, by tonnage.

THE STOCK MARKET lately has been two-sided, not wholly a go-as-you-please picnic for bears. Liquidation by investors seems to have almost dried up, brokers' loans have shriveled to a new minimum, a fact possessing more significance than generally recognized. In responsible financial circles the buying rather than the selling of stocks is now more widely recommended. One thing certain is that stocks cannot possibly fall as much as they have done already!

EUROPEAN UPHEAVALS are hardly likely to continue much longer to upset things here as seriously as they have in recent months.

THE FUNDAMENTAL meaning of the greater activity reported in certain industries is that actual consumption has been running ahead of production. In other words, supplies were allowed to dwindle abnormally. Wholesalers, retailers and consumers alike postponed ordering until absolute necessity compelled them to buy. Such a condition invariably is brought about sooner or later by periods of acute pessimism. Always in the past the point has been reached where sheer compulsion brought a definite, sustained upturn.

Whether that point has already been reached this time may be argued. But that we are well within sight of such a definite turning point cannot be argued.

Crude Shortage Faced By Oil Industry

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

FOR THE FIRST TIME in many years oil refiners in two of the most important producing areas are faced with a shortage of crude. This is entirely attributable to the closing of wells in Oklahoma and East Texas under martial law.

It has been estimated that daily production has been reduced 1,000,000 barrels. This is a drop of about 40 per cent in the total production of the United States. Oklahoma's shutdown lopped off 300,000 barrels from the daily output and East Texas accounted for 700,000 barrels.

The duration of the suspensions is uncertain. The Texas Railroad Commission is expected to meet on August 25 to issue orders under the new law. The re-opening of the field depends entirely on the action to be taken by this body. The Oklahoma suspension is even less definite. The Governor of that state is holding out for a price of $1 a barrel.

Helps Alfalfa Bill

The EAST TEXAS SUSPENSION gives Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, of Oklahoma, the co-operation necessary to make his moves effective. Before Texas fell into line with his program, the benefits of the Oklahoma suspension were doubtful since sufficient crude oil could be drawn from other fields to keep the leading refineries in operation.

Oil operators, who are directly responsible for overproduction, have been quite general in their acclaim of the action of the two governors. Martial law has compelled the operators to take a step which was to their own interest but which they were unable to take on their own initiative.

Production Declines

THE AMERICAN PETROLEUM INSTITUTE figures covering oil production last week reflected the Oklahoma suspension to some extent. The figures for the present week will be the first to show the full results of shutdowns in Oklahoma and Texas.

Crude oil output in the United States averaged 2,498,500 barrels a day in the week ended August 15. This was 57,050 barrels less than in the previous week but exceeded the output of the corresponding week of last year by 34,950 barrels.

Oklahoma's daily production dropped 156,900 barrels during the week to 264,500 barrels. A further decline will be shown during the present week which will leave only a small number of wells still in operation.

Texas Output Gained

MEETING THE INCREASED demand for oil resulting from the Oklahoma suspension, East Texas increased its output 83,850 barrels last week to a total of 738,050 barrels. This contribution to the supply of oil will be completely eliminated in the present week. It is generally expected that the Texas Railroad Commission will order East Texas to keep within its previous quota of 270,000 barrels a day.

If this quota is established for East Texas, and if Oklahoma resumes production at its former rate, a net reduction of 468,000 barrels a day will take place in the country's total production from the rate prevailing in the week ended August 8. This would be a decline of 18 per cent and would go a long way toward correcting the troubles of the oil trade.

Debt Moratorium Ordered by Chile

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Chilean government has ordered a complete moratorium on foreign debts for the remainder of 1931.

MARKET TURNS HEAVY UNDER SETBACK

Early Advances Held Under Severe Selling; General Tone Stronger

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.) For the third successive session, bulls were able to make substantial progress during the morning in today's stock market, only to stall in a mire of liquidation around mid-day.

Public apathy, and a soggy bond market, have made forward progress difficult. Constructive interests, however, have been encouraged by the developments in the petroleum situation, and the absence of important liquidation on declines. The midday setback today was less severe than those recently encountered and the major portion of the early advance was retained. Leading commodity markets also maintained a better tone.

Selling converged upon tobacco shares and losses of a point or two appeared in American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers common and Class "B" stocks, and in Reynolds "B." During the morning advances of 1 to 3 points appeared throughout much of the list merchandising, chemical and utility shares were in particular demand. Even some of the rails coming up as shorts covered.

Issues advancing about 2 to 3 points included American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Case Lambert, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney, Eastman, Atchison and Union Pacific. United States Steel gained nearly 2. In the oils, Tidewater Associated preferred gained more than 5 points. In the main however, the advance was all but halted in the oils, save for the Tidewater issues, which were helped by early expectations of completion of the long projected Sinclair merger.

The downturn in the tobacco shares was regarded in some brokerage circles as reflecting bear selling and shifting to other groups.

The breathing spell in the oil shares evidently reflected profit-taking.

GRAIN PRICES TURN UPWARD

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Grain prices tended upward early today, influenced by reports of continued unfavorable weather in Europe. It was announced that Western European crop estimates were being reduced, and that an unofficial forecast regarding France showed a cut of 25,000,000 bushels. Opening ¼ to ⅝ cents higher, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started unchanged to ½ up and later showed a rise all around.

In addition to buying due to protracted rains hampering harvest in France, Great Britain and Germany and causing crop deterioration, the wheat market showed itself responsive to word of overnight export business from North America.

Estimates were reiterated that Russia's wheat exports this season would total 120,000,000 bushels, compared with 97,000,000 last year. Corn and oats developed firmness owing to wheat upturns and to reversal of market position by previous speculative sellers of corn.

Provisions were neglected.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Raw sugar was unchanged early today at 3.47c for spots duty paid, with no sales reported. Futures opened 1 to 2 points lower under a renewal of yesterday's selling movement, combined with more liberal offerings from houses with producing connections. Trading was moderately active, but it was confined mostly to exchanging from the near to the later deliveries, with the sellers of the near months replacing in later deliveries.

A moderate withdrawal demand for refined was reported, but new business was still light and supplied through second hands. Prices were unchanged at 4.75 for fine granulated, with re-sale offerings at from 4.55c to 4.70c.

American-Chinese Trade Improved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Trade between China and the United States is reported by the Commerce Department to have been "most encouraging" thus far this year.

The trade in cotton, wheat, flour, leaf tobacco and silver were cited as those in which encouragement was found. In each, increases over last year's sales were found. Increases also were recorded in silk, wool, furs, goat skins, peanuts and raw cotton.

Textiles War on Theft of Designs

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Silk Association of America reports that a desire on the part of the textile industry to co-operate in ridding the market of design piracy is indicated by the influx of textile designs into the Textile Design Registration Bureau. More designs were registered last week, the bureau reported, than in any month last year, and more than 100 designs a day are being handled by the bureau.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered revision downward of freight rates on potatoes and other vegetables from Florida to destinations throughout the United States.

Connecticut Dam Gets Scotland Soil

BARKHAMSTEAD, Conn.—(INS.)—Dirt from Down Patrick, and from Dun Aengus, on Atan Moi, and dirt from the Nunnery at Iona, Scotland, will be placed beneath the dam that the city of Hartford is to build to create a reservoir on the Farmington River here. So John A. Gleason, Hartford town clerk, announces. Charles A. Goodwin, wealthy Hartford resident, wrote Mr. Gleason that he has shipped the dirt from Mallaig, Scotland.

Retail Food Price Gained During July

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Although farm prices in July dropped three-fourths of 1 per cent below June, retail food prices in 51 cities increased one-half of 1 per cent.

The Labor Department, announcing the price trends, said however, July's retail food costs were 17½ per cent less than in July a year ago, while wholesale prices of all commodities were 16 2-3 per cent lower than in the same period.

Securities Here Ignore Advance on 'Big Board'; Fuels in Narrow Range

The stronger tone in the New York market did not communicate itself to the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange, and early dealings in the list here consisted of nominal transactions in small volume.

The notable strength in the oils on the "big board" had no reflection in the fuel issues here. Lone Star Gas remained in the trading area in which it has been moving most of the month, and other stocks in that section held at about the levels prevailing on the close last night.

United Engineering and Foundry scored a fractional upturn, the first change in the quotation since the dividend deduction early this month. The other industrials were steady but quiet.

BANK OFFICIAL OPTIMISTIC

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—G. E. Roberts, vice president of National City Bank, sailing to attend a meeting of the gold delegation of financial committee of the League of Nations of which he is a member, said:

"I see some readjustments taking place which will gradually bring back prosperity. There are indications that the wheat carryover from this year will be less in June, 1932 than the carryover from 1930. Sugar has gone through the readjustment that wheat is now passing through."

ROADS TO HANDLE BARGE TRAFFIC

The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized Illinois Central Railroad to establish arrangements for the handling of barge line traffic over railroads between St. Louis, Mo., and Cairo, Ill., on the inland waterways over which this traffic would normally move. The provisions made apply to barge line traffic between St. Louis, Mo., and East St. Louis, Ill., and Cairo, Ill., when originated at or destined to New Orleans. The arrangements will be continued until March 15, 1932.

ACQUIRES POWER PLANT

The electric power and light generating and distributing properties of the Galveston Electric Company in Galveston and all the electric power and light properties of the Galveston-Houston Electric Railway Company have been acquired by the Houston Lighting and Power Company, which is controlled by National Power and Light Company, an affiliate of Electric Bond and Share Company.

INSTALLMENT FINANCING

Despite lower public purchasing power, defaults on time payments and consequent repossession have not been disturbing so far in the depression, a current survey by Standard Statistics Company says. "Reports from leading installment financing corporations indicate liquidation of receivables has proceeded virtually according to schedule," the survey says.

FOREIGN DISTRIBUTION

A recent tendency among foreign distributors to insist upon exclusive national selling rights on the American products they handle has become a serious problem to producers, the American Manufacturers' Export Association reports. A variety of compromises are now being considered.

U. S. BUSINESS NEEDS SELF CONFIDENCE

Nation Held in Throes Of Rampant Pessimism; Federal Loan Advocaetd

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—As the autumn season approaches, American business needs more self-confidence.

It has been paying the price of enervating pessimism for the over-optimism which was rampant during the earlier boom period.

Now the spirit of defeatism and despair are afoot, and they operate to create a vicious circle which perpetuates the depression. Confidence cannot be restored by mere psychological gestures, but it can be augmented by measures which will release additional purchasing power. It has been proposed by scientific economists that the federal government break the deadlock of indecision by floating a huge prosperity loan for social reconstruction and the restoration of normal business.

Mr. Rukeyser

Such a large scale program of public works would help to redeem the idle from unemployment and bring them back actively into the market for consumption goods. It would provide strength to the economic situation at its weakest point, namely, in the construction industry.

Many executives, who have timidly and passively stepped aside would return actively to creative plans if they saw definite evidence that the tide had turned. With necessary deflation over, the federal government has the power to set in motion a program which would tip the scales. Economists have long advocated using permanent construction as a balance wheel for prosperity and depression.

The program of capital conservation during panics is an important one. The average investor's shrinkage was intensified by the unprecedented popularity before the panic of the doctrine of common stocks as long-term investments. At this stage, as one observer said, the public is sick in bed with common stocks.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The curb market again turned soggy after a morning upturn today. Trading was extremely dull and moderate advances in several of the oils and utilities were largely lost by early afternoon. Industrials were largely neglected.

Call money in this market remained pegged at 2 per cent, and was in little demand.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Cotton opened steady today, 1 to 2 points lower under a continuation of selling, which sent the price of December contracts down to 6.78c and March to 7.06c, or a point below yesterday's low prices.

The offerings were absorbed by some trade buying and covering, however, and the market was steady at the end of the first half hour, with prices showing rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest. Liverpool was relatively weak early, but recovered part of its decline just before the local opening, while reports of a better tone in the stock market probably helped to steady cotton after the initial offerings had been absorbed.

Offerings tapered off after the early selling had been taken and contracts became comparatively scarce during the middle of the morning. Covering and buying for a reaction promoted by the firmer tones of the stock market sent prices up quite sharply, with December advancing from 6.80c to 6.92c, and March from 7.06c to 7.20c, making net gains of about 8 to 13 points on the active positions. This bulge met a little more selling, however, and the market at midday was quiet, with prices showing reactions of 6 to 7 points from the best.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Spot quiet; prices four points lower. American strict middling, 4.35; good middling, 4.00; strict middling, 3.75; middling, 3.60; strict low middling, 3.45; low middling, 3.25; strict good ordinary, 3.05; good ordinary, 2.75. Sales, 4,000 bales, including 1,900 American. Receipts, 4,000 bales, American nil. Futures closed steady. October, 3.55; December, 3.62; January, 3.67; March, 3.76; May, 3.84; July, 3.90.

Market's Short Interest Increased 25%, Says N. Y. Brokers

Considering the seasonal factors favoring an advance and the well liquidated condition of the market, it might be assumed that short-sellers would be cautious about increasing their positions of late and would be more inclined to cover. But one Stock Exchange house estimates the short interest has increased fully 25 per cent during the last three weeks. It points out that most active trading issues are loaning at premiums. While the cheapness of money and absence of demand for it doubtless enters into this situation, the house declares there is nothing artifical about the premiums. If this estimate of a growing short interest is correct, technical strength of the market is in favor of interests working for the rise and the demand of shorts could be counted on to sustain the market in reactionary periods. Usually estimates of the size of the short interest are haphazard but the Stock Exchange, through its weekly questionnaire, probably is able to make a close checkup on it now.

Efforts of the British government to balance England's budget are likely to provide interesting news from London for some time. The vigor with which the problem has been attacked already has had a favorable reaction in financial circles and has done much to allay the flurry of the recent run on London. This week's statement of the Bank of England reflects more normal conditions and the cessation of the drain on London's gold reserves. The bank's holdings of bullion increased £1,566,000 and total reserves £7,498,000, advancing the reserve ratio to 45.80 per cent from 42.9 per cent a week ago. Recent improvement in the bank's position dates from the arrangement of $250,000,000 credit by the Federal Reserve and Bank of France at the end of July. Complete removal of the nervousness regarding England's financial position would go a long way toward improving confidence in conditions abroad.

Corporate earning power is at greatly curtailed levels for many concerns, and particularly serious for the railroads, with huge fixed charges and inelastic expenses. On the whole, according to this authority, the stock market is apparently discounting this situation, because of the conviction that the acute stage of trade stagnation will be as temporary as it is unsatisfactory. It suggests that it will require positive evidence of business revival to turn the stock market upward.

Pleasant surprise was expressed in many quarters today over the steadiness of the average wholesale commodity price level in July as shown by the index of the Bureau of Labor statistics. So many new lows have been made in commodity prices within the last several weeks that it had been taken for granted that the index would show a further drop. Closer followers of this type of statistics emphasized that there has been only one month since July, 1929, when there was no decline. That was in September of last year, the index for that month advancing two-tenths of 1 per cent. The decline during the last two years have been from 98 to 70.

Speculative interest has shifted at least temporarily to the oil stocks, which have shown the best improvement over last week's low price levels. A few of the rails have dropped off to the year's lowest prices, but the list as a whole has not duplicated its June low level, which stands as the bottom sweep of the bear market. Railroad bonds have lost further ground since Saturday, and the market average as measured by Standard Statistics Company has dropped to approximately 93, against the year's high at 105.7. Cotton has been unable to hold its ground, falling to a new low at 6.65 cents a pound for the October delivery.

That average stock prices have been able to advance somewhat, notwithstanding the further decline in industrial activity, signifies the forehandedness of the security market in liquidating weak positions and preparing for just such emergency as now confronts it, according to a survey of financial conditions by Standard Statistics Company.

TERMS FOR OIL MERGER GIVEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Negotiations for consolidation of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, Prairie Oil and Gas Company, Prairie Pipe Line Company, Tidewater Associated Oil Company and Rio Grande Oil Company into one large holding company probably to be known as the Commonwealth Oil Corporation, are in the final stages, and a definite statement can be expected within the next few days.

Under the terms now being discussed, the Prairie Pipe Line Company will receive 14 shares of the holding company stock for each 10 of its own. Prairie Oil and Gas and Sinclair Oil Corporation will each receive share-for-share, while Tidewater Associated will receive eight shares of new company stock for each 10 shares. The basis of exchange with Rio Grand Oil has not yet been determined.

"When issued" stock of the new company was traded on the Chicago Curb today, the first sale being at 12¾.

Dress Orders Gain In N. Y. Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—An encouraging gain in dress orders is now developing which producers believe marks a turn for the better in fall purchasing. The improvement follows a three-week period in which buying fell materially below expectations, owing to the threat of radical style changes at the Paris openings. The volume of business being placed in better grade dresses, however, is still substantially smaller than manufacturers would like to see.

DEPOSITS GAIN AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, Aug. 20.—Local banks were so swamped with deposits yesterday that special windows are being opened to accommodate the new depositors. Companies with branches here are sending in money to replace funds tied up.

The Toledo Trust Company has installed a cafeteria on one floor to feed workers who are unable to take time out to eat.

One savings association is cashing checks of the Toledo Trust Company and First National Bank to aid in the rush.

The West Toledo National Bank, open in a district of 80,000 residents and formerly with only $700,000 resources, found millions of dollars coming in as deposits, and remained open until 6 p. m. to accommodate new customers.

American Nitrate Combine Assailed

VALPARAISO, Chile, Aug. 20.—(INS.)—Culminating a violent press campaign, a resolution demanding revision of the American-sponsored nitrate combine known as "Cosach" was voted unanimously by the Chilean Chamber.

The combine was denounced in the resolution as "unconstitutional and detrimental to the national interests." Approximately $200,000,000 of American capital is invested in the combine.

Central Ohio Steel Gets Body Order

The Pennsylvania Highway Department has awarded a contract for 200 dump bodies to the Galion Allsteel Body Company, a subsidiary of the Central Ohio Steel Company.

Fanchon Describes Airplane Accident to Reporters

CHAPTER VII.

He left her in the capable hands of the kindly farmer's wife and returned some hours later to make sure she had suffered no great ill from exposure. The airplane company had wired, he told her, and the relatives of McKenon, the pilot, of the steward and mechanic as well as the Eames relations would be on to claim the bodies. "You were right about Miss Smith," he said. "No one has any record of her. Her passage was booked through an agent who does not know the name of the person booking it."

Synopsis

While the newsboys shouted, "All about the big gang killing," Fanchon Meredith and a man named Tony planned their getaway. Tony gave Fanchon $4,000 and reserves passage for her under the name of "Miss Smith" on an airplane chartered by the wealthy Mr. Eames en route to New York. A fellow-passenger, whom she previously had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, recognizes Fanchon. She is Evelyn Howard. Evelyn is going to live with the wealthy Mrs. Allison Carstairs, an aunt whom she has never seen. Fanchon envies Evelyn flying to happiness, while she is trying to escape because she was Tony's girl—Tony, who lied his way through life and whom she had innocently accepted on face value. Fanchon confides in Evelyn about her love for Tony. The police are searching for Fanchon, "The Mystery Woman." Fanchon asks Evelyn to enlist her aunt's aid in securing a position for her, but Evelyn becomes aloof. The plane crashes. Fanchon is the only survivor. She decides to masquerade as Evelyn to get a new start in life.

Now Go On

Tony had left the city then, thought Fanchon. It would be some time before he learned of the accident. It would, of course, be in the papers. But he might be where papers were not to be had.

In the morning she left for New York. She left with Doctor Warren more than enough money to take care of . . . "Miss Smith." "Not," said the doctor, sadly, "that it will be needed. It is impossible that she live through the day," he said.

He took Fanchon's address . . . in care of Mrs. Carstairs. And on her arrival at the depot to await the train, which would be flagged for her, she was given a wire by the station agent.

"Immeasureably happy and grateful for your escape. Will meet you Pennsylvania Station. All my love. Aunt Jennie."

There was no going back.

In the drawing room which she had engaged, Fanchon, in a borrowed coat and hat, sat staring out of the windows, listening to the beat of the wheels along the shining tracks . . . imposter, they said to her, imposter, imposter.

REALIZES POSITION

But she argued that, in a sense, she was doing no real harm. Jennie Carstairs had never known Evelyn Howard. She could, therefore, never have loved her. The girl was literally nothing to her, save someone of her blood to whom she owed a belated duty. If Fanchon took her place, Fanchon would, she vowed, live up to it; she would give back value received, for affection and peace she would render affection and duty in return. And when time had passed and there was no longer any danger, she would go quietly away and never bother anyone again. It was not on the cards that Evelyn would live.

She thought of Evelyn dying, with no one of her own about her, and her heart constricted with an agony of shame and terror and self loathing. But she had spoken; or rather, she had kept silent. It was too late . . . too late.

Evelyn would die, without recovering consciousness. Jennie Carstairs would be spared much unhappiness and self reproach; and she, Fanchon, would find, for a little time at least, a measure of safety and peace.

She opened Evelyn's big, flat, roomy handbag, stained with rain and with Fanchon's own blood. There were letters in it. From Mrs. Carstairs. Long letters, written in a vital, nervous sort of hand. There was money. There were the photographs of Evelyn's parents; there were snapshots of, Fanchon thought, the place in which Evelyn must have last lived and called home. There were also snapshots of the school in Honolulu and the one in San Francisco.

OUTLINES PLAN

It would not be hard. It would be more or less natural that Evelyn would not speak much or often of her mother and father to the people who had cast them out. As far as Hawaii went, Fanchon was on perfectly safe ground there. She studied the letters, the photographs.

Suddenly a thought reached her, stopped her heart for an instant.

Evelyn must have written her aunt. It was beyond conception that her hand and Fanchon's should be alike. Fanchon fixed that fact firmly in her mind. She must remember.

She remembered something else, with an effort. Remembered that among the small pieces of luggage Evelyn had brought on the plane had been a little portable typewriter. It was quite within reason that her letters to Mrs. Carstairs had been written on the machine. If so, so much the better.

She thought of the meeting that lay ahead of her. She longed for it, and yet shrank from it. But no great display of affection on her part nor on the part of Mrs. Carstairs would be necessary or even reasonable. For they had never known one another.

Yet Jennie Carstairs' wire had been affectionate in the extreme. Due, thought Fanchon, logically, to the situation, to the tremendous peril in which she knew her niece had been placed. It was natural enough. Natural, too, that she would not ask Evelyn to talk much of the accident.

DOCTOR'S ORDERS

Half a dozen times before she reached New York, Fanchon was seized with a frantic desire, born of sheer, blind panic, to get out at the first best station, to run away, to hide, to find a ship that sailed for far countries and alien seas, to run away from the old life of Fanchon Meredith, the hunted life of "Miss Smith," the self chosen, stolen life of Evelyn Howard, who was going toward safety, toward people who cared, toward freedom. . . .

Once she rose and took down the borrowed hat from the rack. Once she picked up the straw suitcase the farmer's wife had loaned her, with a few bare necessities in it; once she walked, suitcase in hand, to the door of the drawing room and laid her hand upon the knob. But returned at once to her seat by the window and her bewildered, frantic thinking. She could not go back. She must go on. Her mind felt hurt and bruised with the effort at thought, her bandaged arm ached, her wrenched muscles cried out.

"You have a very bad shock and shaking up," Dr. Warren had said, "and I wish you would stay on with Mrs. Lawson for a few days. But, if you won't, you won't. Only my orders—professional orders—are that when you reach your destination, you permit yourself to be put to bed and you stay there."

She had promised.

At the first big city they reached, reporters boarded the train and invaded her drawing room. Eager, shock-haired boys, one lean, sallow man and a couple of pretty "sob sisters." They apologized for their intrusion, but told her that in the interest of the news and the public they must have her first hand story of the accident.

RECEIVES AUNT'S WIRE

She knew that it was safer not to antagonize them. They perched on the seats, on the arms of things, even squatted on the floor, listening avidly. The train stopped over there for half an hour. During that time Fanchon told them what she recalled of the accident itself . . . of the first part of the flight. Eames, one of the reporters said, had been an important man in his town. This was being played up in the press. The pilot, too, McKinon, for he had had a war record and had also been pilot on a successful flight from England to Australia. He also was news, said the reporters, not callous, not unkind, simply seeking to feed their master, the insatiable press.

And Fanchon herself was news. By now they all knew that Evelyn Howard was a niece of Mrs. Carstairs—the Mrs. Carstairs. That was news. And news, too, the wire that reached her at the same station at which the reporters got on.

"Waiting anxiously. Collin would have come out and brought you the rest of the way, but he is in Canada and cannot be reached in time," wired "Aunt Jennie."

Collin? thought Fanchon. But during their rapid fire conversation the reporters enlightened her. Collin was Mrs. Carstairs' only son. A big game hunter. A polo player. An eligible bachelor. One of the most eligible. He was in the North Woods at present, she learned, simply by listening when one of the reporters asked her: "We understand that Mr. Collin Carstairs is up North?" and by nodding intelligently.

SOME ODD FACTS

Crabs have a strong "homing" instinct, according to official tests recently made. Some crabs released along the Lincolnshire coast were later retaken near their old home, Spurn Head, in Yorkshire. They had traveled distances of from 12 to 35 miles.

The Anglo-Saxon name for January was "Wulf-monuth," wolves being then more in evidence through hunger and cold; later it became Se aeftera geolo—"the After Yule."

DAILY SHORT STORY

A Lucky Pinch

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Another Murder Added to Unsolved List

"Where are you on duty tonight, Dan?"

Traffic Officer Dan Tiernan eyed John Rowan suspiciously.

"That's out, me boy," he said.

"What's out?" John asked, with an innocent expression that would have fooled anyone except Officer Tiernan and his sister Molly.

John wanted to marry Molly and, if the truth were known, Molly wanted him to want to marry her.

"Lissen, Jawn," said Officer Tiernan, "there's been complaints already at th' station."

"About me?"

"Mostly about me. Sure Captain Brand knows you and me is friends. He knows more—that you're courtin' Molly."

"Sure I am, and proud of it, Dan."

"Well thin, Jawn, some of them lads that burn up th' highway an' gets tickets from me are sore. They've told Cap'n Brand that you speed along up there over my district at around 80 and never get a ticket because you an' me is friends an' you an' my sister is keepin' company."

John Rowan grinned.

"It's mostly true. What did you say?"

"Then I never caught you, Jawn. But when you ask where I'm workin' tonight you plan to do your speedin' there so's not to get a ticket. It's out—another complaint an' I'll be in trouble."

DRIVES CAUTIOUSLY

"All right, Dan."

Officer Tiernan was quite right about it and John Rowan knew it."

He and Molly had their evening drive up through the parkway and he was careful to do no speeding, for if he got a ticket they would ask Dan at the station how it was he got tickets when he wasn't on Dan's route.

When they got back to Molly's Steve Plamton was there on the little front porch with Bessie, Molly's kid sister.

They all talked for a while and Steve and Bessie went down the street for ice cream.

"How long has this been going on, Molly?" John asked.

Molly laughed at him and gave him a playful slap.

"Be yourself, Jack," she said, "you may be runnin' a big store, but you're not runnin' th' Tiernan family. You talk as though Bessie shouldn't have a beau."

"All right," John said.

Molly looked at him in surprise.

"You say that queer, Jack," she said, "do you mean that Steve isn't all right?"

"Who am I to gossip? Bessie's just a kid—I—I sort of wish she went around with a boy friend we all know, one of our own crowd."

"Do you or don't you know anything against Steve?"

"Nothing I could prove—I just don't like to see Bessie fall for a guy like him."

Is it me or Bessie you're goin' to marry, Jack?"

COUPLE RETURN

"You know—and forget it, Molly."

Bessie and Steve came back with ice cream. John and Molly went inside for a chat before he went home. When he left, they were still there.

Matters went along all right, apparently, for some months and then Steve Plamton wasn't seen around the Tiernan home any more. John Rowan finally noticed it.

"Did Bessie get wise and give him the gate?" John asked Molly.

"I gave him the gate," Molly answered, shortly.

"Trouble?"

"He took Bessie places and gave her liquor. He kept her out all hours and twice I found her in the front hall, too far gone to get up to her room. After that when he called I had a talk with him."

"Good for you. I'll bet you said plenty."

"He hasn't been back since."

"I'm glad. I didn't like him, nor things I've heard about him. Bessie can find plenty of nice boy friends."

"Sure," Molly agreed.

John took Molly up the Plympton Turnpike. He was in a hurry to get to the Plympton Arms for the 10 o'clock show and he was ignoring all speed laws when a motorcycle cop gave chase, cut him off and sent him to the curb.

"For th' love of Mike!" cried the cop.

It was Traffic Officer Dan Tiernan.

"Dan—of all things—be on your way, there's a good brother," Molly said.

"No, he's in bad on my account now. Pass me a ticket, Dan, it will stop a lot of talk," John ordered.

John Rowan got the ticket, went to court, pleaded guilty and paid his fine. Officer Tiernan told him, later that this put him in good with his superiors who were sure that he was favoring the man who was to marry his sister.

Not long after this John and Molly came back rather late from a ride in the country and a dinner and dance. They found Dan Tiernan sitting on the steps. To their cheerful greeting Dan said, "Sit here, Molly—get a grip on yourself!"

He put his arm about his sister.

"What's happened to Bessie?" Molly asked. Molly, Bessie and Dan were all left of the Tiernan family.

"She—they rushed her to th' hospital—"

"What? Where? I must go to her now! Oh, Jack, take me quick—"

Dan put his hand on his sister's arm.

"No—it's—we—"

"Too late? You mean—"

When Dan nodded Molly collapsed in his arms. Jack did what he could then and good old Mrs. Harris came in to stay with Molly. When John questioned Dan he shook his head.

"It's not up to me to tell, not even you, Jack—that will be up to Molly—if she lives through th' shock and sees fit to tell you."

"God, Dan, you mean it wasn't a sudden sickness or an accident?"

"Accident, we'll call it, Jack—that's as far as I can go. She had a headache and got hold of th' wrong bottle."

John Rowan stared at Dan for a moment and then averted his eyes. He couldn't bear to see Dan's misery.

RECORDED AS ACCIDENT

"Of course it was an accident," he said, quietly.

And so it was recorded.

After a while Molly had a brief talk with John.

"You haven't asked, Jack—and, as we're to be married, you have a right to know. We won't mention it after this. It was no accident, Bessie's going. She discovered that Plamton had taken advantage of her after loading her with drinks until she passed out."

John stared at Molly and saw the agony in her face.

"We won't speak of it again," was all that he said.

More weeks passed. Traffic Officer Dan Tiernan had become a grim man. John Rowan wasn't quite the same. Molly said little, but worried greatly.

Now and then Dan would speak two words to John:

"Seen him?"

John's answer would be three words:

"No. Have you?"

Dan would shake his head.

After more than six months, John Rowan called around early one night at Molly's home and met Dan.

"Where are you on duty tonight, Dan?" he asked.

Dan stared at him in surprise.

"Why should you know? Molly isn't going out yet, you'll not be burning up the highways, Jack."

"No, of course not. I merely asked a question. I want to know."

"Well, I'll be up the Flat River Parkway from the junction to Hahndale."

"Just up and down there?"

"Sure, Jack, but why—"

"Give me a ticket, Dan—give it to me now, and make the hour eleven thirty tonight—a ticket for speeding."

Officer Dan Tiernan stared at John Rowan for a moment.

"I'll not. I'll attend—"

"Give me the ticket as I said or refuse me, it won't matter," John said, sharply.

Dan shook his head, but he wrote out the ticket.

"You made the pinch just north of the marble bridge. I was doing sixty-five—don't forget that, Dan, or the hour, eleven thirty."

Dan started to speak but changed his mind and gave John the ticket with his own carbon duplicate safely stowed away.

The next afternoon papers reported the strange murder of Stephen Plamton, who had just returned to the city after having been working in the East for six months or more.

Headquarters men worked diligently on it. It had to be cleared up. Too many crimes were going unsolved and it was getting election time.

Detectives Hilton and Gregg found two witnesses who recognized a man coming from Plamton's apartment about 11 o'clock on the night of the murder and these witnesses agreed that the man was, or at least greatly assembled, John Rowan.

They went over to John's shoe store and asked him to come to headquarters. John went. They began to question him.

"What night was that, I disremember," John said mildly.

They told him the date. John Rowan laughed then.

"That's a date I wouldn't forget—I was pinched for speeding up the parkway at the marble bridge, which is some 20 miles from here," John said.

"Are you sure?"

"Sure I'm sure. My best friend pinched me because he said it was his duty. It cost me 25 bucks, second offense."

DAN TESTIFIES

"Who pinched you, Rowan?"

"Dan Tiernan. It must have been near midnight for I didn't get back home until nearly one that morning."

They grilled him more, sparring for time to get at the records and send for Dan. When Dan came they asked him, in the presence of John.

"Sure I pinched him—I admit I give him plenty of warnin's in the past, but even my first arrest didn't do no good so I pinched him again," Dan said.

"That was a lucky pinch for you, Rowan," Detective Hilton said, and he explained to Dan why Rowan had been brought in.

"Yes," John Rowan said gravely, looking Dan Tiernan straight in the eye. "I agree with you Dan—it proved to be a lucky pinch."

I HAD A BIG LONG TALK WITH GLADIOLA TODAY. IN SOME WAYS SHE'S VERY SCATTER-BRAINED. EVERY TIME I MENTIONED ALL THE MONEY BUFFLY HAS, HER MIND SORT OF WANDERED TO SOME OTHER SUBJECT.
BUFFLY PRACTICALLY ADMITTED TO ME THAT GLADIOLA IS AN HEIRESS.
I KNOW SHE'S ACCUSTOMED TO WEARING THOSE BIG DIAMONDS, BECAUSE SHE MAKES NO EFFORT WHATEVER TO FLASH THEM IN OTHER PERSONS EYES
BUFFLY SHOWED ME A BIG ROLL OF THOUSAND AND FIVE HUNDRED DOLLAR BILLS, MY WORD! AND I REMEMBER WHEN HE THOUGHT A FIVE HUNDRED DOLLAR BILL WAS JUST A WALL STREET RUMOR
ONE THING I LIKE ABOUT HER IS THAT SHE ISN'T ALL STUFFED UP WITH IMPORTANCE. MOST HEIRESSES ARE—WELL SO DIFFERENT.
I NEVER DID BELIEVE IN MARRYING FOR MONEY BUT I GUESS THERE WASN'T MUCH ELSE FOR OLD BUFFLY TO DO. HE ALWAYS FELT THE SAME ABOUT WORK AS A FISH DOES ABOUT SHORE LEAVE.
SHE SHOWED ME SOME PERFUME THIS MORNING. A CUT GLASS BOTTLE WITH A SORT OF GOLD FILIGREE TOP AND THE ODOR WAS SIMPLY MARVELOUS.
WELL I'LL ADMIT I'VE HAD A LOT OF TROUBLE WITH HIM ABOUT BORROWED MONEY AND SO FORTH, BUT IT'S EASY TO OVERLOOK STUFF LIKE THAT WHEN YOU KNOW A RELATIVE HAS REALLY MADE GOOD. WHY SNEER AT OLD BUFFLY MERELY BECAUSE HE HAS PROBABLY TWO OR THREE MILLION.

A Chance for Phillips

Councilman Has Opportunity to Serve City Through Investigation of Drinking by Children.

Mrs. John M. Phillips, a social worker whose efforts to make life happier for the poor and unfortunate of the South Side deserve the highest praise, is quoted to the effect that whisky-drinking by children in that section is far from uncommon.

Her remarks were prompted by the case of Theresa Marhefka, the 12-year-old girl found lying on the floor of a "candy store" unconscious as the result of drinking a quart of moonshine. Apropos of the case Mrs. Phillips is quoted as saying she was trying to stamp out drinking by South Side children.

Mrs. Phillips' husband is a member of Council, affiliated with "the Mayor's majority," and a candidate for election to another term. The situation in which Mrs. Phillips is so interested is one in which he can render great service if he will.

Council has the power and the duty to investigate the conduct of the police. Widespread liquor-drinking by children in speakeasies indicates laxness on the part of the police. It calls for inquiry. Let Mr. Phillips call upon his fellow councilmen to summon the police officials responsible for law enforcement on the South Side for questioning.

Little Sisters' Appeal

The Help They Need to Rebuild Their Home for the Aged Should Be Promptly Forthcoming.

The Little Sisters of the Poor are asking the people of the Pittsburgh district to help them rehabilitate their Home for the Aged, recently damaged—indeed, almost destroyed—by fire.

They need $300,000 for the job—a large sum, yet one that should be easily raised, even in hard times, in a community of this size and for a project so meritorious.

This is a charity to which every humane person should be glad to contribute. There is no other class of people more pathetic, more deserving of philanthropy, than helpless old men and women like those to whose care and comfort the Little Sisters have devoted their lives.

They do not limit their benevolence to Catholics, by the way.

Contributions to the fund should be forthcoming promptly, that the Home may be rebuilt and the old people comfortably housed before winter sets in.

The New Bridge

It Fills a Long Felt Need and Will Help Promote the Development of Several Boroughs.

The formal opening yesterday of the new bridge across the Ohio River from McKees Rocks to the Ohio River boulevard was worthy of the pomp and ceremony surrounding the event.

The bridge fills a long felt want. It will permit a valuable saving of time and distance to those whose business requires them to go back and forth between the lower North Side or the North Boroughs and McKees Rocks and contiguous territory.

The short cut will be appreciated and the bridge is certain to carry heavy traffic. It is a satisfaction, therefore, to know that it has been sturdily built.

This new artery for transportation should be of great assistance in the development of the boroughs principally affected on both sides of the river. It will increase real estate values and help business.

The bridge is a thing of beauty, and that, too, must be reckoned among its benefits.

A Job for Park

Striking of Fraudulent Names from Assessment List Should Not Be Permitted to End the Incident.

Encouraged, perhaps, by the extremely lenient sentences that have been imposed on persons convicted of election frauds, someone, according to members of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, added 1,095 illegal names to the assessment lists of the Twenty-second Ward.

The names were stricken from the lists yesterday, but that should not be permitted to end the incident.

This and other alleged cases of fraud or attempted fraud in connection with the approaching election call for investigation—for investigation as thorough and painstaking as would be made of a major crime.

There are a number of officials whose duties obligate them to look into matters like this; but the responsibility rests chiefly on District Attorney Park.

Grand Jury Cases

Magistrates at Last Handle Lottery and Bootlegging Charges as the Law Requires.

Something a little out of the ordinary was noted in the city police courts yesterday.

At the Center avenue court a man charged with operating a lottery—the familiar "numbers" game, based on daily sales on the Chicago Stock Exchange—was held for the grand jury in $2,500 bail.

In Mt. Washington court a woman whose 12-year-old daughter had been found helplessly intoxicated was held for the grand jury in $1,000 bail on a liquor charge.

Though her place, according to the police, had been previously raided on three occasions, she was much surprised when the magistrate said the District Attorney would have to look into the case.

She had reason to be surprised. It has been the practice of some, if not all, of the police court magistrates to assume jurisdiction themselves in cases of bootlegging, gambling and commercial vice, and to dismiss the defendants, if found guilty, with light fines.

The system has practically amounted to the licensing of vice, and has paved the way for corrupt alliances between public officials and racketeers.

Besides, it has been in violation of the law, which requires magistrates to hold the defendants in such cases for the grand jury.

It is to be hoped that the new policy indicated by the action taken in the two cases cited is to continue after the election.

Throwing Out the 'Life-Line'

Germany, disarmed and dismembered, is fast sinking in the financial morass created by the trouble-breeding Treaty of Versailles.

France, ancient enemy of the Germanic peoples, on the other hand, is in a position of greater security than ever before. In military and economic strength she stands alone, towering above all her European neighbors.

France has never forgotten 1870, and bristles with military preparations. She is the stumbling block to peace in Europe.

Will she help her ancient enemy recover from the conditions imposed by the Versailles Treaty?

YES, in the manner portrayed by Cartoonist Enright above.

The War of the Sexes

Is there a sex-war?

* * *

There has always been talk of "sex-antagonism" ever since Adam stalked in with his first rabbit and ordered Eve to make it into chicken-a-la-king. But most of it seems to have been WOMAN'S antagonism against the "tyrant, man."

* * *

Now the tables have been turned, and man is beginning to suspect that HE is the "abused" party.

DON'T TAKE ME TOO SERIOUSLY!

Even in the modern man's love-making there is a defiant, "catch-me-if-you-can" attitude, which starts the whole thing off with a war-cry.

* * *

When men made "playthings" of women, they used to preserve the outward appearance of chivalry and devotion. Now a man no longer reverently kisses a woman's finger-tips; he doesn't even take a girl tenderly in his arms. He just grabs her around the neck, and BESTOWS a kiss upon her—almost defiantly.

* * *

He no longer fights for her love he fights AGAINST it, with all his mind and with all his heart, and with all his sixty-horse won't-power!

* * *

He no longer pets her with that gallant protecting air, and talks baby-talk to her—he just leans back and grudgingly permits her to pet HIM.

* * *

His fondest and most ardent manner is a sort of good-natured joshing which would have sent the old-fashioned girl running to Father in tears.

* * *

His love-making is as casual as an afternoon call, as subtle as a saxophone and as flattering as a 10-cent mirror. Even when he springs an ardent "line," he does it swaggeringly, as if to say, "Don't take me too seriously!"

WHO SAID MARRIAGE?

The villain in the old-fashioned love-story had at least the grace to PRETEND he was going to marry the girl. But the modern hero takes no such chances. He looks coldly into her eyes and defies her to marry him.

* * *

Men have always defended themselves against women, secretly—but now they openly defy them. The war of the sexes is no longer a matter of subtle strategy or a battle of wits. It is a wide-open street fight, in which every girl is struggling for conquest, and every man is fighting for his liberty.

* * *

There seems to be something wrong about it. A little truce during courtship would make the domestic Armageddon all the more exciting.

* * *

But, at least, the bride of today can never remind her husband of all the glamorous and beautiful things "you said before we were married."

ENGLAND DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Nothing perhaps adds such a cheerful chirrup to London as its flower girls, street characters rapidly vanishing since the war. All are called "girls," yet most are women past middle age, swathed in plaid shawls and wearing bobbing straw bonnets.

They address one as "Dearie" and before they can be stopped slip a flower into a lapel. Flower girls are often descendants of grandmothers who button-holed dandies along Pall Mall in Victorian days. They are the first of London's curb hawkers to arise and last to retire.

Catch an early morning train to Dover and a flower girl will peg you before you reach the station. Leave a night club late and one of them is bound to dart out from a dark recess with a bright nosegay. Almost constant rebuffs have not dampened their ardor.

I enjoy, too, watching sidewalk artists—known as "screevers"—who tack canvases on building walls and parapets to sketch, sometimes in charcoal and sometimes in water colors. Nothing pleases them so much as to collect a little knot of watchers.

It is then they "show off," indulging bold sweeps and quick strokes with graceful flourishes. They stand off, cocking their heads this way and that for perspectives but if the crowd moves off they immediately droop on a camp stool and roll a cigaret. "Screevers" only labor when watched.

Just now unemployment has forced many jobless to unusual stunts to attract attention to their plight. Turning down the Embankment today, was a figure moving on all fours. Closer a card pinned on his back read: "Give me a job so I can stand up and face the world like a man!"

Then there is the waggish fellow who could double for Jack Pearl and holds forth near Covent Garden holding in outstretched arms a detached pair of handlebars. A card in his cap does not ask alms. It merely reads: "What is left of my bicycle!"

* * *

A telegram—I love to unfold them here—at my hotel incites me to watch the "sculling on the Thames" tomorrow. It starts at 6 a. m. and I wouldn't get up that early to look at the fastest scullion in England.

* * *

In some ways London is one of the best governed cities in the world. Traffic is more expertly regulated than in New York, quite a city, too, or Paris, shown by the small number of automobile fatalities. A long resident tells me that he never saw a street fight — the penalties are too severe. The pickpocket is a rarity. A large percentage of fine London mansions are unlocked at night. Holdups are uncommon.

* * *

Every newspaperman the world over hopes some day to see New York's Park row and London's Fleet street—the best advertised newspaper rows of all. Fleet street is a short narrow thoroughfare running down a sharp hill to Ludgate circus. It is liveliest around 5 a. m., when presses are roaring with the final editions for London and provincial England. Reporters are called journalists and look it. Monocles are not infrequent and canes are as much of a fixture as the vest pocket lead pencil. Secretaries for star journalists make their engagements. Scribes here lack the accustomed blood current. There are ex-American reporters in Fleet street. Also a managing editor and a sprinkling of sub editors. Most I have met "go native" with a broad A and morning coat in a jiffy. One today who has only been here 18 months has already given "while" the bum's rush for "whilst."

This afternoon I was introduced to a recent diversion in London's social life called "sluffing." Around tea tables one is given a pad and pencil and quotations are read from classical books. The one identifying the most authors wins the prize—all higher intelligentsia. I had no idea of being so good. I may give a sluff recital at Carnegie this fall.

* * *

I dropped into a nursing home—how much softer than the word hospital—this evening to see Laurence D'Orsay, British "silly ass" actor, well known to Broadway, who has been gravely ill. It was too late to be admitted, but I was told he was slowly recovering.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Once upon a time, John Burroughs wrote a poem called "WAITING." The first verse went like this—

"Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
"Nor care for wind, or tide, or sea;
"I rave no more 'gainst time or fate,
"For, lo! my own shall come to me."

And the last verse went like this—

"The stars come nightly to the sky;
"The tidal wave unto the sea;
"Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
"Can keep my own away from me."

Every little while someone sends me that poem. During these last difficult months it has arrived much more frequently, always accompanied by this statement: "Isn't it beautiful, Elsie? This is how I'm trying to live my life."

And every time I read that poem and hear that statement I get a violent pain in the neck.

Waiting . . . waiting quietly and confidently . . . it's a brave and wise thing to do, WHEN YOU CAN'T DO ANYTHING ELSE.

Faith . . . there's tremendous power in faith. It will move mountains, BUT IT WON'T MOVE THEM ALONE.

You've got to do more than wait before your "own will come" to you. You must have more than faith to move mountains. FAITH WITHOUT WORKS IS A FLOP. YOU'VE GOT TO SHOW ACTION.

"The stars (crons J. B.) come nightly to the sky.
"The tidal wave unto the sea;
"Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
"Can keep my own away from me."

Don't you believe it? Plenty of things can keep your own away from you.

Your own stupidity——
Your own cowardice——
Your own laziness——

Your own conceit, dishonesty, silly sentimentality, and peevishness—all these things can keep your own away from you. And if you think that God is going to get big-hearted and rescue and reward you, in spite of these handicaps, you're just out of luck.

As a matter of fact, you have no "own" until you earn it.

Often you hear a man say —"I'm entitled to a job. The world owes me a living——"

That is not true. You're not entitled to anything—until you fight for it. You have no rights—until you establish them. No right to a job . . . no right to love . . . no right to happiness . . . no right to power or popularity or riches or comfort——

All of these are blessed things to have, but they will not come to you automatically. And if, by good fortune, the chance to possess them comes your way, that chance will do you no good unless, by your own determination and hard work, turn it to your advantage.

Don't go around expecting luck . . . insisting on your right to happiness . . . wasting your time in self pity and resentment if you are unlucky, unhappy. It's as much up to you to make your own luck, your own hapiness, as it is to brush your own teeth.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Toil

Toil is Earth's dower,
A coin, a flower
That heaven has sent
Our care to lighten,
Our days to brighten
With sweet content.

Toil brings us laughter
And peace comes after
The weariest day;
All anxious scheming,
All futile dreaming
It bars away.

Toil . . . let us take it,
This gift, and make it
Our greatest pride;
And in this treasure
Find every pleasure
Life else denied.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

Our grandparents and great-grandparents had "parlors."

Cold, stiff rooms that were shut off from use except on Sunday afternoons or when guests were present.

Now we don't have parlors, but we do have a "guest room" or "guest chamber"—the most beautiful and expensive rooms in the house and usually the wife permits none of the family to sleep on those "marvelous springs under down comforters."

In fact the family is forbidden to enter that room.

Something might be misplaced or show finger marks.

Week after week and month after month, perhaps, the pleasantest room in the house is kept for guests that seldom come.

Certain members of the family sleep on hard beds, in bleak rooms, under worn and faded quilts and blankets.

Naturally the desire of the wife is for an attractive guest room.

But why can't some of the really "guesty" things be put away and brought out only when guests come, the lovely bedding stored in the chest.

We ridicule the old fashioned "parlor" and substitute a "guest room."

Where a Great Man Failed

By Claude G. Bowers

A professor out in Ohio is at work on a biography of Benjamin Harrison, once president of the United States, and though it will probably be an excellent biography it is not apt to create much of a stir. This will not be because the subject of the biography is not worth while. He happens to have been one of the five or six most intellectual men ever in the White House.

As far as mere brain power goes, it may be doubted whether we have had any one better equipped. But he had one term, was defeated for a second, and during his one term he managed to alienate most of the leaders of his own party. He was the beau ideal of the aristocracy of the intellect—a man of intellectual power, indifferent to popular applause, and absolutely independent. And the lesson from it all is this—that brain alone does not make for leadership, and that in public life no man can afford to be absolutely independent of those with whom he has to work.

* * *

Boys Had Occasion To Give Thanks

Once, when a high school boy, a chum and I had an engagement with Harrison at his Indianapolis home after his retirement from the presidency. We were ushered into a small front room, overcrowded with furniture and bric-a-brac, and told to wait. Soon we heard someone descending the stairs, and with the realization that we were about to meet a great statesman, our hearts fluttered. In walked Harrison—a short, stockily built man, with a close-cropped beard, and a cold eye. Without a smile, he shook hands solemnly, motioned us to our chairs, and, facing us, folded his hands in silence. Nothing to make it easier for mere children. We had a request to make, and made it.

Speaking in a low tone, barely audible, he sought to discourage us with objections. We met these objections and he sat looking out the window inanimate as a statue. Then he replied with new objections. And so in a circle we went. Soon the boys concluded that he was merely seeking an excuse to refuse us; and the sense of awe gave way to one of resentment and dislike. We answered his objections with scant courtesy, I'm afraid. At length he agreed, went with us to the door, shook hands coldly, and we departed.

Infuriated at the man, we stalked downtown exhausting our vocabularies of contempt when we met Beveridge, not then in the Senate, who had arranged the interview. "How did we come out?" he asked. We answered with invective. "How long were you there?" he asked. "About 40 minutes," we answered. "Then go right back and thank him on your knees. If you had been two United States Senators he would not have given you five minutes."

* * *

Why Harrison Failed As a Leader

The incident illustrates Harrison's failure as a leader. He snubbed the great, and often, no doubt when they deserved snubbing; but he did not really know how to be, or seem, kindly, to mere children. We afterwards learned that he had interposed objections just to hear how we would answer and that he enjoyed the bout as much as we hated it. But he did not even look his enjoyment. His eyes were cold and without mirth; and I can see him after all these years sitting there with folded hands, his pale face showing a million criss-cross wrinkles. He was a great lawyer—none better anywhere. He was a great orator—without rhetorical frills or elocutionary flourishes, but with diction perfectly chaste, with a close knit reasoning that was more beautiful than flowers of speech. And in his dignity he had the air of one speaking with authority.

No President making a swing around the circuit, as some have, has ever approached him in the feat of making precisely the kind of talk that perfectly fitted the community to which it was addressed. Everywhere he casually introduced a note of local history, and this was commented upon by the press as remarkable.

In the presidency he had brains, and a real capacity for statesmanship, and a courage no one ever doubted, and a will. But he did not know how to adapt himself to the public men with whom he had to work. He made enemies of most of them, and he did not care. He would have made a great minister for an absolute monarch of the time of Elizabeth and Catherine De Medici, but in the days of Charles I he would have lost his head at the Tower—and lost it with the haughty dignity of a gentleman.

* * *

Popularity the Big Stick With Roosevelt

And with Harrison it was temperament and not due to inexperience in dealing with members of the Senate. He had been a member of the Senate for six years and a distinguished one. He must have known the congressional mind as well as anyone; but he probably had no use for it. Andrew Jackson did not care for it either. Having been a member of the Senate in earlier life he had resigned because he did not like it. But he learned how to use it.

Roosevelt, who had never been in Congress, was erratic in his relations with the Senate—either fulsome in flattery or denunciatory; but no one could have done what he did and "get away with it." He was the idol of the "mob" and that popularity with the Big Stick.

Mr. Hoover, without the intellectual qualities of Harrison, has the latter's distaste for dealing with the Senate. He is instinctively an autocrat. It irks him to have to explain. All his life he had given orders and dealt with men under him; and the Senator does not think he is under a President's order at all. If the President thinks so it is just too bad for the President. That is the reason that Mr. Hoover is unpopular on both sides of the Senate Chamber. One swallow does not make a summer and it takes more than Senator Fess to make a Senate—or even the Republican side of the chamber.

* * *

Public Life Has Its Own Technique

Thus the notion of some people that a big businessman with no political experience, and unfamiliar with the tone and temper of Congress would be a great improvement on some one trained in public life is known to be absurd to anyone who knows his Washington. Public life has its technique as well as business; and it must be a more subtle technique than that of business. It is easy for a strong man in any line to know his own mind; but a leader in the presidency must also have the knack of knowing the other man's mind as well.

No one has ever been the master that Jefferson was in dealing with men. He had the rare power of so managing a discussion as to lead the other man into making the suggestion that was in his own mind; of gently combating it for a moment; and then gracefully admitting that the other man was right. But he was the most consummate politician this country has yet produced.

Had Benjamin Harrison had a fraction of the tact, diplomacy and subtlety of Jefferson he would have made a great President. But whether or not he was a great President he was great as a man—as an individual; and in moral stature he loomed mountain high above Blaine, who felt it was a humiliation to serve under him as Secretary of State.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

Do you know:

1. What famous American naval captain said, "I have not yet begun to fight," although his ship was badly damaged?
2. Where is Winston-Salem?
3. What do the red and white stripes on a barber's pole signify?
4. What theatrical producer is known for "Glorifying the American Girl?"
5. Who wrote the opera "Pelleas and Melisande?"

Fill each blank:

6. The faintly marked letter, figure or design seen on paper when held to the light is called the ————.
7. ———— holds the place in Great Britain given to baseball in the United States.
8. The institution offering training on the level of the first two college years is known as the ————.
9. The most destructive insect which attacks the cotton plant is ————.
10. A hall porter in France is known as a ————.

Match correctly:

11. Conjecture	means concord
12. Edict	means sepulchre
13. Position	is a supposition
14. Tomb	means a decree
15. Harmony	means place

Answer to today's test:

1. John Paul Jones. 2. A twin city in North Carolina. 3. Barbers once practiced bleeding and leeching; hence, red, blood; white, bandages. 4. Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr. 5. Claude Debussy. 6. Watermark. 7. Braddock Political Fight Bitter as Primary Nears

MANY IN RACE FOR JUSTICE AND COUNCIL

Warm Contests of Two Years Ago Recalled; Mehalik Unopposed for Constable

Fresh in the minds of Braddock voters is the local primary of two years ago, one of the hottest and most bitter in the town's history, when James H. Rose, at that time justice of the peace, defeated Richard Butler, plainclothesman of the Braddock police force, and George H. House, justice of the peace and councilman, his two opponents for the office of burgess. At the same election, William L. Callahan, out-going burgess and a candidate for the office of tax collector in Braddock, lost to the incumbent, who was a candidate to succeed himself, Thomas L. Howard.

All of the organization candidates, headed by Rose and Howard, with Michael J. Verosky, "the power behind the throne," came through, and peace and harmony has reigned, at least on the surface.

FIGHT FOR JUSTICE

As the September primary looms this year, politics are again the talk of the town. From present indications, the office of Justice of the Peace will be the most hotly contested. A. M. Parlak, who succeeded 'Squire Rose when the latter resigned to become Burgess, is conceded to be powerful. The second justice job is the one concerning which there is much conjecture. Besides Parlak, there are four other candidates, some of whom have been indorsed by both tickets. They are George H. House, Cornelius McLaughlin, George McDonough, brother of Night Lieut. Edward McDonough, of the Braddock police, and P. J. Caulfield.

For the office of Councilman, two will be nominated from the First Ward, one from the Second Ward, one from the Third Ward and two from the Fourth Ward. Michael J. Verosky and John Gallagher, Jr., have no opposition in the First. Leo Buckley will oppose George H. House, the latter a candidate for re-election, in the Second Ward; William J. Tracey has no opposition in the Third Ward, while Lawrence Weber and Jacob Mendelblatt, incumbents, will be opposed by Fred Haas and John Strathern in the Fourth Ward.

Michael Mehalik, chief of police of Braddock, has no opposition in his candidacy for High Constable in Braddock. He is also a candidate for the office of Constable in the First Ward. Joseph Slane, incumbent, is opposed by J. Mantio in the Second Ward for Constable. In the Third Ward, Emmett R. Keough, a deputy for Fred Seim, the latter head of the Braddock police force for many years and Constable since he relinquished the police job, will be a candidate for Constable with opposition from Thomas Frain. In the Fourth Ward Charles Berthold aspires to re-election and is oppose by Samuel Chigrin.

For the office of School Director, Thomas H. Snowwhite, incumbent, will run again. Two are to be elected and the other two candidates are Max Burger and John Zukovich.

Winners of Garden Contest to Be Named

Prize winners in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement garden contest will be announced August 27 at a "round-the-world" entertainment at the settlement house. Many of the children entered in the contest have planted gardens in out-of-the-way places in the Hill district, removing stones, in some instances, to make way for their flowers and vegetables.

Whitaker Man to See Bride Thrice Weekly in Presence Of Parents Pending Ruling

Mike Czaplinski, 19 year old husband, of Whitaker, will have to wait until September 1 to learn whether he is to be reunited with his wife. Mrs. Evelyn Grace Cutnell Czaplinski, 18, was taken from his home by her parents seven days after they were married, according to testimony at a hearing Tuesday before Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court. The husband sought a writ of habeas corpus to have his bride returned to him.

Judge Gray ordered another hearing to be held in September, and ruled that the husband be permitted to visit his wife three nights a week at her grandmother's home in the presence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cutnell, who told Judge Gray they wanted their daughter to complete her last high school year in Munhall.

The young people were married in Dravosburg July 30. They lived in West Homestead until August 6, when the bride's parents took her home while he was away from the house, Czaplinski told the court.

CLUB INDORSES M'GOVERN

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, candidate to succeed himself, has been indorsed by the East End Civic Club. The organization indorsement also has been placed on Ralph H. Smith, candidate for District Attorney, and Benjamin Lencher, candidate for Judge of County Court.

Attorney Reuben J. Gershon is president of the Civic Club. Other officers include Dr. S. J. Rosenberg, vice president, and J. B. Mones, secretary.

Two New Election Inspectors Named

Joseph Everson, 3818 Howley avenue, West Homestead, has been appointed majority inspector for the Seventh District, Sixth Ward, West Homestead, in place of Vernon Ruffner, resigned, by Judge James H. Gray, in Common Pleas Court.

Ray Jackson, 460 West Seventh avenue, has been named minority inspector in place of John Richards, moved.

Tests Speed New Homestead Bridge

A $10,000 appropriation for test borings for the proposed $3,000,000 high-level bridge over the Monongahela River at Homestead has been made by the County Commissioners, according to County Director of Public Works Norman Brown.

Construction of the bridge is to start in January, Brown said, and will require 18 months for completion.

JANET ROCKWELL DIVING INTO POOL HER FATHER BUILT

NURSES' HOME DRIVE OPENS

J. E. Lose, president of the board of directors, has announced the launching of a campaign to provide furniture for the new nurses' home of the Homestead Hospital. There are 59 rooms in the home, which residents of the district are being asked to furnish, according to Mr. Lose.

He said that the 54 bedrooms at the home will be furnished in a standard pattern at an estimated cost of $125 each.

The cost of completing the four-story building will be $200,000, according to Lose, who pointed out that this amount was too great to raise in a campaign.

Two Diving Boards Lead to Pond, Fed by Spring

A pool nestled among trees in a gully on the W. F. Rockwell property, 140 Hutchinson avenue, Edgewood, is proving most popular to members of the Rockwell family, their friends and neighbors.

Built for his small daughter, Janet, by Mr. Rockwell, the spring-fed pool has two diving boards.

A long flight of steps leading from the driveway provides access to the pool, which is partly hidden from the house by a small orchard. Concreted walks and dressing rooms were also provided when the pool was built.

RAILWAYS TOLD TO REMOVE SWITCHES

N. Braddock Council Bans Electric Safety Devices; Paving Contract Awarded

The Pittsburgh Railways Company has been ordered to remove two electric switches recently installed on Bell avenue, North Braddock, by the Borough Council, which regards the electrically controlled safety devices impractical in this vicinity. Permission to install another electric switch on Jones avenue below Bell avenue was also refused the company at last week's Council meeting.

A letter advising the railways company of the borough's action has been mailed, according to the borough secretary.

The F. C. Mayer Company, of Bridgeville, was awarded the contract for the paving of Wilson avenue, First Ward, at a cost of $21.20 a thousand. The concrete contract for this project was divided between the McCrady-Rogers Company and Rutter Brothers, at $7.20 per cubic yard.

PRESBYTERIANS SHOW GAIN

The First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg has an enrollment of 2,040, Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, moderator of Philadelphia, announced this week in his report. The Pittsburgh Presbyteries retained their leadership in the United States in total members enrolled during the church year ending March 31, 1931.

Largest enrollment is recorded for the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh with 2,502 members.

A total of 97,825 new members were added to the church during the year on confession of faith, according to the report.

Wilmerding Plans To Annex 40 Acres

Verner L. Barbor, Borough Solicitor of Wilmerding, has prepared an annexation ordinance upon petition of property owners of Patton Township who asked that about 40 acres of the township land be added to the borough, officials said today.

Barbor presented the ordinance to Council at a special meeting this week and it was passed by a vote of 4 to 3. The ordinance is now in the hands of the Burgess, but will be returned to Council for final consideration at a future meeting.

COUNCIL SCORED AS CONDITIONS GROW WORSE

Nothing Done to Relieve Low Pressure Menace With New Pumping Unit Incompleted

Relief measures to augment the low water pressure in Squirrel Hill apparently have suffered another setback, with the announcement of Assistant Managing Engineer G. L. Hendrickson that the new 6,000,000 gallon pumping unit at Herron Hill pumping station will not be put into service immediately, as previously announced.

Hendrickson, who is James H. Kennon's assistant in the city's Bureau of Water, said yesterday that a "closing in" casting has been ordered to complete the unit, but has not yet arrived, and that he did not know when it would be ready.

CONDITIONS SCORED

Although City Council promised action last year to remedy the low water pressure on Denniston avenue, nothing has been done so far and the condition is getting steadily worse, according to Joe Hecht, 1615 Denniston avenue.

The residents have been complaining for years, Hecht said. He declared that a petition was circulated last year and was presented Council with the signatures of the residents of the streets at a regular session and aid was promised. Engineers are said to have declared that a new main was the only remedy for the condition.

Nothing has been done by Council to make good its promise, Hecht declared. The new Beacon street water main was pointed out by Hecht as an example of what Council can do when pressed.

NEW PETITION LIKELY

Another petition is expected to be circulated in hope that Council will be forced to take some action, Hecht concludes.

"When we are using water in the basement or are using the hose, it is impossible to get any water at all on the second floor. On wash day the conditions are terrible. Something must be done. We have been put off with promises long enough. Now that election is coming on the politicians might be induced to do something. I guess if we keep after Council, sooner or later they will do something."

Radio Singer to Wed Schenectady Man

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Evelyn Ruth Lemley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry Lemley, of Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, to John Leslie Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marcellus Mills, of Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Lemley is a member of the Mendelssohn Choir and a radio singer. No date has been set for her wedding.

Braddock Friend Recalls Early Days of Dinkey

Perhaps no living resident of the Braddock district was better acquainted with or knew more intimately, Alva Clymer Dinkey, one time president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and president of the Midvale Steel Company at the time of his death a few days ago, than George H. House, councilman of Braddock for 25 years and justice of the peace in Braddock.

'Squire House, two years the junior of Dinkey, attended school in the First Ward with the boy who rose to such heights in the steel industry. When George and Alva finished their studies in the eight-room building, the only school in the town, they applied on the same day for a job at the Edgar Thomson steel works. Capt. William R. Jones was general superintendent. It was to Thomas Addenbrook, superintendent of the bricklayers and stonemasons, that the youths put their pleas for the job of water boy.

Side by side, day in and day out for three years, House and Dinkey carried buckets of water to thirsty crews of hot, dusty men. Their pay was 50 cents a day. House later graduated to the job of pulling doors at the mill, remaining with the Carnegie Company for 17 years, while Dinkey, through the influence of his brother-in-law, Charles Schwab, was given many opportunities for advancement. The man's own efforts, his one-time schoolmate and fellow water-carrier, says, had much to do with his success.

HOST OF CANDIDATES SEEKING NOMINATION IN HOMESTEAD

INDEPENDENTS STIR PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

Only One Council Candidate Unopposed in Seven Races As Fight Grow Heated

Homestead's political caldron is expected to reach a boiling point September 15 when a host of candidates seek nomination to borough offices. The contests are expected to be especially heated this year because of the number of independent candidates in the field.

Seven councilmen are to be nominated, one from each of the first three wards and two each from the Fourth and Fifth Wards. In only one instance is a candidate for council unopposed. Councilman Martin F. Delaney is the lone candidate for nomination in the Second Ward.

John M. Herwick, former ordinance officer of the borough, and Joseph Ladia are the aspirants for Council positions in the First Ward. Daniel Lapp and William Conroy are the contestants in the Third Ward.

CONTESTANTS LISTED

The contest in the Fourth Ward will be between the incumbents, Matthew Cook and Joseph Passifume, and William Stillwagon. Thomas Harigan, Albert Rogers and Otto W. Stafford, incumbents, will be opposed by Peter Scuffle, Charles Jacobs and Byron Duke in the Fifth Ward battle.

Russian business in England is affecting Australian sales there and protests have been made to the British government.

100-Year-Old Coach for Transcontinental Trip!

JOHN WEIGAND, SR., 42 (LEFT) . . . . REPAIRING AN OLD STAGE FOR TRIP FROM EAST END TO THE PACIFIC COAST!

BLOOD DONORS BACK AT WORK

Fighting fires or saving lives—it's all in the day's work for Firemen Lenus Donahue and John McCall of No. 6 Engine Company. They didn't even take time off after giving their blood for a transfusion.

Mrs. Margaret Bell, 62, of 219 [illegible] street, was in St. Francis Hospital in a serious condition Tuesday. She was not strong enough to undergo a necessary operation, hospital attaches say. A call was sent to the Fire Department for volunteers for a blood transfusion.

Both Donahue and McCall gave a pint of their blood, rested 45 minutes and went back to work. Questioned about their act, they both said:

"That's not unusual. Somebody always volunteers."

Chalfant Auxiliary Wins Water Battle

Sharpsburg's Women's Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Department went down to defeat in their water battle with the Chalfant Borough women's organization during the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association convention in Tarentum last week.

This was Chalfant's first victory in a series of three contests with Sharpsburg.

Old Stage Coach to Take East End Family of Six To Pacific Coast

A seven-year dream that seemed impossible to John (Huntz) Weigand, 42, of 313 Carver street, because it took the form of a stage coach trip from Pittsburgh to the Pacific coast, today was on the verge of fulfillment.

Weigand thought it was impossible, not only because he and Mrs. Weigand have four children, but because it would require a real stage coach.

But now he has the coach, built more than 100 years ago, and two of his boys, John Jr., 16, and Carl, 14, have convinced him that it is possible to make his dream become a reality.

PROMISES BOYS

Mrs. Weigand, too, is taken with the idea and has finally convinced her husband that the journey would be practicable. Weigand, a truck driver out of work, promised his boys he would make the trip and declared:

"Well, all right. I can't get a job anywhere. I guess I may as well make the trip. That is, of course, if I can get someone with a team.

"We'll need a team to make the trip. I want to do this just as it would have been done 100 years ago. I don't want to be bothered with anything so modern as an automobile."

Weigand has equipped the coach with upholstering and with a rail on the top to carry luggage. The only innovation he has added was made to replace the firearms of the old coach drivers.

TWO DOGS TO GO

When Weigand's coach starts for the West the only protection he will depend upon will be that provided by two huge police dogs, Lady and Queen.

Weigand, who has made several trips through the West from Pittsburgh, wants to start as soon as he can find a partner with a team of horses. He expects to start in a week or so, he said.

Weigand's coach was purchased from the Hoesler Motor Car Company, Baum boulevard. It was built in 1814 in Philadelphia, and was used in a route that extended from Philadelphia to Lancaster to Ligonier.

FIREMEN NAMED TO OFFICE

East Borough firemen were among those elected to office by the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association which closed its thirty-eighth reunion at Tarentum last week.

George Marvin Cook, Sharpsburg, was elected president. Other officers are Jesse L. Humes, Tarentum, vice president; Edward Clawson, New Kensington, vice president; George Litman, Uniontown, vice president; W. H. Sarah, Braddock, secretary, and James H. Steel, Wilkinsburg, treasurer.

Connellsville will be the 1932 convention city.

King Albert Expert Mountain Climber

ST. MORITZ—(INS)—A king need hardly be a climber, but King Albert of the Belgians is gradually becoming one of the world's best. Of course we are speaking of mountain peaks and one of them in particular, the Cima del Largo, on the border line between Switzerland and Italy which the king climbed recently with one of his aides, Count Xavier de Grunne, the secretary of the Belgian Alpine Club.

EIGHT CLUBS BUNCHED IN WEST PENN LEAGUE

GRIFFIN NINE SEEKS PLACE IN PLAYOFFS

Homestead Aces Need Win In Second Half to Avoid Post-Season Title Series

By TOM BIRKS

Sandlot fans following the fortunes of the West Penn League are witnessing one of the best sandlot races being staged by eight well balanced teams and the result is very much in doubt as to which will meet the Homestead Aces in the post-season games.

Manager Hugo Pasquelli and his Linwood club are leading the loop at the present time.

Gettings, Bence and Jimmy Arrigo are twirling great ball, with Lohr and Lafferty, former Verona players, hitting the ball hard and playing a great defensive game in the infield.

Linwood is going to have a tough road to hoe. Reliance Life, Swissvale, Turtle Creek Community Builders, St. Joachim's, Marty Griffins and the Martin club, of Garfield, are stepping along at a sensational clip and from the standing it appears that the game between Linwood and Reliance will have a big bearing on the championship.

The Marty Griffin Club appears to be keen contenders. Manager Gerry Americus probably has the best pitching staff in the loop, but the hitting is rather light. Against the St. Joachim nine the Griffins started to hit the ball hard and if Zigulotti keeps in good shape the Hill club will be hard to beat.

Homestead fans are looking for the Aces to repeat and they are snapping out of that listless mood that was evident in the opening games of the second half.

MOTOR SQUARE ARENA TO OPEN SOON

East End Auditorium Shapes Plans for Another Big Season of Indoor Boxing

With only about a month left of the outdoor boxing season, Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh's leading indoor boxing arena, is beginning to shape its plans for another successful campaign.

The Garden last winter enjoyed the most successful season in its history, with consistently large crowds and resultant profitable gate receipts. This while other arenas around the country were crying the blues because of the depression in cauliflower circles.

Jules Beck will be back on the job as matchmaker for the Garden, with Joe Mazer as general manager. Beck is employed in a similar capacity at the Meyers Bowl during the outdoor season. While finishing up his duties at the North Braddock bowl, he is looking ahead with a view to snaring an attractive opening billing for the East End temple of swat.

One of the earliest matches at the Garden probably will be a third meeting between Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, and Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, whose two sensational battles at the Bowl, with Belmont winning both by knockouts, after trailing in each, proved the financial salvation of the Meyers arena. Their second clash, last Monday night, drew close to $8,000, the record for the season there.

Minister to End 100,000-Mile Hike

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga.—(AP.)—The Rev. T. E. Farmer is planning a trip to Egypt where he expects to complete a 100,000-mile walking jaunt. Farmer began his walking in 1901, he says, when he got out of college and found himself threatened with tuberculosis.

LINWOOD CLUB TO SPONSOR GRID TEAM

East End Promoters Hope To Obtain Franchise In Western Pa. Conference

With sandlot baseball on the wane, there is some talk that the once-famous Linwood football team will be back on the gridiron this fall with an enclosed field and a berth in the Western Pennsylvania Independent Football Conference.

For many years Linwood was a power in independent football circles.

However the club supporters failed to attend games and the team went out of existence.

The present plans include the inclosing of the field at the end of the Lincoln avenue car line. This field will provide one of the most popular gridirons in the district.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(INS.)—That section of Los Angeles known as "Chinatown" is not to be without literary enlightenment in the future. A Chinese library has been opened near the Chinese colony. All books are written in the Chinese language and cover subjects of philosophy, religion, and other topics.

MUNHALL ACTS ON SEWER

Plans for the elimination of sewer leakage into West Run Creek are being held up by the State Health Department in Harrisburg, according to the Munhall borough clerk. A special meeting of the Council will be held as soon as word is received from Harrisburg and it is believed that a sewage pump conveying the waste to the main trunk line emptying into the Monongahela River will take care of the trouble.

An investigation by the State Health Department showed that the odors, of which residents near the creek complained, were caused by leakage from the Carnegie plant septic tank and the septic tanks in the Homestead Park section.

A new sewer to be completed in the fall will take care of the leakage in the Homestead Park district.

Ladies of G. A. R. Home Observes Anniversary

For 45 years the G. A. R. home has been maintained at Swissvale. Today the Ladies of the Grand Army were to observe the anniversary with a celebration and band concert at the home, Woodstock avenue.

WESTINGHOUSE MAN ADVANCED

A. C. Streamer, formerly assistant director of sales, has been appointed sales manager of a newly organized diversified sales department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. The new department, according to J. S. Tritle, vice president and general manager, will distribute equipment not closely aligned with the transportation, central station and industrial fields.

Mr. Streamer was graduated from Colorado State University in 1907. After completing his Westinghouse apprenticeship course, he was assigned to the switchboard engineering department. In 1914 and 1915 he held the post of manager of the order section and from 1916 to 1920 he was manager of the switchboard section.

He became assistant to the manager of supply sales in 1921 and was appointed assistant director of sales in 1926. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the National Electrical Manufacturers' Association and the National Electric Light Association.

SHRINERS' AUTO CLUB TO PICNIC

Members of Syria Temple Automobile Club and their families will attend the club's picnic tomorrow at Kennywood Park. Identification badges may be obtained from J. Leonard Cook, secretary, First National Bank Building, Wilkinsburg, which will entitle the wearers to admission to the grandstand at the swimming pool, dancing from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. and from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., and to five refreshment tickets.

Children will be given an additional treat of 12 amusement tickets. Committee chairmen are J. Milton Ryall, Duane H. Ammerman and George S. Foster.

Rush Arnold School For Big Enrollment

Remodeling of Arnold School, Braddock avenue, is being hastened in order to care for an expected enrollment of more than 200 students, according to Headmaster Charles W. Wilder. Already 180 students have enrolled for the school course, more than the complete enrollment for a year ago.

Several additional rooms are being added to the school building this month. Plans also are being considered for a more comprehensive athletic program to be carried out in the new $100,000 gymnasium being erected on the campus.

WORK SPEEDED ON PLAYGROUND

In an effort to have the playground ready for the opening of school September 8, the Swissvale School Board has let a $1,300 contract to the Thomas George Contracting Company, Braddock, for improvement of the Dickson school grounds, Schiller avenue. The contract provides for installation of a drainage system, leveling and covering the ground with limestone.

The school board specified that the work was to be completed by September 8 if possible.

Swissvale Enters 2 'Regular' Slates

Swissvale has a second "Regular Republican" slate in the running for the September primaries, headed by R. W. Stitt, candidate for the nomination of Squire. Like the first regular slate announced, the second lists George C. Seitz and W. J. Brabin for Council.

Other candidates are John A. Solea, Council; Arthur Davis and William H. Ferguson, School Directors, and Lieut. A. A. Farina, Constable.

State Honors Two Pitcairn Lodge Men

Two Pitcairn members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles have been honored during the past few weeks. Ira O. Smith, now living in Wilmerding, was a delegate from the Pitcairn aerie at the grand aerie convention in Toledo last week.

Homer B. Jae, a charter member of the Pitcairn aerie, has been chosen state outer guard and is in line to head the state organization, which has a membership of 100,000, within the next five years.

The Pitcairn aerie has a membership of 862.

Workmen Discover 'Floating Island'

WINSTED, Conn.—(INS)—A true enough floating island developed in Burrville pond here. The affair was discovered when workmen started to strengthen the dam against the ice jam that is sure to occur next winter. The men started work one Saturday and when they returned on Monday they were surprised to find the island, two days before in the center of the pond, smack up against the dam. The island is 3 feet deep. Logs are believed to be holding it up.

OTTAWA, Canada—(INS)—The output of Canadian dairy factories in 1930 had a value of $127,184,513, of which creamery butter accounted for $57,177,798, factory cheese $18,105,447, concentrated milk products $10,039,369 and miscellaneous products $41,861,899. The number of dairy factories in operation last year totaled 2,719, of which 1,200 were creameries, 1,202 cheese factories, 291 combined butter and cheese factories, and 26 concentrated milk plants.

U. S. Warns on Care Of Children's Teeth

WASHINGTON.—(INS.)—More than 60 per cent of all children in the United States under 14 have one or more defective first molars, the U. S. Public Health Service announces. The six-year molars lead all others for tooth infection, the service said, adding:

"Regular periodic visits to the dentist for examination and repair of the defect at an early date is the only treatment that will stop this condition once it is started."

JAPANESE REMODELING THEIR EYES

A Popular Japanese Dancer of Only Two or Three Years Ago, With the Natural, Oriental "Almond" Eye and in the Picturesque Garb of Old Japan

Although You Might Not Think So, These Are Really Three Full-Blooded Japanese Movie Actors With Their Almond Eyes Changed and Their Noses Remodeled to Conform to Western Standards

A Popular Dancer of Today With Her Eyelids Remodeled and in a Costume Which Not More Than Five Years Ago Would Have Sent Her to Prison

THE influence of the American movie has a firm hold on the Japanese. . . . Many sons and daughters of Nippon are not only dressing like the heroes and heroines of Hollywood but actually want round, wide-open, Occidental eyes—and they're getting them.

One of Japan's most eminent eye surgeons, Dr. Kozo Uchida, has transformed more than 10,000 pairs of eyes. . . . With a quick, simple, painless, and inexpensive operation he changes the appearance of his patients' faces. . . . He removes the slant of the "almond" eyes which has always revealed the native of Japan instantly as an oriental. . . . In all the world he is the only man who knows how to do it.

Do you want to know exactly how it is done? . . . You will find a detailed explanation in one of the most interesting articles you've ever read—in next Sunday's American Weekly.

CHEVALIER SMILES ON EAST END SCREEN

Variety of Features Offered for Week

'Reckless Hour' At Enright Tomorrow

Every type of motion picture entertainment imaginable—smiling lieutenants, night angels, reckless hours and hush money to name only a few of the themes—will be seen on the screens of East community theaters during the next week.

Starting today, the Enright is offering three days of "The Reckless Hour," with Dorothy Mackaill, H. B. Warner, Conrad Nagel and Joan Blondell. Maurice Chevalier will be seen at this theater starting Monday in "The Smiling Lieutenant."

REGENT

"Night Angel" opens at the Regent Monday for two days, followed by "Laugh and Get Rich." That fun-full picture "Man in Possession" will close the week's bill Saturday.

ROWLAND

The Rowland's screen entertainment starts off next week with "Transgression" Wednesday and Thursday this theater will show "Night Nurse" followed Friday by "Goldie." Saturday's picture will be "Too Many Cooks."

SCHENLEY

At the Schenley next week the following pictures are scheduled: "Night Angel" Monday and Tuesday, "Hush Money" Wednesday and Thursday, "Too Young to Marry" and "Five and Ten" Friday, and "Chances" Saturday.

MANOR

Patrons at the Manor will see "Five and Ten" during the first two days next week. This will be followed Wednesday by "Night Angel." Friday's double bill will be "Tarnished Lady" and "Girl Habit," and "Just a Gigolo" ending the week.

PLAZA

The Plaza's opening picture Monday will be "Always Goodbye" with "Just a Gigolo" playing the screen Wednesday and Thursday. The two feature pictures for Friday are "Lady Who Dared" and "Too Young to Marry." The closing picture is "Arizona."

ARSENAL

"Just a Gigolo" will play at the Arsenal Monday and Tuesday, followed Wednesday and Thursday by "Always Goodbye." Friday's picture will be "Goldie," and Saturday's "Arizona."

BELMAR

Monday and Tuesday visitors to the Belmar will see "Just a Gigolo." "Transgression" will follow this picture Wednesday and Thursday. Two pictures will be on the screen Friday, "Lady Who Dared" and "God's Gift to Women." Saturday's picture will be "Men of the Sky."

CAMERAPHONE

For the first three days of next week the Cameraphone will show "Salvation Nell," with "Alias the Bad Man" completing the week.

Fewer Bracelets Ruled for Evening

NEW YORK—(AP.)—"Fewer bracelets" is the evening jewel edict of the moment. Arms of fashionable women, once crowded from wrist to elbow with jewelled bands, display but one or two glittering baubles these evenings. Diamonds are the favorite jewel for the bracelets which are generally of intricate design about an inch in width.

Wilkinsburg Bans Use of Memorial

Use of the memorial pergola in Wilkinsburg, Franklin avenue and Wood street, will be prohibited in the future, following Council's adoption of a resolution presented last week by post commanders of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

EAST END ZONE CASES DECIDED

Two East End appeals were denied by the Zoning Board of Adjustment Monday. Three were granted with conditions.

The board refused the requests of Ruffo Tierro, 1545 Lincoln avenue, to build a two-story extension on the front of his store, and Edward Lewis, 4905 Broad street, to occupy the front room of his dwelling as a confectionery store.

Conditional permits were granted to the follow: Hugh Wilson, 416 North Beatty street, to change double house into four-family; James Jennings, to build one-car garage in rear of 5145 Rosetta street; Frank Fuchs, to build garage in rear of 346 Boggs avenue.

The Farmers Investment Company's appeal to build four one-family dwellings at 5614-5630 Pocussett street, was the most important of nine East End cases heard before the board Monday. This case was referred to the board with the notation that there was insufficient space for front yards.

Other cases heard were:

Anthony Ferrare, 7223 Lemington avenue; John Berkman, 5237-39 Kincaid street; Mrs. Elsie Archibald, 6825 Lyric street; Frank E. Lowes, 4824 Monongahela street; Mrs. Susan M. Patrick, 517 Graham street; Angelo Tumburrie, 1018 Lincoln avenue; Walter A. Heisler, 1640 Suburban avenue, and A. S. Mason, 5610 Walnut street.

THREE DETOURS TO BE ENDED

Three detours will be removed during the following week. They are Buck County, Route 413 between Pipersville and Buckingham, Bucks County, Route No. 113 between Hulmeville and Croydon and Fulton and Franklin counties, Route No. 16 between McConnellsburg and Mercersburg.

Half-widths will be removed on Route No. 28 Springdale, Allegheny County, and Route No. 439, Rohrsburg and Millvale, Columbia County.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD FETE

Trafford Odd Fellows will observe their twenty-fifth anniversary at a banquet next Tuesday in Trafford Methodist Church, with Norval Daugherty, warden of Grand Lodge, Pennsylvania Odd Fellows, as the principal speaker.

The committee includes Paul Detrick, J. T. Brown, George Beswick, J. R. Holland, A. M. and Robert McLachlan and R. A. McCall.

Islam Grotto to Take Vets on Auto Ride

Members of the Islam Grotto Auto Club will join a motor caravan August 24 to take disabled veterans of the veterans' hospital at Aspinwall on their second outing of the season.

Short Story -:- Dangerous Levels

By RITA DEVER

Betty Rupert was early. Nevertheless, she hurried as she let herself into the offices of Toomey & Hale, lawyers. Without removing her hat and coat, she went through Mr. Toomey's private office to the window which opened on the court of the Trelyvan Building.

The unseasonable cold rain which had been falling all night had stopped, but the clouds were heavy, and the court was drapped in a gray gloom. The sloping metal roof which covered the narrow bridge that spanned the court immediately below the window still glistened from the rain.

Quickly Betty flung up the window and waited. A faint rustling sound came to her. Smiling, she reached into her coat pocket and brought out a piece of bread, which, with quick fingers, she reduced to crumbs. Before the first offering of the delicacy could be dropped on the roof of the bridge, there was a whirr of wings from above and two pigeons descended. Almost immediately, an inquisitive feathered head appeared from beneath the coping of the bridge roof. Then, with a rush, a flock had assembled.

Betty offered the tidbits slowly. That chap with the purple collar was greedy. The poor little white one had scarcely a chance. How hungry the gray one was! Suddenly, an impatient diner flew up to the window sill, and captured the prize from Betty's outstretched hand.

"You're the nicest thing in New York," she exclaimed gleefully.

"Are you sure?" asked a masculine voice suddenly.

Startled, Betty looked up and faced a smiling young man in the window across the court. It was that exasperating Mr. Terry, in the offices of Bliss & Steel. Betty didn't know why she thought him exasperating. In fact she hardly knew him at all, having only met him once in the office. Just the same, he was exasperating, she decided unreasoningly.

The sound of the voices sent the pigeons circling through the court, up toward the square framing the sky, and far down 12 floors to the gleaming dome that was the roof of the bank on the first floor.

"You have frightened the pigeons," she remonstrated.

"They'll come back," he called.

With a quick gesture, she flung the remaining crumbs on the roof. Apparently discouraged, Terry turned and left the window. Betty took off her hat and coat, but lingered to watch the birds return for their interrupted breakfast.

They were slow in returning. There was much fluttering and calling about the end of the bridge against the opposite wall. Always interested in their mysterious conclaves, Betty watched them. The whole flock rose and fell in waves of wings, to the accompaniment of the peculiar pigeon wail. In one brief moment, as they ascended in unison, Betty saw the flutter of white wings against the opposite wall.

Leaning out of the window to command a beter view, she saw that the litle white one was caught in the metal coping. In some way, its foot had become wedged in the narrow drain pipe that edged the bridge roof. Frantically, it spread its wings in a vain attempt to lift its little body, but with out success.

Betty looked hopefully over to the offices of Bliss & Steel, but no one was in sight. Somewhere a clock struck nine. Surely some one would be coming.

The little bird's efforts increased and with each defeat, there was pained, startled cry. Valiantly, it pulled with all its strength on the imprisoned foot.

"Mr. Terry," called Betty. "Mr. Terry."

No signs of life. Betty called louder. He certainly was exasperating. He was always around when you didn't want him. The pigeons were flying about in the court, adding their cries to the screams of the little white one.

"You will break your leg," Betty cried to the uncomprehending captive. "Oh, Mr. Terry."

No answer. Frantically, Betty scrambled over the window sill and out on the narrow little roof. It sloped more sharply than it appeared from the window, but on hands and knees, Betty made a hasty passage over its slippery surface.

Sitting straddled, she took the frightened bird gently in her hands. Tenderly, she stroked its wings, until she held the trembling body in one hand, and slid the captive claw sidewise and free of its prison.

Lightly, Betty put the bird down, and watched it hop about timidly, then suddenly, confidence regained, fly off. Betty looked up as it sailed above her toward the grey patch of sky. Then casually she looked down.

Down! Twelve stories below gleamed the glass roof of the bank. Hastily she glanced over her shoulder to the open window she had left. The court seemed to have widened to vast proportions. How could she go back? She couldn't turn on her narrow perch. Immediately above the level of her head was the office window of Bliss & Steel. If only Mr. Terry would come!

Suddenly, Betty felt very ill. Weakly, she reached up and caught the window sill. If she could only raise herself to her feet, someone would see her. Tenaciously she clung to the stone ledge and tried desperately to pull her feet up to the narrow but flat center of the little roof. But her knees seemed frozen to the curving metal. By horrible contrast, her head was hot, scorching hot, as were her fingers clinging to the wet stone ledge.

"Mr. Terry," she tried to call. The pigeons circling and crying above her drowned her voice. And it was getting dark. It couldn't be getting dark. She tried to think. It was only 9 o'clock, but it was getting dark—awfully—awfully dark!

When Betty opened her eyes, she was aware of voices. She turned her head slightly and found her cheek against a comforting expanse of blue serge. She closed her eyes again.

"She is coming to," said one of the voices.

"Where have I been?" she murmured. Then she remembered. With a terrified cry, she flung herself upon the blue serge and clung to it desperately.

"You were very nearly a long way down," said a nice voice, "but you are all right now," and strong arms were confirming the assurance of the voice.

Slowly Betty opened her eyes. Her nose was pressed against the blue serge. She glanced up. It belonged to Mr. Terry's coat; the arms obviously were his also. Gently he released her and she looked about. She was on the table in the offices of Bliss & Steel. Most of the office force was grouped in the door.

"How did I get here?" she asked.

"Mr. Terry dragged you in," said one of the girls. "But what were you doing on the roof?"

Betty trembled but Mr. Terry held her hand reassuringly.

"I went to rescue a pigeon and I couldn't get back."

"I think you will be all right now," Mr. Terry said gently. "Just lie still a little while, and rest. When you are ready, I will take you back to your office."

The members of the office force reluctantly moved away. Mr. Terry went to the door.

"Oh, don't go," cried Betty, sitting up. He stopped. "If you hadn't gone in the first place, it wouldn't have happened." Terry came back to her side.

"I only went," he said softly, "because I didn't think you liked me to watch you. You see, I looked for you every morning. You and the pigeons are the nearest things to home I have seen in New York."

"But," she asked suddenly, "how did you know to come back and find me?"

Terry was holding both her hands now, although she was not trembling.

"The pigeons were making such a clamor I thought you might have brought them something else and then I could see you again."

Betty rose, smiling. "I feel much better now. I think I can go back."

Terry helped her from the table. "I won't have to wait for the pigeons this time, in order to see you again, will I?"

Betty looked up at him gravely. "I thought it was the pigeons you liked."

"I did." Terry smiled down at her. "I liked you both."

"MARY-MARY, QUITE CONTRARY" -:-

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

I want Fame.
What's not Love, Fame!
I want Love
1931

Listening in to MARY, a pretty name for that person we mean when we usually say "Eve," or "the average woman." Listening to Mary's heart when she steps out of her home, and sometimes out of her home-town entirely, to start her journey after what she wishes most to have and be. About 17—maybe, if the garden wall will hold her longer, about 20.

"What is Love—pooh—wonderful and all that—talked a great deal of by those who believe in it, and by those who say they are not interested, but talk a great deal just the same, argued over, wept over, sung of, and painted? But what beside FAME. A career. I am goin' to be a smart girl, and fix my eyes there, on that exquisite spot where the platinum glare of all the world shines, the tip top. And I will pat Love on the head, and tell him he is a darling, but that something else matters more."

And Mary does. Does BE A SMART LITTLE GIRL.

Listening in on Mary's heart after she sat for sometime upon the cool radiant tip top.

"What's FAME. Just an exciting bauble—oh grand to have—but not really enough for a pretty, lovable little woman like me. Now—I want Love. I wish to come down from this spot-lighted place, at least a few degrees, and sit in the earthly moonlight with a lover, who will not say, 'how famous you are,' but, 'what a dear little nose you have.' That's what I want now."

And if she's the usual Mary, Mary, quite contrary, she would really like both.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

Y., regional director of the national organization, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Beatty, Jackson, Mich.

Others who took part in the ceremonies were Miss Amelia Hammack, Lexington, Ky.; Miss Esther Johnson, Pittsburgh; Miss Virginia Nieman and Miss Margaret Patterson, sponsor and president respectively of Mu Pi Chapter in Pittsburgh.

Alice M. Moran, sponsor of Mu Mu Chapter, and Alice Gray Palmer, sponsor of Mu Xi Chapter, have been named directors of the cultural activities of their chapters. The Mu Mu president is Miss Jeanne O. Hayes. Other officers are Miss Elizabeth Young, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Bauman, secretary, and Miss J. Emily Weida, treasurer.

The officers of Mu Xi are Miss Nellie Wolstoncroft, president; Miss Margarette Piper, vice president; Miss Evelyn Schlabach, secretary, and Miss Grace Wilson, treasurer.

Luncheon Hostess For Mission Group

Mrs. George Seanecker, Margaret street, Munhall, was hostess to 12 members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Christian Church, Munhall, at a luncheon meeting last Thursday. Mrs. Thomas Evans presided at the business session.

The organization will hold an afternoon missionary tea September 9 at the home of Mrs. John Westland, 702 Eighteenth avenue, Munhall.

WESTINGHOUSE PICNIC SUCCESS

The forty-sixth annual picnic of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company held at Kennywood Park Saturday, has taken its place as one of the most successful outings in the company's history. Special street cars carried thousands of picnickers to the park from the Turtle Creek Valley district.

Athletic contests, dancing, band concerts and games filled the afternoon and evening program, all under the supervision of J. P. Moran, general chairman. The Westinghouse Kiltie Band played for the concert and three orchestras played for the dancing.

A feature of the outing was the dinner given by the executive committee in honor of retired and pensioned employes of the company.

CLUB TO HEAR TALK ON MUSIC

Mrs. C. R. Stone, treasurer of the Prytaneum Club of the Homewood district, will be the first speaker on the club's winter program to start September 15 at the home of Mrs. Hugh Nevin, Beechwood boulevard. Mrs. Stone's paper will be "Musical Appreciation."

Officers of the club, besides Mrs. Stone, are Mrs. J. H. Douds, president; Mrs. F. B. Bolton, vice-president; Mrs. W. F. Nebo, secretary; Mrs. G. F. Lloyd, critic; Mrs. F. B. Woodward, parliamentarian, and Mrs. J. W. Snodgrass, reporter.

Skulls in Cave Link Aztec Age

OSCEOLA, Mo.—(AP)—Nine skulls, found in an area 30 inches in diameter six feet below the floor of a cave near here, are attributed to an age possibly as early as the Aztec by Dr. E. B. Branson, of the University of Missouri department of geology and geography. Dr. Branson is convinced the skulls antedate the modern American Indian.

Mexico Air Lines Score Perfect Year

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Commercial aviation in Mexico made great strides in 1930, both in mileage, passengers carried and absence of accidents, according to figures just released by the Department of Communications. Not a single passenger lost his life in 2,400,319 miles of scheduled completed flights, the figures show.

Farm Work Division Shown by Survey

SORRS, Conn.—(INS.)—The average Connecticut farmer spends 68 per cent of his time in July getting his hay in and 50 per cent of his time in September in filling silos. Such is the result of a five-year study just announced by Prof. Paul L. Putnam, of the State Agricultural College here. He kept records of 284 farms in making his survey, and as a result declared he found that "the Connecticut farmer is swamped with work in July and has a problem finding enough hands to help him."

Finland to Send 14 To Winter Olympics

LAKE PLACID, N. Y.—(INS.)—Finland will be represented at the third Olympic winter games here next February by a team of 14 contestants, according to word received from Ernest Krogius, of Helsingfors, Finland, president of the Finnish Olympic committee. The Finnish team will consist of at least two speed skaters, eight cross-country ski-runners and jumping events. Four other skiers are listed by the Finnish Olympic committee as probable entrants.

French Divorces Reported Greater

PARIS.—(INS.)—Emulating the Americans in many ways, the French are more and more favoring divorce. Marriages have fallen and divorces have risen in number in France during the first three months of this year, according to recent figures published by the French Statistical Bureau. The excess of deaths over births was 34,679, compared with an excess of births over deaths of 10,339 during the first three months of the previous year.

Buttonhole Mikes Tested by Fliers

CLEVELAND.—(AP.)—Buttonhole "mikes," worn in the lapel like a flower, will be used by speakers at the twentieth national aeronautic meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The meeting will be held September 1-3 in conjunction with the 1931 national air races.

 "A Ply is one of a number of layers of rubberized cotton fabric—either cord or square woven—extending from bead to bead and forming the body of the tire." Definition of the National Better Business Bureau.
Any fabric merely under the tread of a tire is a breaker strip and not a ply.

ALLSTATE tires have full ply construction. And ALLSTATE has as many plies as any other first-quality tire. Directly under the tread, in every ALLSTATE cross section, you will see another layer of fabric. Some people call it a ply. But Sears, Roebuck and Co., the National Better Business Bureau and the majority of good tire manufacturers call it a breaker strip. We are willing to accept the standard set for the tire industry.

ALLSTATE Tires are built with plies of cotton that has been carefully selected for elasticity—"super-elastic" we call it. Read the laboratory* analysis on the left. See what experts learned to be the truth. See the ALLSTATE cross sections at any Sears store. Notice the double woven breaker strip in addition to the plies. Then make up your mind that the next time you buy tires you'll buy ALLSTATE—America's greatest tire value!
